HOUSE PASSES HANDBOOK BILL BY 89-53 VOTE

Senate Extends Relief

Adherents of Gov. Horner beat down opposition in the senate at Springfield yesterday to pass his measure extending the IERC to March, 1937, and appropriating $45,000,000 to finance the state's share of the cost. Continuing the session at full speed, the senate also approved Mayor Kelly's bill authorizing construction of a lake front airport for Chicago. Details on page 9.

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—[Special.]—Betting in open handbooks should be legalized in Chicago, the Illinois house of representatives decided today by a vote of 89 to 53.

A coalition of 72 Democrats and 17 Republicans favored Mayor Kelly's bill and passed it for him as he sat on Speaker Devine's rostrum.

Next week the bill will be before the senate, where not as much trouble is anticipated for it as accompanied house consideration. A flood of debate attended today's passage, some of it personal in nature.

Alliance Called "Unholy."

The mayor was seen to smile as Clinton Searle of Rock Island, fiery Republican, shouted:

"There is being exhibited in this house today an unholy alliance between the legislature of Illinois and the Tammanyized political machine of Chicago."

Speaker Devine's gavel crashed upon the sounding block, drowning Searle's voice.

"You are out of order for personal remarks," the speaker thundered into the microphone of the public address system.

But Searle continued, demanding that Ald. J. M. Arvey, floor leader of the Chicago city council, and Judge Harry M. Fisher of Chicago, who were standing to one side of the rostrum, leave the floor.

"There they are, hiding behind the American flag," he screamed.

Democrats Hoot Searle.

Democrats began to hoot at Searle and when he had finally registered a high-pitched "No" on the bill and resumed his seat, Benjamin Alpiner of Kankakee, a Democrat, who had previously voted against the bill, gained recognition.

"In view of Mr. Searle's remarks, I wish to change my vote from "No" to "Aye," he said and most of the house applauded.

This was the most disorderly scene of today's session, but the other debate was spirited. There was no middle ground on the proposition, each member voting—and there were seven or eight who did not vote at all—was either loud in support or equally loud in condemnation.

Good Bill, Says Bolton.

"This is a good bill and ought to be passed," was the essence of the brief explanation given at the beginning of the debate by the sponsor, John M. Bolton [Dem., Chicago]. Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago], who fought the measure last week when it obtained only 55 votes, followed Bolton.

"The remarkable thing about this bill," he said, "is that the sponsor admits it is vicious. It is so bad that downstate people wouldn't vote for it, so the sponsor amended it to apply only to Chicago. If it is bad for downstate it is bad for Chicago, too.

"Of course this bill has the influence of the Chicago city hall behind it. I am sorry to see the mayor down here backing it, for it is a surrender to lawlessness. There will be gambling on every important street intersection in Chicago if it is passed.

See Harm to Children.

"Open handbooks will inculcate in every child's mind the thought that there is some way to get by without working."

Minority Leader Leroy M. Green of Rockford was the next speaker. "The pendulum of public opinion swings rapidly in this country," he said, warningly. "This year we are being asked to license gambling; I wonder if next year it will not be houses of ill fame? This bill is indefensible.

"The Chicago amendment adopted last night is admission either that the Chicago police force is corrupt or that the powers are willing to accept for themselves only a situation that is bad. Uncontroled gambling is a disgrace to the city administration

10 TO 1 BOXER WINS TITLE IN 15 ROUND BOUT

35,000 See Fight at New York.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Wire photos of the championship fight are on the back page.)

Long Island City, N. Y., June 13.—James J. Braddock, Cinderella-man of the prize ring, tonight became the new heavyweight champion of the world at Long Island City Bowl, that jinx arena wherein a champion never has retained his title. Max Baer's cherished crown slipped away after fifteen rounds by the unanimous decision of Referee Johnny McAvoy, Judges George Kelly and Charles Lynch.

There were no knockdowns, neither man was in real distress at any stage, and the opinion of the ringside critics for once supported the official verdict. Braddock outscored Baer on points, but Baer's blows did the greater damage.

Fouls Hurt Baer's Chances.

If there had been any doubt of the result, fouls, unquestionably unintentional and doing no material damage, probably would have cast the balance against the title holder. These fouls consisted of hitting low, not breaking clean, and back-handing. Referee McAvoy said he awarded three rounds to Braddock because of these transgressions without regard to the merits of the round otherwise, and warned Baer in three other sessions.

Unofficial estimates of the crowd were 35,000, with gate receipts of $200,000. Majority sentiment of this assemblage was with the challenger, the fellow who didn't have a chance, who receded in the ringside betting to 10 to 1. Braddock is the greatest surprise in the pugilistic firmament since slender Jim Corbett, nimble and evasive, downed John L. Sullivan, ponderous and short winded, at New Orleans back in 1892.

Up From Relief Rolls.

Braddock, new champion of the world, was a has-been fighting in a preliminary against Corn Griffin just a year ago tomorrow night in this same arena wherein Baer won from Primo Carnera the title which he lost tonight. Braddock received $250 for that appearance against Griffin. Less than six months before that he had been on the relief roll because work in carrying railroad ties ceased. Later he repaid the $300 dole money he thus received.

Even tonight Jim Braddock, as challenger, gratified to receive such an opportunity, regarded as a forlorn hope except by his own camp followers and a few personal friends, received only 15 per cent of the gate receipts after taxes, compared to the 42½ per cent exacted by Baer. Division of the broadcasting and motion picture rights was on the same percentage.

Willing to Trade Wallops.

Yet when Jim Braddock next appears he will be in the rôle of champion with the juicy percentage instead of the short end. If Braddock is the biggest pugilistic surprise since Jim Corbett, similarity ends right there. Jersey Jim did not win by bicycling away from an opponent with a seventeen pound weight advantage. Cautious at first, even when on the aggressive, in later rounds he stood toe to toe with Baer and exchanged wallops with his supposedly harder hitting adversary. Whenever Max scored a margin it was by uppercuts inflicted in clinches following these rallies.

In ring tactics Braddock was superior. That was because he fought his fight as he wanted to fight more often than as Baer wanted him to fight. Braddock's ultimate success was due to the fact that he kept his defense intact against Baer's long swinging right just as he had told those at his camp he would do.

Time and again Baer feinted, crouched, lowered his chin on his shoulder, threw lefts to the body, all with the intention of providing an opening for his right, which had been responsible for Primo Carnera's downfall. But Braddock caught the blow on his gloves, head-slipped it, or stepped back to avoid its force. Several times it landed, but never to the chin; it was far back on the jaw or under the ear. Failure to connect with this haymaker appeared to have an adverse psychological effect upon the waning champion.

Claims Baer's Hands Bruised.

Baer did not put up the battle his admirers had expected. Possibly it was an off night. At the finish Manager Ancil Hoffman said Max had bruised both his hands early in the bout. While his blows did not appear to carry the steam they did against the slow moving Carnera, it did not look as if he was nursing them. The

ANOTHER POLAR PENGUIN DIES IN BROOKFIELD ZOO

Another of the Emperor penguins brought back from the antarctic by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd died yesterday in the Broofield zoo, leaving only one survivor of the six of these rare birds which recently entered the zoo.

Like the four others that have been lost, the penguin which died yesterday succumbed to a fungus infection of the respiratory system, apparently brought on by the change in climate. Edward H. Bean, director of the zoo, declared, however, that the surviving penguin probably would continue to live.

This one is Lena, one of Admiral Byrd's pets on the return voyage from Little America. Lena appears fresh and frisky in the specially refrigerated quarters she is now ocupying, Mr. Bean said.

In addition to the Emperor penguins seven other penguins of a different type were also brought back by the Byrd expedition and are now in the zoo.

Governors See Politics in New Relief Setup

Kills Works Bill

Wisconsin senate kills Gov. La Follette's $209,000,000 works relief bill after stormy session. (Details on page 8.)

Biloxi, Miss., June 13.—(AP)—The subject of "political patronage" in federal relief work stirred heated debate late today in the annual conference of the nation's governors which opened here with business and pleasure sessions.

Gov. Sennett Conner of Mississippi, host to the executives, provoked the fiery discussion when he asked Aubrey L. Williams of Washington, representative of Harry L. Hopkins, public works administrator, whether relief work under the new national program was to be administered as a "patronage proposition."

Refuses to Be Silenced.

Williams replied the government expected to coöperate with state authorities and attempted to continue his speech when the governor of Mississippi again raised his hand and refused to be silenced.

"Are we to understand, Mr. Williams," asked Gov. Conner, who has been stripped of relief administration in Mississippi, "that in work relief this problem of human suffering is going to be put on the same basis as postoffices and become mere political patronage?"

"No, it is not a political set-up," Williams answered.

"Well, it's being made that," said Gov. John C. B. Ehringhaus of North Carolina, who took the floor.

Carolina Governor Criticizes.

Gov. Ehringhaus asked Williams whether the federal government proposed to disregard the "constituted authorities" of the states and deprive them of "whatever authority they might have" under the old relief setup.

"In other words," said Ehringhaus, "as I understand it, because we are constituted state authorities, we are immediately suspected."

Gov. Guy B. Park of Missouri remarked that in his opinion "as long as the people are getting the benefit I can't see why it should make any difference who is administering the program."

Gov. Frank H. Cooney of Montana added his indorsement. "If the federal government is going to put up 90 per cent of the money," he said, "I'm willing for them to be in charge."

Comes Out for State Rights.

Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama and Gov. Paul V. McNutt, the latter chairman of the conference, shared similar views.

Gov. Henry H. Blood of Utah was one of the governors who came out for state rights in the opening day's business sessions.

"In our state," Gov. Blood said, "we do not need federal regulation because the situation is simply taken care of by state law. I understand 17 states have such laws."

BEACHES WILL OPEN TOMORROW; CITY HAS 150 GUARDS READY

Beaches maintained by the city, the Chicago Park district, and several of the north shore suburbs will open for the summer season tomorrow.

Walter Wright, director of parks and recreation for the city, said yesterday that 150 life guards will appear for duty at the city's three major beaches at Touhy avenue, 75th and 79th streets, and at twenty-one street end beaches unless the city should be visited by another cool wave.

Seven beaches in Evanston are scheduled to open tomorrow. The Wilmette beach will open tomorrow and Vattman park on Monday. The beaches and Skokie playfield at Winnetka will be ready this week-end, and Glencoe's playground will open Monday. A new swimming pool in Oakton park in Niles Center will not be ready until July 1.

The Chicago Safety council yesterday gave out a list of beach safety rules. They are:

Wait at least an hour after meals before entering the water.

Don't enter water too cold on a hot day and don't swim when the air is too cold.

Do your distance swimming close to shore.

Take your sun tanning slowly.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 13.—(AP)—Wiley Post, noted aviator who has twice circled the globe by plane, announced tonight his ship was in readiness for a takeoff tomorrow morning on a projected nonstop transcontinental flight through the stratosphere. Ignition trouble prevented a flight today. The attempt will be Post's fourth to fly the stratosphere.

Italian Police Take Tribune Man to Border

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MODANE, France, June 13.—Expelled from Italy after having been arrested in his office last night by Italian secret police and held incommunicado for two hours, David Darrah, for nine years Rome correspondent for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, arrived in this frontier town from Turin late this afternoon.

Darrah was accompanied to the border by two armed plain clothes men. They had traveled with him from Rome and kept him under guard in the railway station at Turin all morning while waiting for the train to France. The police, instead of waiting for a direct train to Paris, put him on a slow train for Milan which left Rome at 10 o'clock last night.

No Direct Explanation Given.

No direct explanation was given by the police for Darrah's arrest and expulsion. It is presumed the expulsion order followed an interview two days ago between Darrah and Sig. Stranio of the Italian foreign office. Stranio had upbraided the correspondent violently for two articles he had sent to THE TRIBUNE regarding Italian mobilization for Premier Mussolini's Ethiopian adventure and economic conditions in the country. A Fascist press official made no attempt to deny the accuracy of these articles, but hotly declared that it was "abuse of Italian hospitality" to reveal such facts.

Darrah was arrested at 7 p. m. while he was at work in his office. The police previously had visited his apartment to arrest him.

Taken to the police station, he was held prisoner until 9 o'clock. He then was informed he had three hours to get out of Rome. Permission to go to his residence under guard and pack his belongings for the trip was roughly refused. Darrah then made a formal demand that he be allowed to telephone the American consul. This demand likewise was refused.

Speaks to Wife Over Phone.

Half an hour before he was due to leave the police station for the railway station authorities allowed Darrah to telephone his wife. The authorities forced him to speak to his wife only in Italian and warn her not to attempt to communicate with any one.

THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent then was taken to the railway station, where he was joined by his wife, who brought a hastily packed valise. At 10 o'clock Darrah was ordered to get into the slow train for Milan. Mrs. Darrah accompanied him. After sitting up all night with two detectives who occupied the same compartment, Darrah was kept under guard at Turin all morning while waiting for another train to take them to France. All attempts to communicate with American consular authorities and friends in Rome were forbidden.

Upon the train's arrival at the French frontier the Italian detectives descended from the train, as did Mrs. Darrah, who was allowed to return to Rome to wind up her husband's affairs there.

Will Protest Expulsion.

ROME, June 13.—(AP)—A protest over the expulsion of David Darrah, Rome correspondent of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be made by the Foreign Press association. Robert Hodel, president of the organization, announced today.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrah would have been left at the frontier virtually without funds if they had not happened to meet a friend at the railroad station. This friend loaned the Americans a small sum.

Darrah was the fourth foreign correspondent expelled from Italy since March. Usually foreign correspondents ordered from Italy are given 24 hours to settle their personal affairs.

RUINS OF TOWN SWEPT BY FIRE; SURVIVORS FLEE

Nazi Police Block Roads to Village.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 14 (Friday).—New fires raged through the streets of Reinsdorf early today following upon the thundering explosions which ravaged that munitions manufacturing village of 7,500 inhabitants yesterday afternoon and evening.

Reinsdorf, which is fifty-two miles southwest of Berlin, is an isolated community. The village is in the hands of secret police. Rigid censorship prevails.

It is impossible to determine the exact number of dead or dying. Several hours after the explosions which destroyed part of the great Westphalian Anhalt Explosive works an official estimate of casualties was announced as follows: Fifty-two dead, seventy-nine injured seriously, and 300 injured slightly.

Nazi Leader Visits Hospitals.

These figures were issued by Otto Heidendrath, Nazi district leader, at Wittenberg, a city of 23,000 a few miles from Reinsdorf.

"Only a few minutes ago I went through the various Wittenberg hospitals where the injured are lying," the Nazi leader said. "I am convinced that of the seventy-nine seriously injured only a small number are likely to die.

"Of the 300 minor cases most will be able to return to work in a few days. We have been able to account for all the missing and are certain that only thirty can be lying dead under the smoldering débris, besides the twenty-two bodies already recovered.

[Associated Press dispatches from the stricken village earlier said the death estimates ranged from 100 to 1,000. The burgomaster of Reinsdorf in another Associated Press dispatch estimated the deaths might reach 1,000.]

Women Are Injured.

"The injuries were either gaseous, from splintered glass or broken arms, legs and fractured skulls. No women were killed, but a number of them were injured," Heidendrath said.

German authorities declared larger estimates of the number of dead and injured were "grave exaggerations." Attempts to secure additional information about the explosions were rebuffed. Survivors refused to answer questions.

"Everything is secret," they said, evidently having received a warning that careless and exaggerated remarks would lead to their arrest.

According to some rumors, poison gases were released by the explosion and it was whispered that the gases killed many more than the official figures indicated. In Wittenberg residents declared they had heard 200 were killed.

Spike "Alarmist" Reports.

One communique insinuated the disaster was due to communistic sabotage. The statement said new workers were brought to the munitions factory from a Thuringian district "known for its communistic sympathies."

On the other hand, Nazi leaders attempted to spike "alarmist" reports.

"It is out of the question for any act of sabotage to have been committed," said Leader Heidendrath. "It was a regrettable accident. Our workers have been most carefully sifted, so it was impossible for any saboteur to have been admitted. Each worker was scrutinized three times before being employed—by police, the Nazi party, and the Labor Front.

"The Westphalian Anhalt Explosive works were regarded as a model Nazi institution. I cannot give you the exact total of workers in the factory, except that 300 were employed in the section where the first blast occurred and about 450 in the adjacent plant."

Disagree on Number of Workers.

Other officials disagreed with Heidendrath's figures on the number of persons at work at the time of the explosions. They said a total of 1,500 men and women were employed in three shifts. Residents of the town assert 8,000 are employed. They said 1,500 were on duty and that "consequently the number of dead must be much larger than has been admitted." Still others said the factory employed 13,000 persons.

All roads leading to Reinsdorf and the munitions works are blocked by the police and Schutz Staffel men [hand picked guards]. Within the stricken town physicians and nurses are working among the ruins administering to the injured.

Stretcher bearers have carried most of the dead and injured from the village. The majority of the seriously injured were rushed to hospitals in Wittenberg.

Workers Thrown from Windows.

The first explosion at the munitions factory occurred at 3 p. m. Some workers were thrown out through windows by the force of the blast. Nearby buildings were demolished. Roofs collapsed and windows were splintered for miles around. Fires, fed by oil used in the manufacture of explosives, broke out at a dozen points.

Veritable rivers of water were thrown on the rapidly spreading flames to prevent them from reaching munition dumps. After a several hours' struggle the fire danger lessened. Then at 8:30 o'clock came the second explosion. It was even greater than the first. More buildings were leveled to the ground.

Order Town Evacuated.

Again fire fighters and rescue workers dashed amid the ruins. At 11 p. m. it was announced the fires again were under control. Shortly after midnight, however, the smoldering ruins burst into flame for a third time.

Authorities announced they had ordered the village evacuated.

Yesterday's explosions were the third in the company's history. The first occurred in 1917. It demoralized the workers of all ammunition factories in Germany despite imperial efforts to keep the disaster a secret. Another explosion occurred in 1925 when the Westphalian Anhalt Explosive works was the chief company permitted to continue the manufacture of explosives under a special permit of the inter-allied military commission.

"New National Armory."

The munitions factory is in the heart of a region of central Germany known as the "new national armory" because it is honeycombed with barracks, armories, munition dumps, airfields, and factories for ammunition and war equipment. All are grouped around the I-G dye trust's giant Leuna works and Krupp's new munitions plants in the Magdeburg district which were removed from the Ruhr because they were too close to the border.

Foreign experts state that in the Wittenberg region several factories turn out high explosive shells.

The company's capital in the days before Adolf Hitler rose to power was 25,000,000 marks ($10,000,000). It manufactured dynamite and high explosive chemicals. Among its products are nitric acid, sulphuric acid, and sulphate.

LADY HOUSTON IRATE; $1,000,000 GIFT IS SPURNED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 13.—Smarting under the refusal of Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, to accept her offer of $1,000,000 to guard London from an air invasion, Lady Houston, widow of the famous ship owner, today sent a bitter protest to the chancellor. She referred to him as "poor Mr. Chamberlain."

"The safety of London—how it bores you," Lady Houston wrote. "Without even deigning to ascertain the wishes of the citizens of London you have flung the safety I offered them on the dung heap of the house of commons as something of no importance."

British King Recovering; Goes for Automobile Drive

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 13. — Anxiety concerning the health of King George V. was dispelled today. Alarm was felt yesterday when it was announced that the ruler had been ordered to bed because of an attack of bronchial catarrh. The king arose at his usual early hour today and during the morning went for a long automobile drive. It was stated at Sandringham palace this evening that he is progressing satisfactorily.

MAYOR OF RUINED MUNITIONS TOWN TELLS OF BLASTS

Debris Rains from Sky After Series of Shocks.

BY THE BURGOMASTER OF REINSDORF.
[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

REINSDORF, Germany, June 13.—This village lay almost in ruins tonight, the victim of the greatest catastrophe in central Germany's history.

An explosion in the Great Westfalian Anhalt Munitions work suddenly spread death and disaster to an extent I cannot yet estimate.

This afternoon was unusually beautiful and sunny, so I was very surprised when I heard what I thought was thunder about 3 p. m.

Within a few minutes the skies seemed to be raining blackened débris all around me.

Fire Breaks Out.

As I was wondering what had happened I saw some workers on bicycles who told me a terrific blast had destroyed the factory, killing or maiming hundreds, and fire was breaking out.

It looked serious then, but that was only part of what was to happen in a few minutes.

At once I saw automobiles hurrying in the direction of the plant.

Rope Off Stricken Area.

The soldiers came in big trucks and on horses and immediately started to rope off the stricken area, care for the wounded, and carry out bodies, many of which were burned beyond recognition. Some of them were my own friends.

Doctors were called from Wittenberg and from all nearby towns. Orders were issued that everybody who could must help in the rescue work; but that later caused confusion, so the orders were rescinded.

All the while there were rumblings and the conflagration grew worse. Clouds of heavy smoke rolled up.

Many secret police entered the town and took things under control with the help of the soldiers, the Storm Troops, the Schutz Staffel [picked Black Shirt guards], the labor service and similar units.

Sky Rains Charred Debris.

Finally, about 8:30 p. m., an explosion bigger than all the others rocked the earth and threw charred débris over a wide area like a volcano.

That time the blast was so great that everybody seemed to be fleeing. There were many scenes that rent my heart — mothers and children crying and wringing their hands and screaming to be let into the inferno to try to rescue some loved one.

They were turned back, of course, for to go in would have meant their instant death.

Many of those leaving the city were carrying with them as much of their belongings as they could carry despite the danger. The scene was a true hell of heat and explosions.

Estimate Dead at 1,000.

I think an estimate of 2,000 killed is too many, but 1,000 would be more accurate.

Of course it may be days before the entire casualty list is computed because so many were hurt.

Smoke palls hung over the city before the evacuation order, making breathing almost impossible. So thick were the smoke clouds that it was hard to see the gigantic flames.

I witnessed many scenes of heroism. Among the last to leave the town were the telephone operators. They stuck to their posts as long as there was any need of summoning help.

It is getting so thick with smoke I cannot breathe. Things look much worse. I must go now.

Heil Hitler!

GERMANY SENDS 5 FORMER RADIO CHIEFS TO PRISON

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, June 13.—After a seven months' trial the Berlin Appellate court today rendered judgment on eight former officials of the governmental radio system, who had been charged with corruption and denounced by the Nazi press as representatives of the corrupt and decadent liberalistic system that the Nazis had abolished. Five were sentenced to prison and three were acquitted.

Dr. Hans Bredow, former radio commissioner, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and a 5,000 mark fine. Dr. Kurt Magnus, former business manager of the Reich Radio company, five months' imprisonment and a fine of 4,000 marks. Dr. Hans Flesch, former director of the Berlin radio program, one year's imprisonment and a fine of 11,000 marks. Dr. Felix Kohl, former director of the Reich Radio company, seven months in prison and a fine of 2,000 marks. Emil Zorek, former director of the Silesian Radio company, six weeks in prison and a fine of 2,000 marks. All five announced that they would appeal to the Supreme court.

The main reason for the convictions, the judge explained, was that Flesch had demanded too much in salary and expenses and Dr. Bredow and Dr. Magnus had been "weak enough" to give it to him.

Report One Jew Killed, 10 Injured in New Polish Riots

WARSAW, June 13.—(AP)—One Jew was reported killed at Grodno and ten were reported seriously injured at Suwalki in anti-Semitic riots today. Mobs raided Jewish stores and broke windows in both cities. A number of rioters were arrested.

CHICAGO NEGROES PROTEST ITALY'S POLICY IN AFRICA

Bare Enlistment of 750 in Ethiopian Cause.

More than 2,000 Chicago Negroes are expected to attend a mass meeting Sunday afternoon to join in a protest against the Italian government's policy of aggression in Ethiopia. The meeting will be held in Grand Boulevard hall, 4654 South Park way.

Robert L. Ephraim, international president general of the Negro World alliance, who will be the principal speaker at the rally, said yesterday that similar meetings are being planned by colored groups throughout the world within the next week. Ephraim disclosed that 750 Negroes in the Chicago area have already signed up for an expeditionary force of artisans and mechanics to leave shortly for Ethiopia and many more enlistments are expected.

Plan Protest to Mussolini.

Other speakers at the meeting Sunday will be Attorney Henry H. Proctor and Capt. Timothy Dent. Ephraim said that a cable of protest will be sent to Premier Mussolini at Rome and a similar telegram will be sent to the Italian consul general at Washington. Another cable will be sent to Emperor Hailie Selassie of Ethiopia at his capital, Addis Ababa, assurin him of the American Negroes' confidence in his country's stand against Italy.

"The Negro World alliance is diametrically opposed to any aggression by Mussolini to violate the territorial integrity of Ethiopia," Ephraim declared. "Negroes all over the earth, who in the past have fought every nations' battles except their own, are determined to stand against Mussolini.

"Mussolini's policy in Ethiopia has had the effect of uniting all the black peoples of the world. In Chicago recently, I was one of a delegation who protested to the Haitian consul here. Negroes are rising in many American cities and staging demonstrations against Italy's attitude."

Communicates with General.

Ephraim said that two months ago he received a letter from Vehib Pasha, a Turkish general, who stated he was prepared to furnish transportation for the expeditionary force of Negro artisans and mechanics from the United States to Ethiopia. Vehib Pasha is now en route from Cairo, Egypt, to Addis Ababa to take command of the Ethiopian troops, Ephraim said.

"The expeditionary force would be workers, not fighters," Ephraim stated. "As soon as the enlistment is completed in Chicago I will get in touch with Vehib Pasha and he will defray the transportation expenses for these men."

Harry H. Pace, another Negro leader in Chicago, who is president of the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance company and head of the Civic and Economic Welfare council, said that the council has taken no definite action as yet in regard to the Ethiopian situation. The matter will be discussed, however, at the council's outing in Taylor's woods, near Des Plaines, on June 30, Pace said.

THE PRINCE OF WALES HITS AT PACIFISTS; CALLS THEM 'CRANKS'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 13.—The Prince of Wales thinks that the Officers' Training corps in British schools is the best thing ever and that people who discourage such healthy training and discipline are cranks. Addressing 500 boys at Berkhampstead school, the prince said:

"We live in interesting times and it takes people of all ideas to make up a community. But it is always a mystery to me how there are a certain number of people—I will go as far as to call them misguided people—in fact, I will even go as far as cranks—who feel that the only way they can express the feeling which all of us have of the abhorrence of war and the appalling disaster to the world if another war occurred, is by discourging or, if they happen to be in authority, by prohibiting any form of healthy discipline and training."

The prince said he could think of no better way of disciplining boys than the healthy form of training given by the Officers' Training corps.

FRANCE REFUSES AGAIN TO PAY HER WAR DEBT

Washington, D. C., June 13.—(AP)—Defaults on European war debt instalments due the United States on Saturday were swelled by $64,367,137 today when France formally notified the United States for the sixth consecutive time that it would make no payment.

In reply to Secretary Hull's statement that the United States would be glad to consider any proposals for payment, the French note expressed the regret that the French government was unable at this time to make any proposals.

In addition to the amount due June 15, France already is in arrears $163,616,845, including $58,169,041 in principal, $96,307,162 in interest, and $9,140,639 in deferred annuity payments under the Hoover moratorium.

The note delivered today by Andre de Laboulaye, the French ambassador, means that on June 15 France will owe the United States $227,983,982.

Estonia also notified it would make no payment of an instalment of $322,850 due Saturday. That government already is in default $1,844,185.87.

Great Britain, Czechoslovakia, Italy, and Rumania already have announced their forthcoming defaults on semi-annual payments and American officials expect half a dozen similar reports.

Only Finland, following its custom, has notified the state department it will make payment on June 15.

HEAT, DISEASE HIT ITALIAN TROOPS; MANY QUIT AFRICA

7 Buried as Ship Takes Hundreds Home.

BY WILL BARBER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

SUEZ, Egypt, June 13.—If heat waves could be broadcast you would get some idea of what Premier Mussolini's young soldiers are up against.

It is 100 degrees in the shade in this Red sea port and it is even hotter in Eritrea and Italian Somaliland, where 100,000 Italian soldiers are preparing to fight the dusky inhabitants of Ethiopia.

There are at least two Italians who will never see Ethiopia. They were buried here yesterday when the big troopship Ganges entered the Suez canal on the way back to Italy carrying several hundred men who had been overcome by heat, malaria, or dysentery in the desert lands where the Fascists want to rule.

Five Others Already Buried.

Five more soldiers were buried in the Red sea before the Ganges reached here. Others are expected to die before the Ganges rachs Italy.

Before many more days other Italians are slated to be taken home, unable to stand the heat which is Ethiopia's best ally.

Authoritative sources indicate that 100,000 Italian soldiers and workmen have gone to the Italian colonies in east Africa since the border disputes began. It has cost more than $300,000 just to ship the men and war materials through the canal, which expense in no way eases the strain on Italy's almost bankrupt treasury.

This correspondent raced from London across Europe, the Mediterranean, and to the mouth of the Suez canal in an American made Douglas airplane operated by the Dutch line. The Dutch airmen used American equipment right down to the drinking cups.

Much Suspicion Shown.

Examples of the suspicion fomented by the fear and danger of war were evidenced all along the trip. It took longer to get visas in London than to fly from Amsterdam to Budapest and longer to get a ticket in Budapest than to fly from Budapest to Cairo.

Everywhere cameras were sealed, and the plane was held to a narrow lane through Jugo-Slavia, outside of which it would have been shot at. Baggage was searched as with a fine tooth comb. Every one is supposed to be a spy out to knife some one else, which made the 2,400 mile hop one long round of brandishing one's passport and trying to allay suspicion.

Spurns Part of Ethiopia.

ROME, June 13.—(AP)—Italy stands adamant against any partial solution today of her border dispute with Ethiopia, official sources asserted today in reference to London reports of efforts to reach an agreement between the two countries through Ethiopian concessions.

The officials said Italy could not be satisfied with cession by Ethiopia of portions of territory, such as Ogaden. The press bureau denied officially that Ethiopia had offered Ogaden to Italy and asserted that, in any case, such an offer would not be accepted.

Authorities explained that even with such a concession, Italy would still be left with frontiers facing Ethiopia and still liable to attack from border tribes, as are the present frontiers.

To swell the ranks of men sent to East Africa to meet such contingencies, 400 more workmen departed for the colonies aboard the Conte Rosso.

Confer on Italy's "Special Interests."

LONDON, June 13.—(AP)—A tri-power effort to find some peaceful way to protect Italy's "special economic interests" in Ethiopia was authoritatively reported under way here today.

Representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy were said to be consulting on certain aspects of the Italo-Ethiopian controversy. Diplomatic quarters took that to mean Britain is ready to recognize Italy's "special" interests in the African dispute.

Italian quarters here said Ambassador Dino Grandi's recent return to Rome had no connection with the negotiations here, although they admitted he might be holding private conversations with Italian officials on the subject.

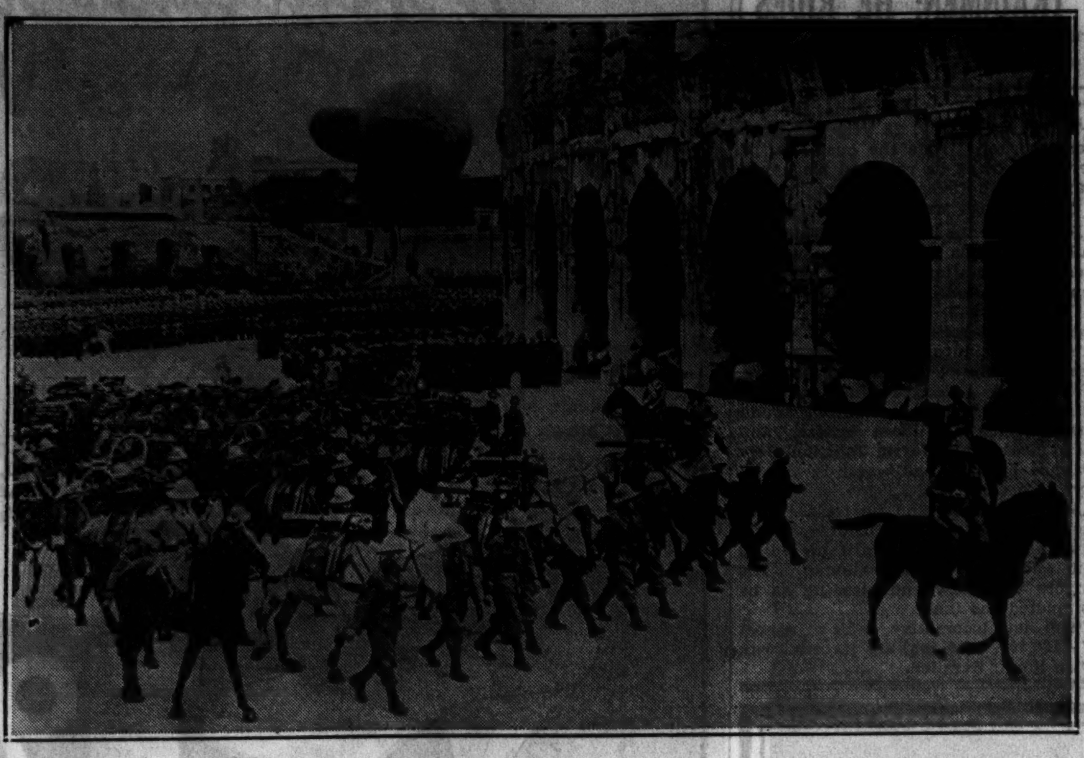
British official quarters emphatically denied that this nation's interest in Lake Tsana, which supplies much of the water for the Egyptian Sudan, had influenced in any way its attitude toward the African controversy.

Frontiers Not Taken Up.

The conferees here, however, have not discussed Britain's Lake Tsana interests, it was stated, nor have they taken up the question of frontiers.

The recent agreement at Geneva, it was recalled, limited Italo-Ethiopian conciliation negotiations to discussion of responsibility for the frontier clash at Ualual last December, in which 30 Italian natives and 110 Ethiopians were reported killed.

ITALIAN TROOPS READY FOR ACTION IN AFRICA



Italian troops called for duty in Africa parade past the ancient Coliseum in Rome. It is reported that approximately 1,000,000 soldiers have been mobilized as result of growing tension with Ethiopia.

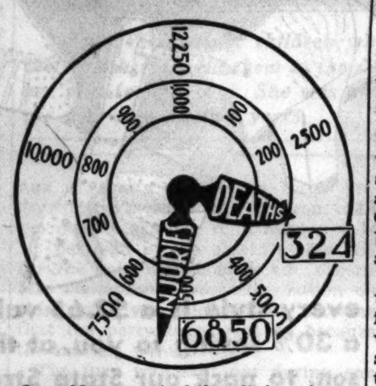
THE MASSACRE
Chicago's 1935 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

FIREMEN'S DEATH IN LOOP COLLISION IS HELD ACCIDENT

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict stating that the deaths of three firemen in a crash of fire trucks at State and Adams streets on March 16 were due to unavoidable accident. Those killed were Capt. Frank O'Connor and Firemen Peter Doyle and Lawrence O'Connell, all of Squad No. 1.

One of the trucks was eastbound in Adams street and the other southbound in State street when the accident occurred. Both were proceeding to a south side fire.

With no deaths yesterday in Cook county the 1935 trafic toll remained at 401. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 324 had been killed in trafic accidents within the Chicago city limits and 6,850 had been injured.

John R. Baskerville, 62 year old farmer, was killed yesterday near Symerton, in Will county, 15 miles south of Joliet, when a Wabash passenger train crashed into a tractor he was driving across the right of way. Authorities said the noise of the tractor's engine apparently deadened the sound of the approaching train.

Five persons, involved in a freak triple accident at Halsted street and Garfield boulevard last night, escaped serious injury, although all three vehicles were badly damaged, and the wreckage and resultant trafic snarl stopped motorists in all directions.

"L" SEEKS TO PUT FEEDER BUSES ON N. MICHIGAN AVE.

A petition for an elevated lines' feeder bus service connecting the loop with the North Michigan avenue business district and the Chicago avenue elevated station was filed yesterday with the Illinois commerce commission at Springfield by A. A. Sprague and Britton I. Budd, receivers for the Chicago Rapid Transit company. The buses would run in North Michigan avenue.

Another petition filed at the same time would extend the "outer belt" interconnecting bus system of the elevated through a line linking the main south side division of the "L" with the west side Douglas park branch via Cermak road. Elevated officials said this would connect with a route previously proposed, extending south in Ashland avenue and Loomis boulevard to 87th street.

The commerce commission, meeting in Chicago, denied a petition of the Chicago Motor Coach company to consolidate hearings on the proposed Touhy avenue bus line and the extension of the Lunt avenue line. The application for the Touhy line has been been made by the Chicago Surface lines and objected to by the motor coach company on the ground that buses in Touhy avenue, two blocks north of Lunt avenue, would invade its territory.

FATAL PLUNGE HELD ACCIDENT.

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the fatal plunge of John E. Palmer, 30 years old, of Bedford, Ind., from a window of the third floor apartment of E. H. Shepley at 1220 Leland avenue last Tuesday.

WIFE FOUND GUILTY OF SLAYING GIRL, 20; HUSBAND IS HELD

Los Angeles, Cal., June 13.—(AP)—A few minutes after Mrs. Gladys Carter was convicted of manslaughter in the killing of 20-year-old Frances Walker, her husband, former Deputy Sherif Archie Carter, was arrested today on a charge of having contributed to the delinquency of Miss Walker.

Mrs. Carter was accused of having shot Miss Walker to death as the outcome of a love triangle.

Carter testified at his wife's trial that he had been intimate with Miss Walker. After being arraigned, Carter was returned to the courtroom to be his wife's first witness in her plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

"I'm glad the first trial is over," said Mrs. Carter when she learned she had been convicted of manslaughter.

If Mrs. Carter is found sane, she will face a maximum sentence of ten years in prison.

Former Banker Hurt by Gas Blast in His Home Dies

Freeport, Ill., June 13.—(AP)—Lewis Fosha, 70, former banker, died today from injuries suffered in an explosion and a fire yesterday at his German Valley home. Fosha was injured when he lighted a match in a gas plant to inspect repairs he had made.

CLIPPER PLANE REACHES HAWAII ON SECOND TRIP

Lands Only Three Minutes Off Schedule.

HONOLULU, T. H., June 13.—(AP)—Aviation's most powerful overseas air liner, the Pan-American Clipper, finished its second flight from California to Honolulu today in tiptop shape to continue its trans-Pacific trail blazing on to the Midway Islands.

The huge ship, only three minutes off schedule, settled to the waters of Pearl harbor at 6:26 a. m. [11:56 a. m. Chicago time].

She had negotiated the 2,410 miles from Alameda in seventeen hours and fifty-seven minutes, and her arrival was almost as prosaic as that of a steamship. Department of agriculture plant inspectors met her as they would an incoming surface vessel and inspected her in the routine manner. Only a small crowd stood by.

Show Little Fatigue.

Capt. E. C. Musick and his crew of five exhibited even less evidence of fatigue than they did on their first flight last April.

Musick was unable to say when the Clipper would make the 1,323 mile hop to the Midway Islands, next way station on the trans-Pacific air line scheduled to start operations this summer. Pan-American airways officials said, however, she probably would be off in a couple of days.

Speaking of the April flight, which was a round trip between Alameda and Honolulu, as well as the current operations, Musick said:

"These flights have been made over the longest and most difficult section of the entire trans-Pacific route. We feel that passenger, express, and mail service could be established between California, Hawaii, and the orient in the very near future."

Avoids Perfect Weather.

Musick deliberately avoided perfect weather for the flight and picked a time when he faced possibly unfavorable flying conditions.

Pan-American officials indicated the Clipper, after flying to Midway, would return to Honolulu and Alameda before attempting to go on to Wake Island, the third scheduled stop on the air route. Wake Island, where base facilities now are under construction, is 1,191 miles west of Midway.

QUINTUPLETS NORMAL BABIES BY AUGUST, PREDICTS DR. DAFOE

New York, June 13.—(AP)—In another 60 days, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe announced today, the Dionne quintuplets will be the equals of any normal baby their age.

"I feel the babies will be normal by August—remember, they were seven months babies and they had to catch up," the genial Ontario physician said, stopping over in New York en route back from Atlantic City and the convention of the American Medical association to Ontario and his charges.

"In some ways," he added, puffing thoughtfully on a stubby briar pipe, "they are more advanced than ordinary babies—they are more intelligent."

WIDOW CALLED "AN EAGER BRIDE" IN WILL FIGHT

"Wedding" Witness Testifies in $650,000 Suit.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A graphic story of the "ceremonial marriage" between Lionel R. Barbour and the late Mrs. Fannie Bishop Henderson, Aurora widow, then 71 years old, was told in the federal court of Judge John P. Barnes yesterday in Barbour's suit to set aside the widow's will, which left virtually all her $650,000 estate to establish a home for elderly married couples.

Barbour, who lives in Detroit and who is a former assistant prosecutor of Wayne county, Mich., names as chief defendant in his suit William George, retired Aurora banker, executor of the estate. The suit charges George obtained a probating order fraudulently and has not accounted for $185,000 of the estate.

Described as "Eager Bride."

Yesterday's principal witness was Mrs. Sadie McIntosh of Detroit, who described the late widow as an "eager" bride in the common law marriage which Barbour says took place in Detroit on Aug. 23, 1925. Mrs. McIntosh, wearing a navy blue straw sailor hat and blue dress, employed positive terms in her story from the witness stand, in contrast with the hesitant manner of the previous witness, Herbert Barbour—Lionel's brother—who arrived "too late for the wedding."

"When I reached the Barbour home in Detroit after they called me on the phone," Mrs. McIntosh said, "Lionel's mother met us at the door.

"She said they had a surprise for us. Mrs. Henderson said, 'Lionel and I are going to be married.' They were waiting for Herbert to arrive. Fannie said, 'Something may detain him for quite a while. Let's get busy and get it over with.'"

Plays Own Wedding March.

Fannie then played a wedding march on the piano, after which they all arose, Mrs. McIntosh said. Lionel said, she testified, to Fannie: "I, Lionel Barbour, take you, Fannie Henderson, as my lawful wedded wife to cherish until death do us part."

"And didn't Fannie say anything?" asked Attorney Harold Shapero of Detroit, who with Attorney Harold Hershenson of Chicago is counsel for Barbour. [Attorneys in the case are referring to the late widow as "Fannie" until it is decided whether she was Mrs. Henderson or Mrs. Barbour.]

"Yes," Mrs. McIntosh replied to Shapero's question. "Fannie said, 'And I, Fannie Henderson, take you for my lawful wedded husband.' Something like that. I don't remember the exact words. Then the bride and groom kissed, and I kissed the bride and groom. Fannie—she was Mrs. Barbour then—asked us not to say anything about it for a while. She said they were looking for a home."

No Need for Preacher.

Prior to this Mrs. McIntosh had testified that when she and Mrs. Christine Staedler, another friend of the Barbours, arrived for the ceremony some one asked a question about "the preacher." To which, she said, Fannie replied:

"We're not going to have a preacher. I have this document here which tells us what to say. I had a lawyer look up the legality of common law marriages. He found it the law in Michigan and recognized all over the world."

Herbert Barbour, testifying under cross-examination by Attorney John K. Newhall, George's lawyer, earlier in the day said that the first remark Fannie made after getting off the train in Detroit the afternoon before the ceremony was: "Lionel and I are going to be married tonight."

Ceremony Kept Secret.

"My brother said that would be out of the question, as we couldn't get a marriage license on Sunday," said Herbert. "Fannie said they didn't need a license and referred to a Chicago lawyer's written opinion she had with her. She then told me to drive to a theater on Monroe street where she was to pick up some witnesses, some people from Aurora. But they were putting on their act and couldn't get away."

Attorney Newhall, who with Attorney Cassius Poust is defending the suit, brought out that Herbert, who is 41, never had discussed the "marriage" with any one until he talked to Attorney Shapero about it in 1933. He said that Fannie had asked him, "Don't publish it around."

Woman's Story Spurs Montana Hunt for Kidnaping Suspect

Tacoma, Wash., June 13.—(AP)—A new tip in the hunt for William Mahan and his supposed sack of Weyerhaeuser kidnap ransom money spurred a weary army of police and federal agents to redoubled activity tonight.

The search swung suddenly to Livingston, Mont., when a man described as resembling the fugitive was reported to have begged food Tuesday at the home of Mrs. C. E. Jeffries.

Describing the visit today, the woman said she was immediately suspicious because of the stranger's fashionable attire and turned him away.

"Next Order of Business."

Having disposed temporarily of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon M. Waley, who are reported to have confessed participation in the $200,000 kidnaping of 9 year old George Weyerhaeuser, a justice department spokesman said Mahan's capture is the "next order of business."

Mrs. Jeffries said her visitor's dark brown eyes, dimpled chin, and pronounced "Adam's apple" convinced her he was the fugitive. She said he carried a handbag, perhaps containing some of the missing $89,000 ransom money he is believed to have.

Livingston is about one hundred miles southeast of Butte, Mont., where Mahan escaped police Sunday after abandoning $15,155 of the ransom money in a motor car.

Believed with Friends.

Belief that Mahan was hiding with the assistance of friends was expressed by Assistant Police Chief Jack Duggan of Butte.

"If there was a $5,000 reward on his head," said Duggan, "those who are hiding him would turn him over to police in twenty-four hours."

The Waleys, arrested in Salt Lake City, were held for safe keeping in the county jail at Olympia, thirty-five miles from here, after having been brought to Tacoma last night.

They were held incommunicado, except for the brief court appearance in which both pleaded not guilty to Lindbergh law and mail fraud conspiracy charges.

To Investigate Paroles.

Washington, D. C., June 13.—(AP)—Charging there has been "too much politics, too much pressure, and too many improprieties," Attorney General Cummings said today the investigation of the parole system ordered by President Roosevelt will embrace state parole machinery.

"We want to find the soft spots and eliminate them," he said.

Defending the principle of paroles and their administration by federal officials, the attorney general said paroles for William Mahan, fugitive, and H. M. Waley, under arrest in the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping, had "occurred within state jurisdiction."

"We might have had some hesitancy in making an investigation if the President had not ordered it," Cummings said.

Coincidentally he said a rapid increase in convictions for federal liquor law violations "threatened serious overcrowding of federal prisons—possibly within the next two months."

The Circuit and Superior judges alternate each year in selection of the chief justice of the criminal branch. The position now is being held by Judge Denis E. Sullivan of the Superior court. His successor will be installed on Labor day.

Assignment of other Circuit court judges who will serve in the Criminal court also is expected to be made at today's meeting.

TRANSIENT SAVES TWO TRAINMEN; HE RIDES 'CUSHIONS' AS HERO

Three Forks, Mont., June 13.—(AP)—Thomas Whitney, 28 year old transient worker, "rode the cushions," a hero tonight as he resumed his homeward trip to Chicago, interrupted by a freight train wreck.

For saving the lives of two trainmen, railroad officials gave him a new suit, free transportation to Chicago by passenger train, and unstinted praise.

Unhurt when a Northern Pacific freight train rolled off a flood undermined track into overflow waters of the Jefferson river near Sappington, Mont., and dislodged him from his perch "on the rods," Whitney found that Fireman William Kayser and Head Brakeman Martin Johnson were trapped by mud and water in the locomotive cab.

Whitney could find no tools. With his bare hands, he dug furiously in the mud and cold water until he pulled out the imprisoned trainmen. His fingers were raw and bleeding as he completed the task.

The new locomotive, built at a cost of $130,000, was making its trial run when it was derailed.

U. S. RUSHES CASE AGAINST INSULLS; MAY CLOSE TODAY

Trace Assets Transfer in Face of Insolvency.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Transfers of $2,330,000 of the assets of the Corporation Securities company of Chicago, an Insull holding concern, at a time when the government claims it was insolvent or on the verge of insolvency, were proved yesterday in the trial of Samuel Insull, Samuel Insull Jr., and Harold L. Stuart before Federal Judge John C. Knox. The three men are charged with violation of the federal bankruptcy act. The case moved swiftly and the government is expected to rest today.

Checks showing that more than one-half of the $558,120 dividend payment made by the Insull holding concern on Nov. 2, 1931—when it was running rapidly into bankruptcy—went to members of the Insull family, were introduced late in the afternoon through the testimony of Adrian Dubach, assistant secretary of the Northern Trust company.

Trace Dividend Checks to Insulls.

The checks show that Insull Sr. got $7,497, Insull Jr., $675 directly and $4,123 through C. W. Daniels as nominee, and that Insull Utility Investments, Inc., in which the family were chief stockholders, $290,145.

Through Harold Huling, chief government accountant, the government had shown previously that at the time this dividend was paid the liabilities of the company were $60,000,000 and the assets $67,000,000.

Most of the session was taken in the examination of Huling, who has spent more than two years in study of the books of the defunct Insull corporations and who was one of the chief witnesses in the federal prosecution of the Insulls on a mail fraud charge last year. Huling was examined by Forest Harness for the prosecution and by Floyd Thompson for the defense. He is considered a sort of nemesis by the defendants, and was cautious and statistical in the extreme throughout his testimony.

Investors Unprotected, Is Contention.

The government case centers largely in the effort to show that the holders of $24,300,000 in serial gold notes of the Corporation Securities company were unprotected in the face of the use of assets for dividends and to satisfy Chicago and eastern banks.

During the period in 1931 when $1,772,000 was being sent to various banks to protect loans, it was shown by Mr. Huling that the company's liabilities exceeded its assets by $14,000,000 to $18,000,000. The defense objected to this definition of insolvency and it was ruled out. The company was merely "in the red" in these amounts at that time, was the contention.

Another dispute arose over the percentage of assets turned over to the banks during this period, the actions which are claimed by the government to comprise criminal violations of the bankruptcy act.

Defense Counsel Blames Market.

Mr. Huling testified that from Sept. 17, 1931, to April 16, 1932, the percentage of assets pledged to these preferred creditors went up from 33.5 per cent to 98.8 per cent, leaving only 1.2 per cent of the assets at the end for the gold note holders and others. Mr. Thompson's cross-examination on this point was directed at showing that the percentage went up because the market went down.

The jury was sent out during one argument over the final count in the indictment, in which it was charged that $291,000 had been transferred to the Central Hanover bank of New York. The government sought to show the steps of this transfer, the removal from the First National, the Harris Trust, and the Central Republic of funds which otherwise would have remained intact for the bankruptcy division. The court permitted this evidence in. Mr. Thompson admitted in his argument that these amounts had been placed in jeopardy by the transfer.

Bankers Tell of Agreement.

James A. Jackson, vice president of the National City bank of New York, testified that he conferred on Dec. 15, 1931, with Samuel Insull Jr., and Mr. Stuart concerning a so-called standstill agreement in which his bank agreed to help the Insulls by not calling loans or asking for additional collateral until June 15, 1932. It is this agreement which the government depends upon to prove that the Insulls had bankruptcy in legal contemplaton when they made the transfers of money. He said he did not sign the agreement, but the bank stood by it, and told of the deposit by Insull of new collateral on the $5,000,000 loan which he had with the bank.

Edward Eagle Brown, president of the First National bank, was examined by Samuel E. Whitaker, chief of the prosecution. He said he conferred with Samuel Jr., in December, 1931, concerning the indebtedness of Corporation Securities company to his bank. They discussed the "standstill" agreement for granting the Insulls extensions on their loans. He entered into the agreement, he said, but on Dec. 26 he met Insull Jr. again and asked an amendment.

Opposes Pledging More Collateral.

"I told him," Brown said, "that we had sold Corporation Securities gold notes and we felt a moral responsibility to the holders of these notes and were unwilling that more collateral should be pledged for the exclusive benefit of the banks. We felt that all collateral should be impounded for the benefit of all of the creditors of Corporation Securities company, wherever they were."

He was cross-examined by Mr. Thompson. He said that Corporation Securities owed $5,000,000 to the First National bank at the time of these discussions. The agreement, he said, was called an extension agreement and all of the bank creditors listed observed it, although they did not sign it.

Louis F. Timmerman, vice president of the Central Hanover Bank of New York, identified the agreement made with the Corporation Securities company, dated Jan. 7, 1932. The agreement was admitted into evidence and will be read later.

The last witness was Mrs. Laura L. Arthur, 341 South St. Louis avenue, 77 years old. She testified that no collateral was transferred to her as a serial gold note holder. She had invested $967.81 in one of the gold notes.

OAK PARK URGES STATE TO ACT IN UNION SLUGGINGS

Demand Quiz on "Police Backing" of Terrorists.

Otto Kerner, attorney general of Illinois, was asked yesterday to investigate "Chicago police protection of union sluggers," as a result of the slugging on Wednesday of two Oak Park florists who declined to join the Florist Drivers' union.

The demand for an investigation was made in a letter sent to Mr. Kerner by James A. Howe, village president of Oak Park. The letter was written at the request of Thomas Hungerford, president of the Oak Park Chamber of Commerce. Hungerford said that the chamber, representing 425 business men, "is solidly behind Mr. Howe in his demands."

"I am informed," Mr. Howe wrote to Mr. Kerner, "that the union officials arrested in the slugging in Oak Park Wednesday are under the protection of Chicago policemen. The people of Oak Park will not tolerate violence by union officials even if they are protected by police of Chicago and the state's attorney's office.

Demands County-Wide Quiz.

"It is high time that the attorney general's office make an investigation of the conditions in Cook county with reference to the unions and their so-called 'protection' by the state's attorney's office."

Mr. Howe made it clear that he is campaigning, not against unionism, but against violence by union men and police connection with such violence. His views are shared by Mr. Hungerford. The two said they hoped Mr. Kerner will take action on their demand before the six men arrested in the two sluggings are arraigned in the Oak Park police court on Tuesday.

"We want to be certain," Mr. Howe said, "that the cases are vigorously prosecuted. Hungerford said he had sent State's Attorney Courtney a telegram demanding that he give the prosecution of the sluggers his personal attention.

Prisoners are Union Officials.

The men arrested are Edward J. Rogers, secretary, and Fred Bohlman and Larry Monahan, business agents of the Excavating, Grading and Asphalt Teamsters' union; E. J. Price, secretary of the Florist Drivers' union; E. H. Gale, business agent for the Liveried Chauffeurs' union, and William Bibby, business agent of the Garage Helpers' union.

They were seized for allegedly attacking Peter Jarvaras, 52 years old, 1145 North Harlem avenue, Oak Park, and Gus Poulos, 45, of 1015 South 7th avenue, Maywood. Jarvaris and Poulos run a small cash and carry floral business in the front yard of Jarvaras' home. They have refused to comply with demands that they join the Florist Drivers' union.

Police Rescue Slugging Victim.

Jarvaras was followed from his home and slugged as he was leaving his car in downtown Oak Park. As he was being beaten with blackjacks, Oak Park police jumped from a passing squad car and arrested Rogers, Bohlman, Monahan, and Gale. As a result of the slugging, Oak Park police drove to Jarvaras' home in a patrol wagon and arrested the several pickets there.

While returning to the police station, the patrol wagon was halted by a squad of Chicago police who demanded that the arrested pickets be released, according to Oak Park Policemen Frank Schwartz, Harry Williams, and Frank Kerber. The demand was refused and the pickets were taken to the station, but were freed after questioning.

Earlier, said Chief Benjamin Barsena of the Oak Park police, the Chicago squad had appeared to intercede for Rogers, Bohlman, Monahan, and Gale.

Later in the day Price and Bibby were seized at Jarvaras' yard after allegedly attacking Poulos there. Price was booked for disorderly conduct and the others for assault. All were released in bonds of $200 each.

The Chicago policemen involved were Sergt. Andrew Carroll and Patrolmen Norman Sims and Frank McCullough. They are assigned to Lieut. Charles Egan's labor detail acting under orders of Capt. Daniel Gilbert, head of the uniformed division of the Chicago police department. Gilbert until recently was chief investigator for the state's attorney and was active in suppressing the so-called outlaw teamster unions that are opposed to the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, which State's Attorney Courtney has endorsed.

Police Deny Interceding.

Sergt. Carroll, in a report made to Capt. Gilbert, denied that he and his men had interceded for the Oak Park prisoners. They said they had been detailed by Lieut. Egan to follow Bohlman and Monahan, who feared attacks from representatives of the outlaw teamster unions.

Police heads agreed yesterday that the Chicago policemen, upon entering Oak Park, left their own jurisdiction.

State's Attorney Courtney could not be reached during the day. His first assistant, Wilbert Crowley, said he had talked to Courtney by telephone and had been instructed to investigate the Oak Park incident and take appropriate action if it was found that the policemen had acted improperly.

Police Commissioner James P. Allman said that he had had no knowledge of the assignment of members of the labor detail to guard union men, explaining that "Capt. Gilbert is handling those things." He said he was demanding a full report of the incident from Gilbert.

PRESIDENT ACTS TO AVERT STRIKE OF COAL MINERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt moved today to head off a threatened strike of 450,000 bituminous coal miners at midnight Sunday by asking congress to pass the Guffey coal bill.

The President probably will request John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, to call off or postpone the strike order, originally scheduled for Sunday, if congressional leaders promise early action on the coal bill. Mr. Roosevelt's request that the measure be passed was slipped quietly to leaders of the houes of representatives at a White House conference this morning.

Trouble in Illinois was threatened, meanwhile, if the Progressive miners do not join the United Mine Workers, their bitter enemies, in the proposed walkout. Executives of the United Mine Workers predicted that the Progressive miners would run into "plenty of trouble themselves" if they did not join the strike.

Although protesting that they do not want a repetition of the 1933 mine war in Illinois, United Mine Workers' executives also made plain that they would not have their strike, if it is called, scuttled by the Progressives without a fight.

This and other angles of the coal crisis depend on the success of President Roosevelt's demand for the Guffey coal bill. Lewis has indicated that he will turn down any truce plan which is based on continuation of the existing situation, but he probably would at least postpone the strike call if he is convinced that the Guffey bill will be given a chance in congress.

APPROVE STRIKE VOTE BY CHICAGO MILK DRIVERS

Its strike vote endorsed by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753, voted full power to its executive board last night to say when and against whom a possible walkout will be called.

The drivers have sought unsuccessfully in a series of nine conferences with the Associated Milk Dealers to gain an increase in pay of from $40 to $45 a week, and an increase in commissions. The dealers have refused to consider the increase on the grounds that present market conditions will not allow it. The present price of delivered milk in Chicago is 11 cents a quart.

At last night's meeting in the Ashland Boulevard auditorium, R. G. Fitchie, president of the drivers' union, read the telegram of endorsement of a strike from the international group in Indianapolis. The wire added the warning, however, that every possible means of effecting a peaceful settlement should be exhausted before a strike is called.

Alabama Judge Enjoins Legislators' Salary Increase

Mobile, Ala., June 13.—[Special.]—Judge Walter B. Jones of the Montgomery Circuit court issued an injunction today restraining state officials from paying the $2 per day salary increase for members of the legislature. The legislators recently increased their pay from $4 to $6 per day.

MINERS DEMAND WAGE INCREASE AND 6 HOUR DAY

In a joint conference yesterday of representatives of the United Mine Workers of Illinois and of the Illinois Coal Operators' association at the Majestic hotel, the union men demanded that their base wage be increased from $5 to $5.50 a day, that they be given a six hour day and a five day week with time and one-half for overtime and double pay for Sundays and holidays.

The operators will study the demands and are expected to take action at a meeting in the hotel this morning and report their decision to the joint conference today. The owners and miners were left without a contract by the elimination of the NRA codes and the extension of their old agreement expires at midnight Sunday.

ILLINOIS SENATE ENDS RED QUIZ OF UNIVERSITIES

Three of Inquiry Group Lead Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—[Special.]—Three members of the senate committee that was investigating subversive influences in this state's universities, unexpectedly made a drastic showing of their voting strength and sympathies today. The action abruptly terminated that inquiry.

The action was taken in a meeting which was called, in the belief of Senator Charles W. Baker [Rep., Davis Junction], originator of the inquiry, that a program for further sessions would be formulated. White with anger he rushed out of the committee session, charging that the majority's action was a "cowardly whitewash" of the educational institutions.

Baker for Further Quiz.

Baker hurriedly prepared a bill providing for a continuation of the inquiry by a commission consisting of five senators and five representatives. The commission would be given full powers over witnesses and records, the task of digging out relevant indraft recommendations for submission to the Sixtieth general assembly.

Senator James J. Barbour [Rep., Evanston], whom Baker charges has been attempting to thwart the purpose of the investigation, made the motion ending the commission's activities. He was supported by Senators Richey V. Graham [Dem., Cicero], committee chairman, and W. H. Hickman [Dem., Paris]. Supporting Baker's request for further hearings was Senator John W. Fribley [Dem., Pana].

Calls Inquiry Useless.

Barbour supported his motion with the assertion that "nothing had been or would be accomplished" by the inquiry. Graham and Hickman declined to offer any explanation other than that they were in agreement with Barbour.

"It was my wish," said Senator Fribley, "to have one more session of the commission before preparing our report. It was my thought that this further session should be closed to all except to witnesses and the press."

Whitewash, Baker Charges.

Baker's criticism of the majority action bristled with anger. In the meeting he turned on Barbour and shouted:

"This is nothing but a whitewash. You have been for whitewashing these universities ever since the inquiry got under way."

Later he added:

"The record was allowed to be cluttered with a lot of useless information. A transcript of it has cost the taxpayers $1,200. I shall have a minority report that will blast Senator Barbour for scuttling the investigation."

ELECTRICAL WORKERS RESUME STRIKE IN OHIO POWER PLANTS

Toledo, O., June 13.—(AP)—Electrical workers of the Toledo Edison company, who returned to work on instruction of their international officers last Thursday after an 18 hour strike, voted tonight to renew the strike immediately and began picketing the plants.

Although several factories shut down in the strike ten days ago through fear that a shortage of power would damage machinery, electrical service was uninterrupted. The power company succeeded in bringing in a normal flow of current over feeder lines.

The strike followed a breakdown of efforts to settle a union demand for a 20 per cent wage increase.

A union statement issued at conclusion of the meeting tonight said that the electrical workers had received no satisfaction in their negotiations in Washington and the committee had received "sufficient evidence to believe that the company intended to delay negotiations and obtain the benefit of time to defeat the men in their lawful right to strike."

UNION PRESIDENT PUT ON TRIAL FOR MURDER IN HOME

Thomas Cronin, 27 years old, president of the International Brotherhood of Coal Drivers, Helpers, and Handlers, local No. 704, went to trial yesterday in the court of Judge E. I. Frankhauser for the murder of William Bahnfleth, who was shot and killed in the Cronin home at 4856 North Kenneth avenue on April 5.

The jury was speedily selected and the state completed its presentation of evidence at 5 p. m. Only four witnesses were used. They were Mrs. Anna Bahnfleth, 3954 Irving avenue, mother of the victim; Margaret Lewis, 4544 Michigan avenue, a colored maid; Police Captain Joseph Goldberg, and Policeman William Meagher.

The maid testified that Bahnfleth was in the kitchen of the Cronin apartment with Mrs. Cronin when the union leader arrived with a pistol in his hand. She added that she fled from the house before the shooting, fearing she would be harmed. Policeman Meagher told of going to the house after the slaying and of being told by Cronin: "I shot him and I'm not sorry; he was fooling around my wife."

Capt. Goldberg testified to his questioning of Cronin. Through him the state introduced a confession made by the defendant. In his opening statement of the case Prosecutor Morris Meyers declared jealousy furnished the motive for the killing. Attorney Cameron Latter for the defense indicated he would plead insanity in behalf of Cronin.

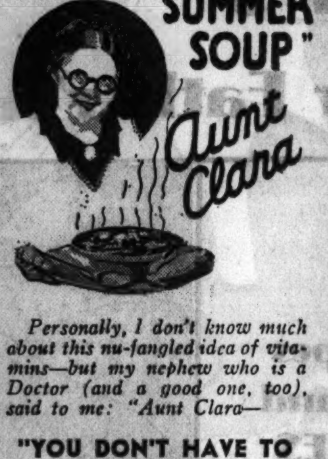
Betty Lou Paxton, the smallest baby ever born at the Grant hospital, has ceased to depend on artificial means for life, it was announced yesterday. Betty Lou has been removed from the incubator in which she spent her first eleven weeks of life, and will be sturdy enough in about three weeks to go to live with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Paxton of Lemont, her nurses said. At birth on March 21 Betty Lou weighed 1 pound 10 ounces and was 14 inches tall. She now weighs 4 pounds 10½ ounces and has gained 2 inches in height.

"The Doctor Ordered SUMMER SOUP"



Personally, I don't know much about this nu-fangled idea of vitamins—but my nephew who is a Doctor (and a good one, too), said to me: "Aunt Clara—

"YOU DON'T HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT VITAMINS!

"Just give us a bowl of your wholesome vegetable soup with its 15 vegetables and rich meat stock, with a piece of pie and a glass of milk, and the meal is completely balanced!" And to my surprise he said, "Soup is a good summer dish, too!"

HOUSE APPROVES KELLY HANDBOOK BILL, 89 TO 53

Mayor Sits in Chamber During Voting.

which has the effrontery to come down here and ask us to legalize it."

Only then did the Democratic supporters get an opportunity to answer these remarks and Majority Leader Benjamin S. Adamowski of Chicago went to it with a will.

After considerable debate back and forth, the roll call was started, only to be interrupted many times while members spoke to explain their votes.

After a brief recess the house also passed, virtually without debate, twelve Chicago board of education and park district bills. Teachers' pension bills which were opposed by a number of Chicago instructors present here whose stand was presented by Mrs. Bernice T. Van Der Vries [Rep., Winnetka] were approved, notwithstanding, by a vote of 86 to 41.

Retirement Age 65.

These measures call for the retirement of teachers at 65 instead of 70 years, and reduces the voluntary retirement annuity from $1,500 to $500. Mrs. Van Der Vries and Schnackenberg spoke against them, and Majority Leader Adamowski for them. There was little discussion, the merits having been thrashed out last night when the measures were advanced to third reading.

Like the park refunding bills, the school measures were senate bills, and have now completed their legislative course and go to Gov. Horner for signature.

The park bills will, if signed, permit the Chicago park district to refinance through the refunding and assumption of 106 millions principal and interest of the bonded and floating debt of the 22 park districts, including Lincoln, south and west parks, which were consolidated on a referendum made possible by a bill passed by the legislature.

Seek Working Fund.

Authority would also be granted for creation of a working cash fund of five millions to prevent payless paydays for employés because of delayed tax collections, and for the issuance of six millions in new bonds to the federal government to take advantage of the public works easy money fund for essential park improvements.

Representatives Green, Thomas P. Sinnett [Dem., Rock Island], Frank W. McClure [Dem., Abingdon], B. J. Branson [Rep., Centralia], and G. J. Johnson [Rep., Paxton] today jointly sponsored a constitutional amendment resolution which, if adopted by the legislature and the people, would permit imposition of a state income tax and the 1 per cent tax limitation. The resolution is backed by the Illinois Agricultural association.

In addition to the above provisions, the constitutional amendment would empower the legislation by a majority vote, to exempt from taxation homesteads valued at $1,000 or less, and homes of greater value by a two-thirds vote.

RELIEF WORKERS STRANDED AFTER TRIP TO ALASKA

Washington, D. C., June 13.—(AP)—Information that 30 federal emergency relief workers who were sent to Alaska to aid in the Matanuska valley colonization program were released in Alaska without "subsistence funds" was contained in a telegram received today by Delegate Diamond [Dem., Alaska] from Mayor O. S. Gill of Anchorage.

"During the last few days 30 FERA employés have been released at Palmer and shipped to Anchorage awaiting the arrival of the steamer North Star in Seward," Gill telegraphed. "The men are not furnished subsistence funds and this city is obliged to provide food and quarters."

RELIEF GARDEN PLOTS ASSIGNED TO 800 FAMILIES

Seeds Are Provided and Land Plowed.

More than 800 relief clients this morning will take over garden plots assigned to them in a field at Irving Park boulevard and Cumberland avenue. In each case, the relief family made voluntary application for the ground and seed and agreed to a deduction from its food budget next fall when the produce is harvested.

The relief gardeners have an advantage over the ordinary gardener who is not supported by taxation, because the ground has already been plowed and planted with small seed by relief clients employed on a special work relief project. Therefore the families taking over the plots today will merely have to plant the larger seed and plants and provide regular cultivation.

Variety of Seeds Supplied.

Seeds planted by relief clients other than the garden "owners" included radish, lettuce, carrot, beet, onion, and kohlrabi. Today the gardeners will begin to add turnip, spinach, pepper, lima and string beans, corn, cucumber, squash, pumpkin, and chard seed, as well as cabbage sets and tomato plants.

A total of 16,000 Cook county families receiving aid from the Illinois emergency relief commission will grow vegetables this summer through the subsistence garden program. Half of these will have backyard gardens while the others will cultivate plots on land loaned to the IERC by governmental agencies and private corporations.

U. S. Grants June Funds.

A federal grant totaling $10,519,000 for June was received yesterday by the IERC, according to Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary. This includes $10,000,000 for general relief, $355,000 for transient relief, $130,000 for the emergency educational program, and $34,000 for the aid of needy college students.

The IERC had requested $13,900,000 of the government. Mr. Reynolds said that later in the month a further grant may add to the $10,519,000 received yesterday. He also said the federal relief administration had decided not to grant $990,000 which was included in the $13,900,000 request for immediate repayment of money taken from the Illinois Rural Rehabilitation corporation during the recent financial crisis.

LaFollette's $209,000,000 Bill for Wisconsin Works Killed

BY DEE INGOLD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., June 13.—[Special.]—Gov. Philip F. La Follette's bill to set in motion his 209 million dollar public works program tonight was killed, 19 to 14, by the Wisconsin senate. The vote on the measure followed six hours of debate.

Early in consideration of amendments to the bill, which contemplated acceptance of 100 millions of dollars from the federal government to accomplish 209 millions worth of work through issuance of scrip, a test vote indicated the bill would be killed by a margin of one vote.

When defeat of the measure appeared certain two senators shifted to support of the opposition which comprised the Republican and Democratic coalition in the senate. The final vote showed only one Democrat voting with La Follette Progressives in favor of the bill.

Quiz Governor's Expert.

The first four hours set aside by the senate for consideration of the bill was devoted to cross examination of Thomas M. Duncan, financial assistant to Gov. La Follette, on the meaning of various sections of the measure.

Following this preliminary scuffle, several members of the Republican and Democratic parties declared they were not satisfied with Duncan's responses. They were convinced, they said, that the bill proposed to make the governor virtually a dictator over relief and other activities in Wisconsin.

The bill, in addition to providing machinery for the governor's public works program, proposed four kinds of taxes designed to balance the state executive budget. These taxes included a levy on estates, amendments to the normal state income tax, a chain store levy and a gross income tax on utilities.

Asks Change in Bill.

Senator Philip E. Nelson [Rep., Maple], upon whom administration forces were depending for support, proposed that the budget balancing features of the bill and the taxes they embraced be separated from sections describing the public works program.

Nelson said he favored a so-called excess profits tax included in the public works administration portion of the bill, but considered the other taxes debatable issues which actually could not be considered a vital portion of the governor's program.

"It seems apparent that this bill will not pass in its present form," said Nelson. "I favor the public works program because I much prefer to deal with officials of my state than with the federal government and I say that aside from party lines or political affiliations, I believe the members of this senate should rise above party lines in considering a plan to put people back to work.

"The last 75 pages of the governor's bill refer to taxes which already are recommended in the legislature in various kinds of bills. They will require lengthy consideration, which would delay a final vote on the entire bill.

Pleased with State Plan.

"I believe we ought to divide this bill so that senators who oppose the four kinds of taxes still can vote for the public works program if they wish. I believe it is better than the federal plan, knowing what I do about the dilatory methods of the federal government.

"I think we should pass the public works portion of this bill and place the full responsibility upon the governor of Wisconsin and, if it does not work, he will be to blame and not us."

Nelson's plea fell flat. Senator William D. Carroll [Dem., Prairie du Chien], floor leader for the Republican and Democratic coalition in the senate, promptly moved rejection of an amendment to accomplish a division of the issue.

Carroll declared that if the senate tampered with the measure and then passed it, the La Follette administration would blame the senate if the program failed. The bill should be voted upon as it was drafted, Carroll asserted.

IERC EXTENSION MEASURE TO PASS SENATE TUESDAY

Airport on Lake Front Is Authorized.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—[Special.] —Gov. Horner's forces in the senate today beat down all proposed amendments and advanced to third reading the administration bills extending the Illinois emergency relief commission until March, 1937, and appropriating to it $45,000,000 to finance the state's share of relief costs.

The tallies on the amendments indicated clearly that the administration has the votes to pass the bills next Tuesday. Only 26 votes are needed, and although the Republican protestants were supported by some Democrats the dominant party still appeared to have sufficient votes for its purpose.

Approve Lake Front Airport.

From this—throughout a long, uninterrupted session—the senate went on to approve Mayor Kelly's bills authorizing the construction of a Chicago lake front airport, agreed to peg the Chicago park district's tax levy at $9,000,000 for 1935 and 1936, and hurried through roll calls on others of its measures.

Senator Earl B. Searcy, Springfield, Republican minority leader, led the attacks on the IERC. He proposed an amendment limiting its life to Dec. 31, 1935, and as an alternative, one extending its powers only to June 30, 1936. Both fell on a close viva voce vote.

Then Searcy sought to limit the state's expenditures for relief. An amendment to cut the 45 millions to 22½ millions was tabled by a vote of 26 to 13. Another amendment to appropriate only 27½ millions was tabled by a vote of 27 to 10.

Assails Harry Hopkins.

"The whole tenor of relief in this state," said Searcy, "has been to kowtow to the nitwit Hopkins [Harry L. Hopkins] federal relief administrator. He cares nothing for Illinois, but struts around in the rôle of a supreme dictator, an exhibition of an ignoble, contemptible, undeserving and unqualified public official.

"Hopkins wasn't sincere when he demanded the passage of the increased sales tax by an emergency vote, as his later actions demonstrated. The time has come when we should cease taking dictation from him."

"Those remarks are unparliamentary," broke in Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan, the senate's presiding officer.

"If expressing a candid opinion of the deal that this state has got is contrary to the senate rules, we should change the rules," Searcy answered.

Allow 3 Millions Monthly.

The relief appropriation bill would permit the expenditure of the state's funds at the rate of three millions a month. Searcy said he had authentic information that 1½ millions would be sufficient and quoted from a report by Wilfred S. Reynolds, IERC executive secretary, that 2½ millions per month is enough.

Searcy also reminded the senators that appropriations for the 1936-'37 biennium are running now six millions ahead of the 442 millions appropriated for the current two year period. He warned the senate that the state is headed for its first one-half billion budget.

On the limitations Searcy's argument was that in view of the federal government's program to give work to employables it would be unnecessary to provide for the continuation of the IERC for twenty months.

One of the arguments being used by the administration for continuing the IERC is that the shortness of time before the general assembly adjourns does not lend itself to the drafting of a better system. The same argument was used for another purpose by Senator James O. Monroe [Dem., Collinsville] on the roll call by which the senate passed the only measure introduced by Senator T. V. Smith [Dem., Chicago].

Smith's bill provides for a legislative council on which would serve ten senators and ten representatives. These would study the needs of the state and formulate a legislative program between sessions intended to avoid the present haphazard method of amending the state's statutes.

"If we had had a legislative council we wouldn't find ourselves being forced to continue the IERC," said Monroe. "We Democrats agreed in caucus that the relief system should be changed, then left it to Senator Hickman alone to draft another plan. He did, but because some one doesn't think it is perfect we have to continue the IERC."

Two Votes to Spare.

Senator Smith's bill had only two votes to spare on the roll call of 28 to 10. Some of his colleagues who weren't so particular about human liberties when passing New Deal legislation, suddenly awoke to the belief that a legislative council might curtail their own rugged individualism in patterning legislation, and declared their personalities to be indispensable to the legislative processes.

Without a dissenting vote, Chicago was given authority to construct airport just off the lake front. With a landing field located in the lake, the transportation of passengers between the loop and the airport would be reduced considerably, its sponsors declare and Chicago would become the nation's aviation center.

Park to Give Up Land.

In particular, the two airport bills permit the park district to convey land to the city, authorize the reclamation of land, and provide for the issuance of bonds, redeemable out of revenues, to finance the cost. These bonds would be used as collateral for a federal loan. A similar airport financing bill for other cities in the state also was passed.

By a vote of 33 to 0, the senate approved the house bill placing employés of the Chicago sanitary district under civil service. The measure now goes to the governor.

No Chance for Bidwill.

That the Democrats were set on ousting Arthur J. Bidwill from the senate in favor of Charles F. Baumrucker [Dem., River Forest], who now has the seat, regardless of cost was revealed today.

Bills totaling $6,549 have been submitted as the cost of the Baumrucker contest in which no votes were recounted. In contrast is the $1,217 cost of settling the cost of the contest brought against Senator Oral P. Tuttle [Rep., Harrisburg]. In this contest the votes were recounted in two counties. To defray the Baumrucker contest expense, Senator Peter P. Kielminski [Dem., Chicago], chairman of the elections committee, today introduced a bill appropriating $7,500 for the purpose.

Among the other bills passed by the senate today were measures "pegging" the levy of the Chicago park district at nine millions for 1935 and 1936; setting up a method of dissolving A Century of Progress Exposition corporation; making stricter requirements for the filing of personal property schedules; and several house bills amending provisions of the forest preserve and Chicago sanitary district pension funds.

Divorces E. S. Leonard, Seed Company Executive

Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort granted Mrs. Edith R. Leonard, 7159 Euclid avenue, an uncontested divorce yesterday from Edward S. Leonard, vice president of the Leonard Seed company, 33 West 35th street. Mrs. Leonard was awarded $130 a month alimony. The couple married on Feb. 11, 1920, and Mrs. Leonard alleged she was deserted on Aug. 15, 1933.

ROOSEVELT PUTS HOUSE TO WORK FOR NEW NRA

Debate Is Limited After Long's Filibuster.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—Awed by stern orders from President Roosevelt to extend the NRA without any more nonsense, the house today meekly prepared to approve tomorrow the senate's version of the resolution prolonging the life of the recovery act in a shadowy form until next April 1.

Envious, perhaps, of the publicity obtained by the incredible Huey Long in his 15½ hour filibuster in the senate, which was broken at dawn today, certain Democratic representatives had prepared to protest against the Borah amendment to the resolution which would deprive the President of any authority to relax the anti-trust laws for industries entering into voluntary agreements regarding labor conditions and trade practices.

Only One Hour's Debate.

But, after a visit to the White House, these Democrats emerged grumbling and muttering threats of future insubordination, but cowed for the moment. Under a special rule adopted by the rules committee late today the house will be forced to a vote on the NRA amendment with only one hour of debate permitted. Concurrence with the senate in the Borah amendment was a foregone conclusion.

The President made it plain to the congressmen, it was learned, that he wanted the NRA resolution adopted before the deadline Sunday night. He was willing to forgo any powers given him, he stated, as long as the organization itself was kept intact for a few more months. His attitude gave added strength to the reports that more legislation strengthening the NRA will be sought at this session.

The house would have acted on the resolution this afternoon if Representative Robert Rich [Rep., Pa.] had not objected to a request for unanimous consent to consider the measure immediately.

Snell Refrains from Delay.

Minority Leader Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.] previously had refused to object, remarking that he knew such an objection could only delay final action for a few hours. But Rich wished to make a little speech about the senate's debate. Democrats shouted him down and he then made his objection, putting over the vote until tomorrow.

"The senate can sit up all night considering this resolution," shouted Rich, "but we in the house are supposed to rush things through without even knowing what they are all about."

Representative John J. O'Connor, chairman of the rules committee, has been one of the most outspoken Democrats in opposition to the Borah amendment.

"The senate backed down on us," he declared. "To hell with them. If their amendment is what I think it is the house won't stand for it and I shall fight it."

Heeds Roosevelt Orders.

But when O'Connor had considered what the President had told him and Speaker Joseph W. Byrns and other leaders, he cooled down. Another Democratic representative, who was not brave enough to permit his name to be used, asserted, "the senate is afraid of Huey Long and some fool has sold the President on the idea that he must accept everything the senate does. That doesn't sit well with me. If things continue to go on this way, there's going to be the damnedest uprising in the house you ever saw."

The capital buzzed today with discussion of Huey Long's all-night filibuster which, incidentally, will cost the country $4,650 to record in the Congressional Record.

Long's 15 hours of speechmaking on every conceivable subject caused the senate to take a recess until tomorrow immediately after the vote at 6:10 a. m. Long wabbled off to bed at the end, his eyes swollen and barely open. He did not appear until late this afternoon in his hotel, but was still proudly certain that he had made "the greatest speech of my career."

Helpers Grow Weary, Too.

Senator Thomas D. Schall [Rep., Minn.] attempted to carry on the filibuster after Long quit at 4 a. m., but the reading of his speech by the clerk consumed only an hour. Then Senator Pat McCarran [Dem., Nev.] tried to help out but did not talk long. When he finished, there was no one else to talk and the senate rushed finally to the final vote which was 41 to 13 in favor of the resolution as amended.

President Roosevelt also told the leaders at this morning's conference that he wanted prompt enactment of the Wagner labor disputes bill and the measure extending the post of federal transportation coördinator.

Representative O'Connor was authorized by his rules committee to call up whenever he sees fit the bill extending the position of transportation coördinator. He said he must seek house action today or tomorrow since the position expires at midnight Sunday unless the extension bill is passed.

Wagner Bill Hearing Today.

O'Connor announced he would call his committee into session tomorrow for a hearing on the Wagner bill which has been passed by the senate and approved by a house committee. It was believed probable that the rules committee would grant right-of-way to the Wagner bill in time for it to pass the house next week.

For New Alcohol Control.

The President also pressed the congressmen to act soon on a bill establishing a federal alcohol control commission to replace the Federal Alcohol Administration, which was ruled out of existence by the Supreme court's decision that NRA was unconstitutional. Objections were also expressed to this move by one leader, who said the house ways and means committee would want to know why the treasury could not handle the job of liquor control.

The TVA amendments, which have been tabled by the house committee on military affairs, also were discussed by the President. He was said to have suggested that the rules committee bring up the bill before the house without regard to the action of the military affairs committee. One representative said he told the President that "the house does not do business that way."

Constitution and Oysters.

Huey Long's discourse ranged from a discussion of each article of the constitution in detail to the proper method of frying oysters and how to steal a guinea hen's eggs. His voice was a mere croak at the finish. He read from the Bible and Victor Hugo to kill time, but his verbal wanderings, without recourse to any printed page, furnished a record in the senate which has seen many a seemingly interminable oration.

Like a radio comedian, he interspersed his ramblings with reference to the feats of "my uncle," a character who taught bartenders how to mix drinks "by standin' in front of the bar until the bartender learned how." He spent many minutes on a recipe for "pot likker." He was somewhat confounded when Senators Tydings and Lewis once addressed him in Latin, but numerous attempts to have him yield the floor were unsuccessful until weariness finally caused him to quit.

SLEEPY HUEY

ADVOCATE CIVIL SERVICE LAW FOR 4,000 EMPLOYES

Enactment of legislation pending before the Illinois general assembly at Springfield to place 4,000 employés of the sanitary district and Cook county under civil service was urged yesterday at a meeting of the joint committee on the merit system at the Woman's City club. Mrs. Murry Nelson presided as chairman of the group, which represented several civic clubs.

E. M. Martin of the public affairs committee of the Union League club said attention should be focused on the administration of a civil service law after its passage.

"We have good laws," said Martin. "We have spent a lot of time on the structural side. Now we ought to see that they are carried out honestly and effectively."

Ross A. Woodhull, president of the sanitary district, who helped draft the legislation, also urged its adoption in a formal statement. He said the laws would draw into public service capable men who would not care to devote their time and abilities to a position which might end overnight with the change of a political régime.

SUIT WILL TEST CITY'S RIGHT TO TAX ALL TRUCKS

The right of Chicago to collect vehicle license fees on trucks used in interstate commerce is to be tested in the higher courts, Attorney Meyer S. Miller announced yesterday. Miller is attorney for the Cushman Motor Delivery company, 315 North Ada street. He filed notice of appeal after Judge Samuel Heller in the Stockyards court imposed a $5 fine against George Sabo, a driver for the delivery company, on a charge of driving a truck without a Chicago vehicle license. Judge Heller continued the case until Tuesday to allow time for appeal.

PROTEST BUYING BRITISH CARILLON WITH PWA FUNDS

U. S. Company Objects to U. of Wisconsin Plan.

Protest was made to President Roosevelt yesterday against the government's furnishing money, through a Public Works administration grant, for the purchase in England of twenty-five bells for the new Carillon tower of the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Several American concerns submitted bids to supply the bells, but the chimes fund committee of the university has agreed to award the contract to the firm of Gillett & Johnston of Croydon, England, with the approval of the PWA, according to a statement yesterday by Alfred W. Peterson, controler of the university. The contract, however, has not yet been signed, he said.

John Deagan, secretary and manager of J. C. Deagan, Inc., 1770 Berteau avenue, said his company had submitted a bid of $10,000 to supply the university with a carillon similar to the one which the company recently installed in the Chicago Temple. The English firm's bid was $10,720, including duty, Deagan said, for a different type of bell.

Message Sent to President.

As the government is paying 30 per cent of the cost, the Deagan company felt that the bells installed in the university tower should be of American make, Mr. Deagan said. Accordingly, the following telegram was sent to President Roosevelt:

"The proposed allotment of PWA funds for installation of English carillon at the University of Wisconsin would defeat the very purpose for which the PWA was conceived, and we strenuously object to such a practice. Our firm, although manufacturing only luxuries, managed to successfully weather the depression, but we cannot continue to exist if the government provides funds to support our foreign competitors whose products are a great deal more costly than ours. We have heretofore been strictly in accord with New Deal policies, and NRA is still observed by us. We thank you for your consideration in this matter. J. C. DEAGAN, INC."

Jobs for Forty Men.

Mr. Deagan said that about forty American men would have been given employment if his concern had been awarded the contract, about twenty of whom are not now employed. The English bells offered are the conventional bell types, are cast in molds, and are played manually with ropes and levers, he said.

Deagan's company offered a carillon operated by electricity, with a device for marking the hours with Westminster peals and an electric automatic device to play any selection or number of selections at any hour of the day or night.

The Deagan offer also was for bells tubular in form and cold drawn of bell metal, as opposed to those cast in hot metal, which easily chip or break, Mr. Deagan said.

Controler Peterson of the university said the English bells were selected because the contributors to the chimes fund were the members of graduating classes from 1917 to 1926 and they specified that English bells should be used. The contributions for the tower and carillon, which will cost $40,000, totaled between $25,000 and $30,000, he said.

Contract to Lowest Bidder.

Charles A. Halbert, chief engineer for the state of Wisconsin, said the carillon tower is almost completed and awaits only the installation of the bells. He said the contract for the bells went to the lowest bidder, with full approval by the government authorities.

A. L. Kurtz of Milwaukee, acting state director of PWA in Wisconsin, said the government was satisfied. The PWA has given a grant of 30 per cent of the entire cost of labor and materials, he explained. He said he understood it was the purpose of the contributors to the chimes fund to perpetuate the memory of one of the first types of communal music, and therefore they wanted the cast bells and not the modern electric vibration type.

He said the government saw nothing incongruous in the contract going to a firm in England.

CHICAGO LURES RICHBERG FOR LAW PRACTICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—Donald R. Richberg, who will leave the chairmanship of the defunct NRA Sunday at midnight, may return to Chicago to practice law, he indicated today.

"I have lived there a good many years," Richberg replied, smiling, when asked if he would return to Chicago, but he added quickly, "I have no definite plans to go back."

Richberg said that after taking a short vacation he would not return to Washington even as a private citizen. He said he had not, as has been reported, been offered a position as counsel for the Federal Communications commission.

Would Avoid Washington.

"I'm not particularly inclined to stay in Washington," he said. "Nothing has been said to me about going to the communications commission."

The retiring recovery administrator, whose resignation came after the law he helped draft was declared unconstitutional, said he had no definite connection with any firm or organization and that he had not arranged to return to his old job in Chicago as counsel for the railroad brotherhoods.

"I'm very pleased to say that I have no definite hookup with any organization, labor or industrial," Richberg replied to a question about his railroad job, and added with a grin, "but I don't say that as a lawyer who objects to taking clients."

Term Expires Sunday.

As son as his term in office expires Sunday, he will pack his bags and leave, Richberg intimated. He may stay over a few days to greet his successor. His immediate plans are to "take a rest."

A new NRA, skeletonized, and devoted to fact-finding and policing of government contracts will be set up as soon as the new NRA resolution pending in the house is adopted and signed, Richberg predicted.

The possibility of retaining NRA standards through voluntary wage and hour agrements or interstate wage and hour compacts was deprecated by Richberg.

FACA SUCCESSOR URGED BY STATE LIQUOR OFFICIALS

Cleveland, O., June 13.—(AP)—The national conference of state liquor administrators voted unanimously today to request President Roosevelt and congress to set up an "appropriate tribunal" to carry on the functions of the Federal Alcohol Control administration, which collapsed through the recent Supreme court NRA ruling.

The administrators of 17 states, in special session, adopted a resolution asking perpetuation of the FACA functions, specifically concerning "advertising, labeling, standards of fill, and movements of liquor in interstate commerce."

They also asked the "wet states" to adopt meanwhile as an emergency measure the FACA regulations and to make them effective in intrastate liquor transactions, keeping them in force "until experience and intensive study shows in what respect they should be changed."

BOY GETS PROBATION IN ROBBERY.

Stewart Mills, 17 years old, 641 Addison street, was placed on probation yesterday by Judge J. M. Braude, before whom he was arraigned on a charge of stealing dishes from a home and selling them at a crockery store.

30,000 N. Y. City Workers to Face Income Tax Suits

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Collection of at least $1,000,000 in unpaid state income taxes owed by 30,000 of the 140,000 city employés was predicted today as the result of a drive begun by the state tax department, in coöperation with the finance department of the city. Those said to be liable to taxes include school teachers, policemen, firemen, and other more highly paid officials.

FARLEY REPLIES TO GRASS ROOTS' 18 POINT ATTACK

Statement Is Credited to Press Agent.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—The administration's answer to the eighteen point indictment of President Roosevelt at the Republican grass roots convention at Springfield, Ill., was delivered today by Postmaster General James A. [Call me Jim] Farley.

At the White House, where strict silence had been observed on the list of grievances of the nation as interpreted by Republicans, it was said that Farley was the administration spokesman.

Although the statement was signed by Farley it was reported that its author was Charles Michaelson. Mr. Michaelson, a former newspaper man, is press agent for the Democratic national committee and is among those credited for Mr. Roosevelt's election.

Text of Statement.

The statement dismissed the indictment in an attempt to ridicule the convention and the Republican party in general. It follows:

"It seems to me that the recent regional meeting of the G. O. P. forces at Springfield will give this country another question as important as that historic query 'How old is Ann?' I mean that the country is going to ask 'What was it all about; where did they get to, and what is the difference, anyhow?

"True, they abused the President of the United States, and I would hardly think it would require the preparation of a regional gathering to let the country know that the Republican party—if there still is such a party nationally—would arraign a Democratic President. I confess I was somewhat shocked that so representative a gathering—representative, I mean, of the confusion and irreconcilable character of its composition—should have failed to mention the name of their last President and their last standard bearer. I do not know whether this was because they were ashamed of him or because they were afraid of promoting a gale of laughter. I do not recall in all my political experience a parallel omission at such a convention.

Mentions Frank Smith.

"Possibly it may be explained by the presence at a 'grass roots' convention of such an eminent farmer as Frank L. Smith, who farmed the Insull pocketbook so successfully that he was cast out of the senate because his campaign was financed by the then czar of the public utility business when Smith himself was chairman of the commission appointed to protect Illinois from the exploitation of the Insulls. This is to mention only one of the G. O. P. old guard that took charge of the affair in order to make sure that there should be no unseemly prominence attained by any of the progressive element of the Republican organization.

"Their rooting in the grass did not seem to turn up much more than a denunciation of the New Deal and a presentation as Republican principles of pretty much every process and policy identified with the New Deal. The same platform could have been written with much more clarity and brevity. It should read:

"We are in favor of the New Deal, but we think we ought to have the job of administering it."

NINTH WARD MEETING TO PROTEST OUSTER OF BIDWILL TONIGHT

Demonstrations against the Democratic ouster of Arthur J. Bidwill as state senator will spread beyond the boundaries of his suburban district, the Seventh, tonight when a protest meeting will be held in the Ninth ward at 11039 South Michigan avenue.

"The good citizens of this ward," said Axel Seeder, who will act as chairman, "want to decide by their ballots who their public officials shall be and oppose having the bosses do it for them. Therefore we are interested in the Bidwill case."

Speakers announced for the meeting include Mr. Bidwill; H. Wallace Caldwell, county commissioner from the country towns, and John J. Mangan.

UNION OFFICIALS FREED BY JURY IN CASINO CASE

Three labor union officials, charged with a conspiracy to extort $10,000 from Jules Stein and Corlett Huff, operators of the French Casino at Clark street and Lawrence avenue, were acquitted last evening by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Cornelius Harrington.

The defendants were George McLean of Cincinnati, international vice president of the Bartenders, Waiters and Hotel Employés union; William Brooks, business agent for the Stationary Engineers union, and Max Caldwell, president of the Waiters alliance.

Huff and Stein said that after a strike of waiters in the casino was called last July the trio approached them and offered to put the men back to wor kif they were paid $10,000. The demand, they added, was later reduced to $5,000.

The defendants, who were represented in court by Attorneys Harold Levy and Abe Marovitz, denied the attempt at extortion. The strike was called rightfully, they declared, because the casino owners failed to keep an agreement to raise waiters' pay from $1 to $1.50 a day.

THREE MEETINGS KEEP GRASS ROOT 'BACKFIRE' ALIVE

G. O. P. Plans Series to Boom New Party Spirit.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Neighborhood meetings intended to keep up the momentum of the Grass Roots conference were held in three Chicago wards last night. There are ten more meetings already scheduled and the program will be continued indefinitly.

This was announced yesterday in a statement signed by George F. Barrett, William E. King, and Leslie P. Volz, officers of the reorganization committee of the Republican party of Cook county.

Plan to "Keep Fire Going."

"In harmony with the thought so aptly expressed in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE that the backfire against the New Deal lighted at Springfield must be carefully tended," the statement read, "and that an organization must keep the fire going, meetings all over Cook county have been scheduled for the purpose of immediately translating into effective action the spirit and enthusiasm engendered in the Springfield conclave."

The meetings last night were held in Walters' hall, 5212 South Halsted street; at 2100 North Avers avenue, and at 5105 West Grand avenue. They were called by three ward committeemen, James W. Breen, Eugene L. Nusser, and Eden T. Brekke.

"Over 1,000 men and women who attended the meetings," said the announcement concerning them, "unanimously adopted resolutions condemning Roosevelt and his follies and pledging themselves to canvass their neighbors and friends to join the Republican reorganization committee, which consists chiefly of a promise to vote and work against Roosevelt and the New Deal."

Meetings: Where and When.

The other meetings scheduled include one in Odd Fellows' hall, Maywood, this evening, and the following nine ward meetings next week:

Day.	Ward.	Place.
Monday	18	6417 S. Halsted-st.
Tuesday	15	6231 S. Washtenaw-av.
Tuesday	28	2236 W. Lake-st.
Tuesday	43	753 N. Clark-st.
Tuesday	21	2150 S. Damen-av.
Wednesday*	37	456 N. Parkside-av.
Thursday	24	3223 Roosevelt-rd.
Friday	41	To be announced.
Friday	2	3456 S. State-st.

*Afternoon. All other meetings in evening.

Mr. Volz, secretary of the organization, predicted that the movement to sign up workers against the New Deal for 1936 will spread downstate in the near future.

AL SMITH HERE TODAY TO ATTEND LIBERTY SESSION

League to Discuss Nation's Problems.

Members of the executive committee and the advisory council of the American Liberty league are to gather in the Drake hotel today for luncheon and dinner conferences on American problems.

The two groups have a total membership of about 200 persons, residing in various parts of the country. Ralph M. Shaw, chairman of the Illinois division of the league, said he had no advance information on the number who would attend, but that he expected from 75 to 125.

Among those on their way here last night was Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee for President in 1928. Mr. Smith, accompanied by John J. Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, boarded the Century Limited in New York yesterday afternoon.

Business, Political Leaders.

The American Liberty league was organized ten months ago by a representative group of business, financial, and political leaders.

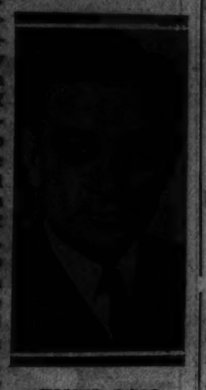
Wage Fight on Radicalism.

Among the announced objects of the league are: To defend and uphold the constitution of the United States; to teach the necessity of respect for individual rights and property; to combat radicalism and to "teach the duty of government to encourage and protect individual and group enterprise, to foster the right to work, earn, and save."

HOMER BYRD AND ANOTHER HURT IN PLANE ACCIDENT

Homer Byrd, airplane designer and former Cook county commissioner, was seriously hurt with another passenger early yesterday when they were thrown against the roof of a Pennsylvania Air Line plane while the ship was tossed by violent winds 75 miles west of Washington, D. C., according to dispatches from that city. The plane, bound from Washington for Cleveland, returned to Washington after the mishap, and both Byrd and George P. Kimmel, Washington patent lawyer, who also was injured, were taken to an emergency hospital.



HOMER BYRD.

The accident, according to flyers, was a strange one. The pilot of the plane, a tri-motored Ford with Wasp engines, said the air was "very rough" and the passengers were injured when the plane passed into a strong down current of air and fell approximately 200 feet before regaining equilibrium. This is one of the first accidents of the type reported in this country in an air line plane.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

on the gasoline your stop-and-go driving uses every 5 months

Your 10 daily starts waste your money—unless your gasoline has these 3 different Kinds of Power

EVEN on sizzling summer days—many of your starts are relatively "cold."

That's because the temperature around your engine quickly drops from its normal 150 degrees after the engine stops running.

You start your engine about 3500 times a year. So it's easy to see, then, how a quick-starting gasoline can SAVE YOU MONEY.

But a really economical gasoline must have two additional kinds of power as well—power for HARD PULLING and power for STEADY RUNNING. Moreover, it must have these 3 different kinds of power in PERFECT BALANCE.

Super-Shell is the FIRST truly balanced gasoline. And so it saves you money in 3 WAYS. That's why thousands of motorists make Super-Shell their regular gasoline.

STARTING—With its even volatility, Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline on every "cold" start. (Even in summer, your engine is relatively "cold" after being idle an hour.)

PULLING—Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline in 10 minutes of hard pulling, or rapid accelerating.

RUNNING—Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline in every hour of steady running, many motorists report—thus saving on LONG RUNS as well as on short trips.

SUPER-SHELL is on sale at NO EXTRA COST at more than 30,000 neighborly Shell stations from Coast to Coast. Stop at one, and start saving money with this perfectly balanced gasoline TODAY!

All trains will stop at these stations and make direct connections with "L" trains at these points.

Thirty-Nine Teams in Contest.

Rooters for the competing teams are expected from the eight states represented, with a total of 78 horses and mules entered in the contest. Crowds witnessing the event will assemble on a long sloping hill leading down to the contest course in the floor of the valley where the teams will be tested.

Two Illinois teams have been entered since the list of entries was published in THE TRIBUNE last Tuesday. One team was entered by Joseph N. Scott on the McClashan farm near Frankfort, Ill., and the other by Walter Woodrum of Tallula, Ill. A total of 39 teams have been entered.

THE TRIBUNE announces the selection of the following judges, who will award the fourteen winning teams cash prizes totaling $500: E. T. Robbins, live stock extension specialist, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.; R. B. Cooley, animal husbandry expert, Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., and Harry F. Moxley, extension animal husbandry specialist, Michigan State college, East Lansing.

Wife Divorces Magistrate of Evanston Police Court

Police Magistrate Willis R. Brightmire of Evanston was divorced in the Superior court yesterday by his wife, the former Hazel Lincoln, whom he married in Highland Park on Sept. 17, 1932. Mrs. Brightmire testified that her husband deserted her on Aug. 31, 1933. She waived alimony and was granted permission to resume her maiden name. Attorney Erwin F. Stolle, representing Brightmire, said an out of court settlement had been made.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

June 13, 1935.

According to the plans made to take care of the crowd Saturday morning at THE TRIBUNE'S big horse pulling contest, nobody will go hungry during the day. There will be just about everything good to eat for sale on the grounds from a "hot dog," or a delicious sandwich, to a 50 cent chicken dinner. After looking over the extensive menu of the chicken dinner which is going to be served by the Wheaton American Legion post for 50 cents [f.o.b. the Wheaton experimental farm, Saturday noon!] I am wondering if the lunch hour won't develop some mighty interesting competition with knives and forks, because a morning in the fresh air of the open country, plus a home cooked chicken dinner is a potent combination to induce long distance eating.

The management of the horse pulling contest expects to start weighing the teams of horses about 8:30 Saturday morning. As soon as this job has been completed, the actual pulling will start. This should be about 9:30 a. m. The motoring public that wants to watch the contest and enjoy a day in the open rubbing elbows with both city folks and farmers will find signs on U. S. highway 330 telling how to reach the contest grounds.

The horse pulling contest is being held at a time when the countryside is literally "knee deep in June." The grass is nearly knee high in the pastures, thanks to the heavy rains this season. You can stand in a meadow and smell the rich fragrance of many spring flowers and shrubs that are a mass of blossoms. Bobolinks, dressed in their "formal" black and white clothes still sing with all the ardor that wild song birds put into their serenades at this season of the year. The wild columbine stands along woodland trails taller than I have seen it in years. Wild geraniums still lift their heads above the heavy growth of greenery in the woods.

On the Yorkville farm the black locusts have joined the Chicagoland "blossom parade" and now are covered with blooms. The fragrance of these trees pervades the lowlands near the Fox river—appealing to both the senses of sight and smell.

The barns near the big silo have been getting a new spring coat this week. Painters went to work on these the other day to change the color of the buildings from red to cream, so as to match the other buildings on the farm.

Muskmelons have been planted near Mrs. Thurow's home again this year. I was watching Shorty put the finishing touches on the patch a few days ago. Last year both the melons and the pumpkins had a hard time getting anywhere due to the lack of rainfall. But this year the big rains have given all the garden truck a flying start.

PTOMAINE MAKES SCORES OF FERA LABORERS SICK

Indianapolis, Ind., June 13.—(AP)—Physicians treated scores of FERA laborers who became ill today after eating tainted meat contained in lunches provided by a relief kitchen.

Dr. Herman Morgan, secretary of the city board of health, said a preliminary investigation indicated the men had contracted ptomaine poisoning from pickled tongue. He said that until complete treatment is given each victim it will not be known whether they will suffer serious after effects.

The exact number made ill was indefinite. The laborers were engaged in several projects in different parts of the city.

Most of the stricken men were colored.

THEY ALWAYS FAIL.

The Canadian government's gamble in wheat is approaching its disastrous end. It was wrecked by economic forces which no government, however rich, can overcome. The same forces, operating in the same way, wrecked Mr. Hoover's farm board and today are undermining our government's gamble in cotton.

To call these ventures "gambles" is, in fact, to flatter them, because there is never a doubt about the outcome. They always fail. When the Canadian government last year set a price on wheat which was above the market, Canadian wheat could not be sold. The farmers, to be sure, received a somewhat higher price for their crops, but what they gained last year they must lose this year or next, with interest.

The government confidently predicted that all but 100 million bushels of Canada's wheat would be out of the market by the time the 1935 crop appeared. In fact, the carryover is going to be about 170 million bushels. Canada will have to market both last year's unsold surplus and this year's good crop at the same time and she will have to sell it in competition with a bountiful yield in this country. The Canadian farmers will pay a heavy price for their government's interference.

The New Dealers have played the same cruel trick on the American cotton growers. Our government's cotton loans have rigged the price of American cotton above the world market. The result is that our cotton is not moving into consumption at anything like the accustomed pace. The world is supplying its needs, in so far as it can, by buying cotton grown in other countries.

World consumption of cotton is on the increase, but American sales of cotton are declining. On June 7 a year ago more than 7 million bales of our cotton had been sold abroad during the crop year. The comparable figure for 1935 is 4,517,000 bales. Our exports have declined by more than 35 per cent in a year.

Foreign spinners prefer our cotton, but they cannot afford to use it. They complain about the quality of the substitutes from Brazil and elsewhere, but must continue to buy them. If, as seems likely, the quality of foreign cotton improves with added experience in growing and processing it, our farmers will have to face much stiffer competition than they have ever before encountered. Formerly the cotton output of Brazil was limited by inadequate ginning facilities. Our government's action has encouraged the export of ginning machinery to Brazil, with the consequence that that country must now be reckoned as a permanent competitor on a permanently larger scale.

Our cotton farmers must face this added competition at a time when rayon is making deep inroads in their markets. Naturally, the rigging of the price of cotton has encouraged investment in rayon factories and accustomed customers to its use. It is always easier to lose a customer than to gain one.

The politicians know that price rigging of this kind always results in heavy losses to the producers and generally to the taxpayers as well. It always aggravates the trouble it is intended to cure. The reasons are obvious. The price of an international commodity in the international markes is the price at which approximately the whole supply, actual and potential, will move into consumption. A higher price imposed by a government must always result in lessened consumption and therefore in the creation of an unused surplus. The surplus must weigh upon the market until it is sold and meanwhile encouragement has been given to new producers in other lands to enter the field.

The lesson for Americans as for Canadians is to beware of the schemes and more especially of the politicians who advocate them. These charlatans do not hesitate to ruin a whole people for the sake of a temporary political advantage. They know, even if their more gullible constituents do not, what the unbroken record of such price manipulations is.

AS MAINE GOES.

If the furious campaign waged last year in the state of Maine may be taken as a criterion the New Dealers place the utmost confidence in the old saw that "As Maine goes, so goes the nation." Further, it may be recalled that the Democratic gubernatorial candidate won his election on the single plank platform that, as a Democrat, he would be in a better position than his Republican opponent to secure federal grants for the consummation of Maine projects. His confidence was not misplaced. One of the first appropriations from the work relief fund is a sum of thirty-six million dollars for the development of power from the abnormal Fundy tides that invade Passamaquoddy bay, at the extreme eastern angle of the state.

For what purpose this additional power supply will be used is an enigma to be solved by generations to come. Present prospects are nil. No substantial volume can be utilized in the sardine, herring, or lobster fishing industries for which that section of Maine is famous, nor in the smoking of haddock to produce finnan-haddies. It cannot be argued that it will establish industry, because the Pine Tree state is already so badly overloaded with hydro-electric power that artificial consumption has been induced; for example, the Bucksport paper mill, promoted and built by the Insull interests at a time when overproduction of newsprint was threatening the collapse of that industry in the United States.

A power plant situated at the apex of a triangle with its market area constricted to the north by the Canadian boundary and to the south by the Atlantic ocean could scarcely succeed under normal industrial demand. It is difficult to visualize a more perfect example of delirium tremens spending for the mere exhaustion of a fund.

COWCATCHERS FOR SHIPS.

The Normandie has a clipper bow. Whether it was so designed for some utilitarian purpose such as providing added living space for the crew or merely to give the ship a more graceful appearance has not been explained. At any rate the clipper bow is a feature which might well be incorporated in other ships because it greatly reduces the damage from collisions.

The point is brought out in an article by Lieutenant Commander T. W. Sheridan, U. S. N. R., in the current number of the United States Naval Institute Proceedings. He observes that the sharp vertical stem of the ordinary merchant ship is the cutting edge of a knife weighing thousands of tons, capable of doing fearful damage below the water line of any ship which it strikes. The fact that the power of the engines in reverse is much less than their propelling strength makes head-on collisions in narrow waters difficult to avoid.

Commander Sheridan recalls from fairly recent maritime history a number of instances of the terrible destruction which has been wrought by the bows of relatively small ships moving at relatively slow speeds. When the American liner St. Paul struck the British cruiser Gladiator head-on, off the Isle of Wight, fifty feet of steel armor plating was torn off the battleship, which promptly filled, rolled over, and sank. There was heavy loss of life, although the collision took place less than 500 yards from the beach. The small merchant ship Silverpalm struck the United States cruiser Chicago and cut a 20 foot gash extending almost to the keel, and this in spite of the fact that the Silverpalm's engines had not been turning for two minutes before the collision. The Empress of Ireland sank in the St. Lawrence with the loss of a thousand lives as a result of a similar accident.

Before the war, it appears, there was much agitation for an international agreement to design safer bows, but because of the value of the knife bow in ramming submarines the proposal was dropped. Commander Sheridan believes the time has come to renew it. He suggests that the clipper bow, with its long overhang, will go far to prevent the cutting of ships below the water line and therefore avert the most serious consequences of collision. If the clipper bow is well rounded the damage to the other ship's superstructure will be still further reduced.

The safety bow adds something to the cost of ship construction. Commander Sheridan recalls the suggestion that ship owners be encouraged to take on the added expense by reducing the port charges for ships so designed. Such a reduction in charges would be reasonable because it would greatly reduce the hazard to shipping in port. The proposal should be adopted by our government.

Editorial of the Day

BACK TO THE CWA.
[Baltimore Sun.]

The evidence grows stronger that the administration is going back to the CWA in providing work relief for the unemployed under its $4,000,000,000 program. The President's advisory committee on allotments has decided that low cost projects must hereafter be given preference if all of the 3,500,000 workers now on relief are to be provided with jobs.

This represents a departure from the policy hitherto followed. Until lately the view of Public Works Administrator Ickes has prevailed. He has insisted that projects be chosen for their permanent worth, social usefulness and desirability. He would, in short, erect buildings, bridges, and highways and make other public improvements of enduring value, as has been done more or less under the PWA. Approximately $1,000,000,000 worth of projects on this basis have already been tentatively approved under the new program.

The estimated costs, however, have been averaging about $2,000 per jobless worker to be employed. Simple arithmetic has shown the advisory committee that at this rate $4,000,000,000 will give jobs to only 2,000,000 men. Hence the committee has declared that the average, including material costs as well as wages, must be brought down to $1,153 per man for all projects hereafter to be approved. Since the wage rates are fixed, this means that less will be spent on materials, and if less is spent on materials it means that fewer projects of a PWA character can be undertaken.

The only alternative is to go back to the sort of temporary and frequently wasteful work undertaken by the CWA in the winter of 1933-'34. And it is perhaps not entirely coincidental that the administration faction which has been insisting upon low cost projects should be led by Relief Administrator Hopkins, who originated and directed the CWA. This faction has demanded that employment needs be considered first and that the character of the relief projects be adjusted to meet these needs. The President's advisory committee has indorsed this view.

It would be mathematically difficult, of course, to spread $4,000,000,000 over a number of costly but useful public improvements and still give employment to 3,500,000 men. But to put them to work on less costly and often useless projects simply for the sake of keeping them at work seems a decidedly extravagant way of providing relief.

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

HUEY LONG can not only speak twenty or thirty hours but he seems to be very entertaining. The Congressional Record containing Huey's filibustering speech is going to put that dull old publication into the class with "humorous magazines." It's probably the only number of the Congressional Record ever published that won't be used to paper the shelves in the pantry. People never read it, usually, except when they want to put themselves to sleep and get tired counting sheep jumping over the fence.

AND HUEY LONG'S speech in the senate is all the more remarkable when we consider that the latest English dictionary contains only 400,000,000 words. Huey must find the English language a terrible handicap.

MAIDEN REMEMBERED.

And I have nothing now to lose, having lost
The sound of your rich voice within the darkened room,
Proving, with quickened grace, that after years
Would only bleed but silver blood—and doom.

A dusty word evoked by men long past
The shadow of our saving. Ah, stars themselves
Were running dogs for our desire,
And no height that could try our strength. Elves

Of all the possibilities were we—
Offspring of April, chiders of despair,
But why, at last, the dreamed of, planned for morning
And you not there?

I am as one who was the happy keeper
Of a dancing, loved faun,
Who sees with sudden-startled eyes
The prisoner soar, reborn, and questing on
To unknown worlds leave still the shepherd
Bewildered by the shaken end.
Speaking alone in the stricken meadows,
Wandering by the river's bend
Where once his fears were comforted.
And I am silent now, am dumb.
Let the dawn break, let the fates sing, let the years come.

THE DIONNE QUINTETTE have been presented with five pairs of baby shoes. Which ought to make Papa Dionne, who is mad as all gittout at the adoption of the babies by the king, stop and think things over. Buying five pairs of baby shoes wouldn't make much of a dent in Father Dionne's pocketbook, but what of the day when they want five party gowns and five sealskin coats and five Paris hats and five wrist watches and so on and so on? Papa Dionne may finally conclude that the adoption of his daughters was a pretty good break for him after all.

THE SANHEDRIN which rules professional baseball is stirred up on the question whether an ex-convict shall be permitted to play in a minor league. TO CHILDHOOD.

You gave them twenty years ago,
The puzzle of the plum, the snow
Of cherry bloom, transformed into
Bright globes of lacquered red and blue.

You taught me how the sun could call
A rose to bloom upon a wall,
How fleets of butterflies bore sails
Of painted nursery fairy tales,
When child and butterfly became
In flight of fantasy the same.

I made a poem in my heart
And hid it there, a secret chart,
An allegro to happiness.
For never could I quite confess
The utter joy to people grown
Into grave images of stone,
Who could not understand the wild
Composite being of a child.

You gave them twenty years ago
To keep untarnished, to foreshow
By intimation dawning truth.
I cannot then despise my youth,
But, turning back the pages, smile
Upon a record written while
So innocent, all thought impearled
With beauty of a wonder-world.

THE VALUE OF THE ARM BATH.

THE pendulum of mass thinking swings back and forth with the passing of time. In politics, economics, and science ideas change, based upon what we at the moment interpret as new discoveries. Dominant beliefs today will recede into limbo a few years hence and we will wonder why we were possessed of so many foolish notions. So it is in medicine. Heat, in some form, has long been recognized as an important therapeutic agent, and yet its recent revival comes to many as a "brand new" concept.

The use of heat has proved so valuable in many diseases that numerous devices are now being suggested for its application. We have mentioned the type of apparatus that will raise the temperature of the body from normal to 105 degrees F. or even higher; and the value of this procedure in arthritis, in syphilis of the nervous system [general paralysis], and in some other conditions is now being studied. We cannot as yet accept the method without some reservations. Accidents have occurred and individuals with certain types of heart or blood vessel disease may suffer reactions that will prove serious if not fatal.

What happens when heat is used? If it is applied locally, that is, over a hand or arm, foot or leg, there is a markedly increased flow of blood to the part with a dilatation of the blood vessels. This effect, however, is not confined entirely to the part of the body on which the heat is actually used. In fact, due to the circulation of the blood, it is impossible to confine heat to a single area. The same is true of cold.

A German investigator, Hauffe, recently conducted a series of experimental studies on the value of slowly increasing the heat applied to a given part of the body. As a result it was shown that this form of treatment brings about a definite general reaction with increased circulation in the capillaries and veins and a change in the distribution of blood. Hauffe believes that the liver, the spleen, the bronchial tubes, and the blood vessels of the heart are also affected. Thus an overstrained heart may be relieved by the gradual transfer of blood to other areas of the body. As the capillaries dilate under the effect of heat there will be a gradual decrease in blood pressure.

Recent reports from several clinics indicate that arthritis, the after effects of rheumatism, and fibrositis in muscles are greatly relieved through the use of rising temperature baths of one or more parts of the body. Young persons are given the bath daily for from three to four weeks, and older individuals stand the baths well, if given at longer intervals and for shorter periods.

The arm bath consists of a closed cabinet filled with water in which one or both arms may be immersed well above the elbows. The temperature of the water is started at approximately 100 degrees F. and increased one degree each minute until it reaches 112. Some patients can stand the bath for twenty minutes, or until the temperature reaches 120 degrees F.

An English physician, R. F. Fox, commenting upon the procedure, states that in his experience the blood pressure falls after a single bath from five to fifteen points, the fall lasting from two to six hours. He believes that the plan is a safe method of producing a general dilatation of the skin blood vessels, thus relieving internal congestion.

It has long been known that when the body is immersed in water heated much above normal temperature [98.6 degrees F.], and when the heat is prolonged for more than ten minutes, injury to the circulation may ensue. This objection does not apply to the arm bath.

Fox believes that individuals who complain of poor circulation [cold hands and feet] or who show signs of narrowing of the blood vessels of the extremities should use the gradually rising temperature bath at regular intervals.

INDUCING SLEEP.

C. T. writes: Can you suggest some ways or methods of inducing sleep?

REPLY.

One must learn to relax. The problems of the day should not be allowed to dominate one's thoughts. Make certain that indigestible foods and overeating shall not place too heavy a load on the circulation. Many persons find that some monotonous sound, such as the ticking of a long pendulum clock, is helpful; while others are irritated by such sounds. Sometimes reading a good book, in a comfortable position, with proper lighting, will induce drowsiness. Taking a glass of lukewarm or hot milk at bedtime is often of value. A hot foot bath or a lukewarm tub bath often promotes sleep. A hot tub bath is stimulating rather than relaxing. Moderate exercise is an excellent sleep promoter. Walking twenty to thirty minutes just before retiring will often bring about the necessary fatigue so that sleep comes without effort. It is largely a matter of self-training—avoid worry and do not live over all the events of the day.

NEURASTHENIA.

Mrs. J. B. S. writes: Several years ago I suffered from neurasthenia. About ten days ago I was not feeling well and had exactly the symptoms you gave in your article on this subject. My family physician says it is a case of a run down condition. When I see something very emotional at the movies I get palpitation of the heart, which frightens me and makes me panicky. Do you think this is a nervous condition or is there something wrong with my heart?

REPLY.

The condition you describe probably is a neurosis and not a symptom of organic disease. I think you can entirely dismiss the fear that your heart is involved, if your physician can find nothing wrong with it. You may recall how rapidly your heart beat when you had to speak your first piece at school. Count your heart beat when you are quiet and at rest and the chances are you will find the rate normal. If the "resting" heart beat is not over 80 you need not worry.

MOLES AND WARTS.

A. writes: What is the difference between a mole and a wart?

REPLY.

Moles are growths on the skin containing numerous blood vessels. They usually are brown in shade. The color is due to a substance known as melanin. These should never be irritated. Warts are growths of certain cells of the skin called prickle cells.

NATURALIZATION LAWS.

Chicago, June 7.—[Friend of the People.]—Has there existed prior to September, 1920, a law putting under the same status as American born citizens children under 21 who were naturalized through their father's naturalization, thereby entitling them to a permanent passport instead of the five year passport granted naturalized citizens? M. K.

It is assumed that the writer refers to section 2 of the act of March 2, 1907, which reads as follows:

"That any American citzen shall be deemed to have expatriated himself when he has been naturalized in any foreign state in conformity with its laws, or when he has taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign state [34 statute 1,228; U. S. C. T. 8, section 16].

"When any naturalized citizen shall have resided for two years in the foreign state from which he came, or for five years in any other foreign state, it shall be presumed that he has ceased to be an American citizen, and the place of his general abode shall be deemed his place of residence during said years: Provided, however, that such presumption may be overcome on the presentation of satisfactory evidence to a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States, under such rules and regulations as the department of state may prescribe. And provided, also, that no American citizen shall be allowed to expatriate himself when this country is in a war [34 statute 1,229; U. S. C. T. 8, section 17]."

It has generally been held by the courts, however, that the foregoing section does not actually result in the loss of citizenship but merely withdraws from them the protection of the American government while abroad, after the period indicated. There has been no change in this law.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director of Immigration and Naturalization, Chicago District.

INSURANCE.

La Grange, Ill., June 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A and B are sisters. Both marry and B has three daughters. Shortly after B's husband dies. B goes to an institution, giving A an insurance policy on her life. A pays this policy for years. 1. When B dies does this insurance money have to be used for burial? There are no other policies on B. 2. Can children force A to bury B? E. B.

1. In general, insurance money payable to a named beneficiary is not subject to the debts or funeral expenses of a deceased, but the beneficiary might be compelled to pay those expenses if he is the closest relative.

2. No, assuming that you mean children of B. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NECESSITY FOR PROBATE.

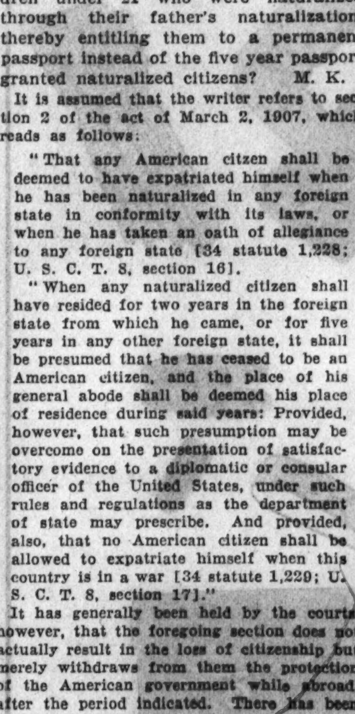
Evanston, Ill., June 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—After a will has been written at home and signed by witnesses [1] does it have to be taken to the Probate court upon death? If a husband or wife has a will drawn up at home, and leaves property to husband or wife [2] does the will have to be probated until the death of the person to whom the estate is left? A. F. C.

1. Yes.

2. Not on the bare facts stated. The will should be filed, but if the surviving spouse can reduce the assets to possession without probate, and if there is no real estate, then it may be practicable to dispense with court proceedings.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

The DEBUNKER
By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.



Most of our race prejudices would fade into oblivion if the facts regarding races were known, for scientific studies show that there are no basic or permanent differences between the races. The apparent differences are due chiefly to variations in climate, diet and economic status; and people living under conditions similar in these regions show no important differences in any of the fundamental human traits, regardless of nationality or race. There are probably no superior races, but there are superior climates and living conditions. These factors seem to explain the only essential differences between the races.

THE MENACED SONG BIRDS.

Sandwich, Ill., June 8.—It would seem to be a matter of only a few years before our beneficial birds such as the cardinals, catbirds, orioles, rosebreasts, bluebirds, thrushes, thrashers, woodpeckers, and mourning doves disappear entirely. In addition to being useful this list includes the most beautiful birds nesting in the state as well as the finest songsters. Driven from the woodlands by the crows they have [with the exception of the bluebird] sought refuge in the villages, where it now appears their situation is as bad as it was before they essayed a change. Dozens of hungry house cats, flocks of voracious blackbirds, swarms of persistent and greedy starlings, hordes of pestiferous English sparrows, to say nothing of vicious bluejays, owls and squirrels, make it well-nigh impossible for these feathered friends to rear their broods. In our village nothing is being done to mitigate the evil. Our citizens are stuffed with plans to alleviate any political, social, or industrial crisis, but these bird hoodlums continue their depredations unchecked and for the most part unnoted.

However, after the blackbirds and their numerous nestlings have fattened off the village all summer, devouring in the process as many eggs and young of useful birds as they can discover, they will select a desirable neighborhood and, now several thousand strong, begin flocking. Then, and not until then, will our overstuffed citizens be heard from. Their outraged howls will be intermingled with the sharp crack of slingshots and popguns as the birds continue to befoul village property and make days and nights hideous with their weird croaks and chuckles. And the birds will, as usual, have the last chuckle, will then travel happily to warmer climes to return to us in the spring with more deep laid schemes for thievery, murder, cannibalism and the wholesale destruction of the useful and the innocent. THE SUNDAY IMBECILES.

Chicago, June 7.—Your editorial in last Sunday's paper about the Slipping Bean club brought back some recollections of a similar organization known as the Sunday Imbeciles which was operating about twenty-five years ago, and which achieved the distinction of having Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith accept honorary membership. The title, the Sunday Imbeciles, was given to a group which hiked in the Chicago region on Sundays. The qualifications were far more rigid than your proposed qualifications for the Slipping Bean club as, in order to qualify for membership in the Sunday Imbeciles, one had to be caught in the act of committing some overt act of imbecility. SCHOOL CLERKS.

Chicago, June 7.—F. S. writes that the school clerkships should be given to Normal school graduates to whom they "rightfully belong."

These positions belong to those who can carry out their routine most competently. To say that a person who has majored in education in a three year college course would be more efficient in an office than one who has had training in general office work and in stenography would seem rather ludicrous.

F. S. also writes that a "former administration conceived the idea of creating these civil service, vote getting positions." Having waited on an unassigned list for over a year after taking the civil service examination and then having received an assignment one fine day without even knowing a politician, I should like to ask F. S. whether one civil service clerk could cast more votes than one Normal school graduate. P. H. W.

FLAG ETIQUETTE.

Chicago, June 5. — Old Glory has a birthday on June 14. We would all appreciate an article on flag etiquette. We need it, too, judging from the indifference displayed when the flag passes in review. Why leave all the flag saluting to the veterans and Boy Scouts? We are all loyal Americans at heart. It behooves us to show that loyalty for the benefit of the younger generation, which does as their elders do. OBSERVER.

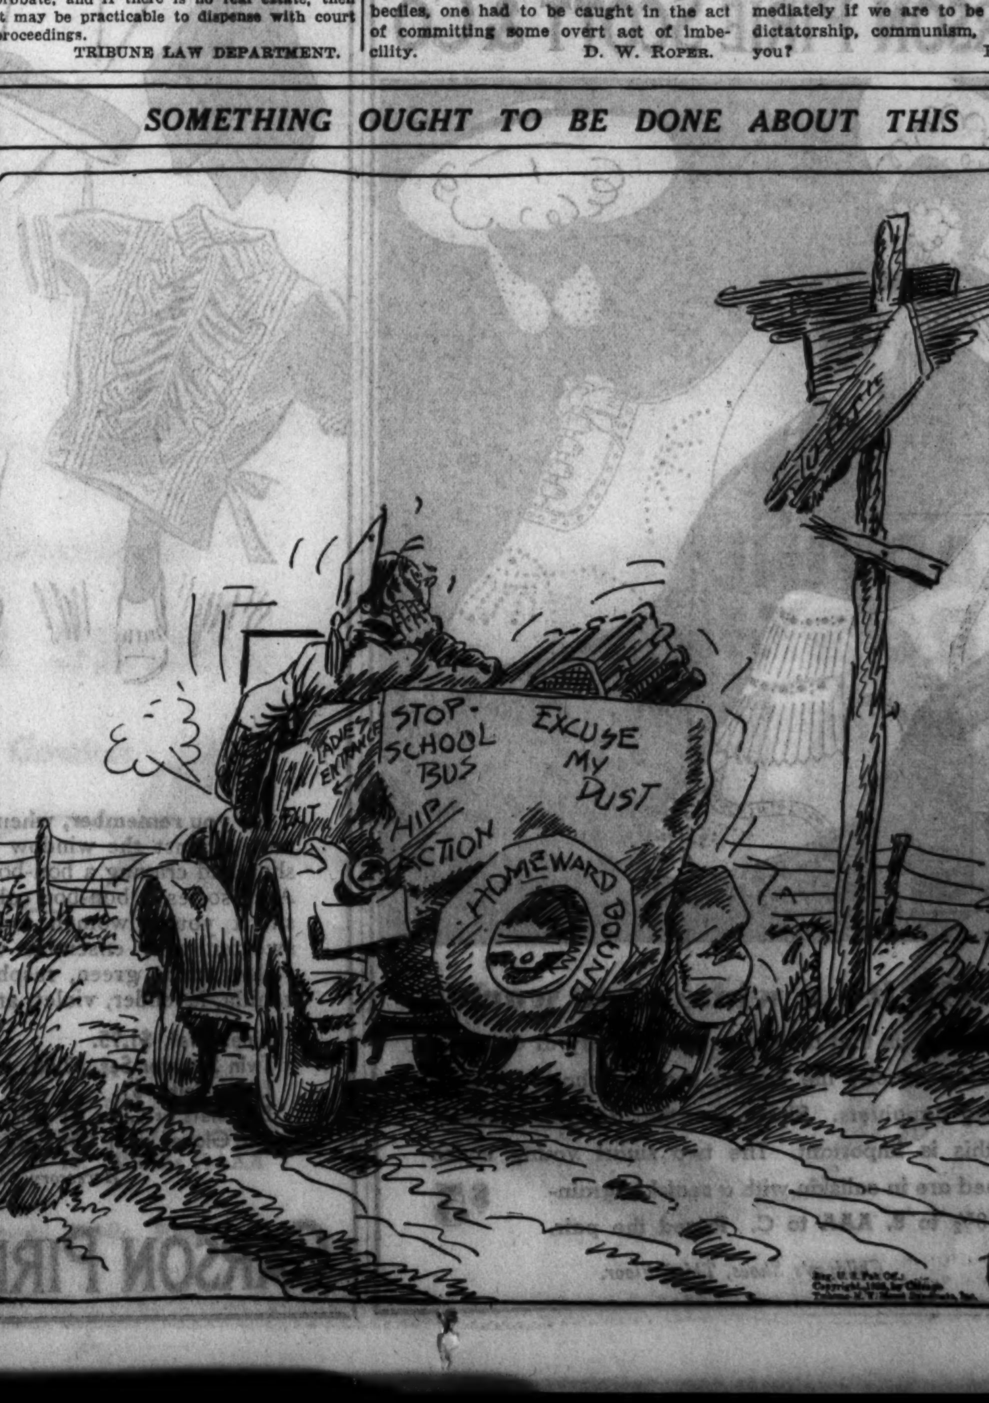
AU REVOIR.

Muncie, Ind., June 5.—I have taken THE TRIBUNE since 1909. I am canceling my subscription with my newsdealer when it expires on July 1. We all realize the Roosevelt administration is not perfect and has made mistakes, but I have failed to find a single good word for it in THE TRIBUNE. Your rabid, unreasonable criticisms are more than I can stand. H. H. CADE.

FOR CONSTITUTION PARADES.

Chicago, June 5.—In the crisis that now faces the nation every city should hold a Constitution parade, all to be held on the same day. Something must be done immediately if we are to be saved from a dictatorship, communism, or what have you? F. L. SOPER.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS



BARE SWEITZER'S HIDDEN REPORT ON LOST $200,000

Suppressed Data Avert Exposure in 1927.

Bank records subpenaed for use of the grand jury have enabled State's Attorney Courtney's staf to trace the $200,000 which has been missing since 1922 from Robert M. Sweitzer's accounts as county clerk, it was learned yesterday. The money, according to this information, has been traced into Sweitzer's personal bank accounts.

Prosecutors also have, it was learned, a report from the clerk's office which apparently was suppressed by Sweitzer, but which, if it had reached the hands of the county board, might have disclosed the shortage several years ago. The secret nature of that report is indicated by the notation which it bears: "Copies to R. M. S., cashier and bookkeeper—none to controler or bonding company." While the county controler was officially an employé of Sweitzer, it was his duty to gather reports from fee offices for information of the county board.

Expect to Build Up Full History.

From the subpenaed bank records, which include those of Sweitzer's personal accounts as well as of his deposits of county funds, it is believed that auditors will be able to build up a complete history of the $200,000 transaction. County Treasurer Patrick J. Carr gave Sweitzer a check for that amount in March, 1922, as an advance payment on fees earned by the clerk's office in extending taxes.

Sweitzer, in his capacity of clerk, should have turned the money back into the general fund of the county, held by the treasurer. Instead, bank records show that $200,000 was deposited in his personal account in April, 1922, one month after the $200,000 check from Carr had been received. The original check is missing, having been removed from the treasurer's office either after Carr's death in office, or at the conclusion of the term of the late Jacob Lindheimer, who was appointed to the vacancy.

Shortage Made Up from Tax Fund.

The only record of the $200,000 for a period of almost four years after Sweitzer received it is the notation in the treasurer's semi-annual reports that that sum was "held by fee offices."

Then on Dec. 6, 1926, George F. Harding became treasurer. Three days before he took office the shortage in the county clerk's fee account was made up. The prosecutors have the check by which this payment was made, showing that Sweitzer withdrew $200,000 from the tax redemption fund and deposited it to his general fee account in the Union Trust company.

The nature of this payment was concealed, however, in Sweitzer's report to the county board. He owed an additional $128,000 in fee collections. While he actually paid $328,000 to the treasurer as from the fee account, his report showed a payment of only $128,000.

Prepare Story for Grand Jury.

While three witnesses gave the grand jury further background on the case, auditors were busy yesterday preparing for the jurors the story of the $200,000 check and other transactions connected with the defaults in the clerk's office. It is doubtful that the information will go to the jury before Monday. A number of the bank records subpenaed for the inquiry are stored in warehouses, and bank representatives are coöperating with the prosecution staf in looking up these records.

The witnesses before the grand jury yesterday were H. P. Rempert, a certified public accountant who worked on the audit made by R. L. Pearce & Co., and Paul Gallagher and John Higgins, cashier and bookkeeper, respectively, in the county clerk's office.

The county board yesterday employed Lybrand, Ross Brothers & Montgomery, accountants, to audit the books of the county treasurer's office. Homer Miller, representative of the auditors, said that a force of between 25 and 30 accountants will be put to work in the office either tomorrow or Monday.

John D. Rockefeller Sr. Leaves Florida Estate

Ormond Beach, Fla., June 13.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller Sr. left here for his summer estate at Lakewood, N. J., this afternoon after an unusually long stay at his winter home, the Casements, at Ormond Beach. Contrary to his usual practice of bidding farewell to townspeople assembled to see him off, Mr. Rockefeller today entered his private car without a word and left for the north without even a wave of the hand.

SUE TODAY TO COLLECT ON $12,317 SHORTAGE IN M'HENRY TREASURY

Seven civil suits involving a total of $17,084 will be filed today in the McHenry County Circuit court at Woodstock by Acting State's Attorney Russell Allen against two former treasurers of the county, who are charged with leaving shortages in their accounts when they quit office.

The two are Frank J. Henricks, who was treasurer from 1926 to 1930, and Harry F. Petit, treasurer from 1930 to December, 1934. The total shortage, according to Allen, is $12,317, but the amounts of the suits total higher, since one item of $4,766 is included in suits against each of the men.

Six of the suits, Mr. Allen said, will be directed against Petit and his bondsmen, and one against Hendricks and his bondsmen. The two former treasurers had been given until last night at 5 o'clock to appear in the office of Lester Edinger, present treasurer, and pay the shortage.

Neither put in an appearance.

COUGHLIN SUES TO GAIN USE OF SOLDIERS' FIELD

Seeks Writ Compelling Permit for Meeting.

The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit, radio priest who is head of the National Union for Social Justice, sued in the Superior court here yesterday for a writ of mandamus to compel the Chicago park board to reverse its refusal to rent him Soldiers' field for a proposed massmeeting on June 19 or the soonest date thereafter following the outcome of the pending litigation.

James Slattery, attorney for the board, when informed that the priest's petition had been filed, said the board would "fight this case to a finish." He said that he will file his appearance for the board and an answer to the case on Wednesday—the day the Rev. Father Coughlin has sought to obtain use of Soldiers' field—when the case will probably be heard by Judge James J. Kelly.

Ettelson Files Action for Coughlin.

Father Coughlin's petition was filed by Samuel A. Ettelson, former corporation counsel, who was retained by the Detroit priest after the park board had twice turned down his request for the use of Soldiers' field. The board, in refusing, announced in a telegram to Father Coughlin that it had "resolved unanimously as a matter of policy not to permit the use of facilities of the Chicago park district for dissemination of propaganda upon poltical and economical subjects of a controversial nature."

Denying that Father Coughlin intended to enter into a controversial or subversive discussion in his proposed speech, the petition charges the park commissioners with "an unlawful attempt to prejudge and condemn in advance any utterances which might be made at such meeting."

Cites "Constitutional Rights."

The petition says that 200,000 members of the National Union for Social Justice in and near Chicago, as well as Father Coughlin, who is described as "a student of social and economic questions," are, by the board's action, being deprived of their constitutional right to speech and free assembly. It holds that no proposal thus far made by Father Coughlin is in violation of any statute or ordinance.

CITY AND NATION MARK BIRTHDAY OF FLAG TODAY

Plan Services at Grave of Revolutionary Soldier.

The 158th birthday of the Stars and Stripes will be celebrated today, Flag day. The flag will be flown from Chicago homes and public and business buildings in observance of the anniversary of the adoption of this country's emblem.

The war department has issued instructions to the public on the proper manner in which to display the American flag. Among them are:

No flag ever flies above the Stars and Stripes.

When displayed with other flags it is in the center or the highest point in the group.

If hung against a wall, whether vertically or horizontally, the union (field of stars) should be uppermost and to the observer's left.

Never Touches the Ground.

The flag never should be allowed to touch the ground or floor.

A wornout flag should be destroyed only by burning.

International usage forbids the display of the flag of our nation above that of any other in time of peace. They are flown on separate stafs and at the same level.

The national flag was adopted by congress on June 14, 1777. The act provided chiefly a rearrangement of the starry field of a "Stars and Stripes" that had been in use two years, and which had been found to be identical with the house flag of the East India company. The new emblem was to contain 13 stripes, alternately red and white, and the Union was to be 13 stars, white on a blue field, "representing a new constellation."

Confusion Follows Change.

There was still to be confusion, however, since some of the colony flags had seven white stripes and six red. Many years later the flag regulations were authoritatively laid down, providing for seven red and six white stripes.

When Vermont entered the Union in 1790 and Kentucky in 1792 each demanded that a stripe and a star be added to the original 13. This was done. Then five more states were received and the flag became an unwieldy affair of 20 stripes. In 1818, therefore, the congress voted a return to the original 13 stripes, providing that a star be added for each new state.

Services in Park Today.

In Chicago this afternoon a flag and bronze marker at a boulder at Clark and Wisconsin streets in Lincoln park will be dedicated in memory of David Kennison, a revolutionary war soldier. Kennison's body was buried in the old cemetery there. The program is under the direction of the Aaron Miner chapter of the D. A. R. and the Dr. Bobo Otto chapter of the G. A. R. Wilbur Helm, state president of the Sons of the American Revolution, will be the chief speaker.

Exercises of the American Flag Day association will be held at 2 p. m. at the bandstand near the Lincoln monument, and the main speaker will be the Rev. John Norris Hall of Batavia, national president of the organization. Mrs. Madeline Novak will be chairman.

Flags will be displayed today at all of the 36 Cook county relief stations and the IERC headquarters, 1319 South Michigan avenue. The flags have been loaned by patriotic employés and the public.

The annual Flag day exercises, alumni homecoming, and competitive military drill of the Glenwood Manual Training school will be held Saturday afternoon on the campus at Glenwood.

LAWYERS HIT IN KIDNAP CASE START DEFENSE

Urschel Ransom Fees Are Basis of Charges.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 13.—(AP)—Overruled in a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal, Ben B. Laska, Denver attorney, opened his defense today against federal charges of conspiring in the $200,000 ranson kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire.

The government had rested its case shortly before noon, relying chiefly on the testimony of two witnesses that Laska directed the disposal of $75,000 in ransom money received by his client, Albert Bates, one of the Urschel kidnapers.

Relative Repeats Charge.

Edward Feldman, Bates' stepson, reiterated under cross-examination by Laska that he informed the attorney the $10,000 Laska received for counsel fees was ransom money.

Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught also overruled a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal made in behalf of James C. Mathers, Oklahoma City attorney, who has figured only briefly in the proceedings to date. Judge Vaught said he would entertain such a motion after Mathers testifies.

Mathers was counsel for Harvey Bailey who, with Bates, is serving a life term at Alcatraz prison. The government contends Mathers received $1,000 of the ransom money from Laska.

Say Laska Threatened Them.

The government's principal witnesses were Bates' wife, Mrs. Clara Feldman, and her son, Edward, who said Laska had threatened to "slit our throats" if they failed to obey his instructions.

The government introduced letters exchanged between Laska and Bates in an effort to support its contention the Denver attorney directed the flight of Mrs. Feldman and her son, Edward, with ransom money.

Feldman was asked by Laska if he had not "lied" to the attorney on numerous occasions. "Almost every time I saw you," Feldman blandly replied.

Laska denied that he ever threatened to "slit the throats" of the government's two star witnesses.

"No, no, absolutely not," was Laska's answer to questions concerning the alleged threat to Feldman and his mother.

BUCKMINSTER, AS CHINESE BUYER, GETS 3 TO 10 YRS.

Owosso, Mich., June 13.—(AP)—Robert [The Deacon] Buckminster, 69, best known as the side-kick of the notorious Joseph "Yellow Kid" Weil, drew today a sentence of three to ten years in prison.

"The Deacon" was arrested here while posing as a representative of the Chinese government in a large scrap iron deal, with officials of the Renown Stove company, the iron to be used "making munitions."

Mr. Buckminster denied fraudulent intent and entered a plea of not guilty. Today he changed the plea. He admitted that if the scheme had worked China would have received no scrap iron, and the Renown Stove company would have received none of the several hundred thousand dollars mentioned in conversation but Mr. Buckminster would have done well for himself. He will serve his sentence at the South Michigan prison.

Parole Near for Two in Prison for Arson

Lansing, Mich., June 13.—[Special.]—Claude E. Niceley and Maurice Hurwich, former South Bend, Ind., business men, at Jackson prison since 1932 after conviction for arson, may be released on parole June 28. A recommendation to that effect was forwarded to Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald by Joseph C. Armstrong, pardon and parole commissioner. That date represents their minimum sentences plus good conduct time. They were convicted of acquiring the St. Joseph Board and Paper company at a low price, making a small down payment, over insuring the property, and causing it to be burned.

EX-WIFE, FIGHTING FAT, ASKS FOR $10,865 ALIMONY

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Mrs. Minnie Singer, 427 pound former wife of Seel Singer, applied to Justice Frederick P. Close in the Supreme court at White Plains today for an order compelling him to pay $10,865 in back alimony or face arrest. Justice Close reserved decision.

Attorney Francis Fallon told the court that Mrs. Minnie Singer spends $40 a week on doctors who are fighting her tendency to avoirdupois. She could not be in court today, he said, because she cannot ride in a taxicab or a railroad train.

Seel Singer is a brother of Saul Singer, banker, who served a sentence in Sing Sing after he was divorced from Mrs. Minnie Singer. Seel married Roe Lustbader, a model in the store of which he was the former part owner.

Pair Seized for Seining Minnows in Gravel Pit

Edward Pocias, 19 years old, 1850 Erie street, and Alex Smolinski, 27, of 2029 Charleston street, were arrested by a watchman yesterday while seining minnows from a water filled gravel pit in northwest Evanston, owned by the Doetsch Brothers Building Material company, Evanston. Most of the 40 pounds of fish the men had caught were dumped back in the water, but a few were saved to be used as evidence when the men are arraigned on disorderly conduct charges in the Evanston police court today.

AIMEE RETURNS WITH AN OPERA, 250 MORE HYMNS

To Renew Preaching, but Never Remarry.

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Aimee Semple McPherson, the thrice married preacher of the four square gospel, returned on the Italian liner Rex today from a world shopping tour and soul saving expedition. With 250 new hymns, a sacred opera of her own composition, and a new book she was ready to return to California or seek new fields.

"Never again!" she exclaimed, when the possibility of her acquiring another husband was suggested.

Latest Husband Divorced.

David [What a Man!] Hutton, the portly baritone singer of hymns and popular songs, who was husband No. 3, obtained a divorce last March. Sister Aimee then was on her international tour observing the state of evangelism in faraway places. Brother Hutton has announced that it is "never again" for him, too.

Sister Aimee was smartly dressed today and convinced, she announced, there's going to be a great world-wide religious revival "of joy and singing."

Some cynic asked Sister Aimee if that sort of religion wasn't "a sort of jag," similar to the after effect of alcoholic drink. Sister Aimee smiled sweetly, patiently.

"Isn't that a good thing?" she countered.

"The drink?" he countered.

Talks to Save Greece.

Sister Aimee considers her audience with Mahatama Ghandi and her sermon from Mars hill, near the Acropolis, delivered as a part of her "Save Greece" campaign, the outstanding events of her trip. She talked with Ghandi for about seven hours. They talked about "untouchability, my work in Los Angeles and the underprivileged," she said.

MRS. FARWELL'S SEPARATION SUIT READY FOR TRIAL

The separate maintenance action that Mrs. Loretta E. Farwell of the Edgewater Beach hotel filed sixteen years ago against J. Arthur Farwell of Beverly Hills, Cal., member of the well known Chicago family, will go to actual trial in the fall, it was indicated yesterday in a hearing in the Circuit court of Judge Philip J. Finnegan.

The hearing was on Mrs. Farwell's petition for an increase in temporary alimony from $350 to $1,200 a month on the ground that her husband recently came into a larger income from a trust fund. A ruling on the petition was continued to June 27. Judge Finnegan said trial on the suit could not begin until after the summer vacation.

Attorney O. John Rogge informed the court that Mrs. Farwell is ready to proceed on grounds of desertion and adultery for permanent separate maintenance. Farwell, he said, wanted a divorce decree, but negotiations to this end have failed.

Mrs. Farwell was granted $120 a month alimony in 1920, a year after her suit was started. It was increased to $350 in 1932 when Farwell's mother, Mrs. Ava W. Farwell, died.

HUNT NIGHT CLUB GIRL'S SLAYER IN WISCONSIN WOOD

Chicago police and state's attorney's investigators were reported last night to be searching through the wooded resort area near Lake Geneva, Wis., for Anthony Madona, a gambler who has been named as the man who walked into the room of Celia Mae Venable, 29 year old night club hostess, in the Berwyn Beach hotel at 1049 Berwyn avenue early Tuesday and shot her to death as she lay in bed.

Meanwhile, the police working on the case here announced that James Sikokis, 25 years old, of 530 Oakdale avenue, who admitted that he had driven Madona to the hotel and heard the shots, would be held as a state's witness. The police also questioned Mrs. Ruth Gilmore, 26 years old, who formerly lived with the slain woman and was a sweetheart of Sikokis, and Mary Hahn, 24 years old, a checkroom girl at the "Gay Nineties," a night club at Clark and Ohio streets, who had been living at the Berwyn Beach hotel. The women were released last night.

Sikokis told the police that Madona had been drinking, but he did not know that he intended to kill the girl. He had not seen the killer since leaving the hotel, he said.

PROMOTES REGULARITY NATURALLY

Faulty elimination, as an habitual condition, cannot be corrected by cathartics and purgatives. On the contrary, if taken frequently, they aggravate the trouble and may create a habit that is dangerous to health.

Mineral oil is neither a cathartic nor a laxative. It does not irritate the intestinal wall. It is a natural regulator. For these reasons, it is found beneficial in many cases of faulty elimination. None of it is absorbed in passing through the body, and it therefore increases neither body weight nor body heat.

JAPS TERRORIZE PEIPING; CHINESE FLEE FROM GUNS

Troop Moves Continue; New Demands Expected

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 14 [Friday].—The expectation that Japan will present fresh demands on China created a critical situation in north China today similar to that before the invasion of Shanghai early in 1932.

The Japanese last night notified Chinese authorities that a squadron of 12 to 20 planes from Jehol province would fly over Peiping to oversee the evacuation of Chinese troops.

This announcement, combined with Japanese military demonstrations of a provocative nature which were conducted with typical thoroughness, terrorized the Peiping population, causing an exodus from the city by all available means of transportation. All roads to the south were jammed with fleeing residents who feared the Japanese would bomb and occupy the city.

Report Heavy Troop Movements.

The anxiety of the populace was increased by rumors of heavy troop movements southward from Jehol through the Great Wall and along roads leading to Peiping. It was reported 12 Japanese troop trains were proceeding southward from Shanhaikwan into the demilitarized zone.

These reports, combined with actual evidence of the unloading of large transports carrying thousands of troops found for Tientsin, created the impression that the Japanese are preparing to strike and engage in widespread military operations in the event her military demands for a pro-Japanese administration in north China are not met. About 10,000 Japanese troops were reported in Tientsin yesterday.

The Japanese are demanding that the Nanking government sign a document which is characterized as a "blank promissory note," according to reports from Nanking.

Documents Called Death Warant.

Since the central political council actually is unaware of the scope of all the Japanese demands, signature of documents which the Japanese have prepared would constitute "the country's death warant" as an independent nation, it is maintained.

Gen. Ho Ying-chin, national government war minister and chairman of the Peiping military committee, left Peiping yesterday and is expected in Nanking late today to make a detailed report on the situation to the government.

The Japanese military activities have created a critical situation for the foreign legations at Peiping, four of which have guards of considerable strength which are likely soon to be completely surrounded by large bodies of Japanese troops.

The legation guards include one British battalion distributed between Peiping and Tientsin along the railway. The French have 1,500 men also stationed along the railway between Peiping and Tientsin, while the Italians have smaller forces in Tientsin and Peiping.

1,300 American Troops.

The American forces include between 500 and 600 marines at Peiping and the 15th infantry, consisting of 800 men, at Tientsin.

Foreign authorities in Peiping claim the Japanese have warned the Chinese against trying to obtain assistance from foreign powers.

Japanese newspapers in Shanghai yesterday meanwhile attacked plans of the United States and Great Britain to send financial experts to China. Editorials declared that China's future financial destiny rests with Japan and that her present money troubles are solely due to the American silver purchase policy.

U. S. May Join Chinese Survey.

Washington, D. C., June 13.—(AP)—While officials continued silent concerning political and military phases of the Sino-Japanese situation, Secretary Hull disclosed today that the United States might consider joining in a financial and economic survey at Peiping.

Dr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese minister, conferred during the day with Undersecretary Phillips. Both declined to make any comment but it was understood their conference involved an exchange of information concerning the situation in north China, where the Japanese army has made demands on the Nationalist government.

COLD BEER GETS JAMES A NEW ROBBERY TRIAL

A new trial was granted yesterday by Judge Grover C. Niemeyer of the Criminal court to James Castanzo, alleged robber.

Taking evidence began Wednesday. Yesterday when the court reconvened, eleven jurors marched promptly to their places. The twelfth, D. J. Fitzpatrick, 42 years old, 4215 Arthington street, felt his way in.

Judge Niemeyer looked at him sternly. The juror looked sheepishly back, and admitted:

"Well, judge, you know it was warm last night, and I was with some buddies, and the beer was nice and cold, and I thought I'd be over it by now. Maybe I could be excused for today?"

The judge excused him for twenty days, to be spent in jail. The remaining eleven jurors were dismissed, and Castanzo's new trial was set for June 27.

NEUTRAL EXPERTS FLY TO CHACO TO WATCH WAR END

Paraguayans Begin One Last Offensive.

BUENOS AIRES, June 13.—(AP)—Charged with overseeing the suspension of hostilities between Paraguay and Bolivia, military experts, including a United States army officer, left by airplane today for the Chaco boreal.

They are to be present tomorrow noon when the last shots are fired in the South American war which has brought death to at least 100,000 men in the last three years.

Capt. Frederick Sharp, the military attaché of the United States embassy to Argentina, flew to Asuncion, the capital of Paraguay, accompanied by Maj. Guillermo Pimentel, the Chilean military attaché.

They are expetced to leave Asuncion at dawn tomorrow for the Paraguayan army general headquarters in the Chaco in company with two Brazilian officers.

Others Go to Bolivian Side.

Two Argentine and two Uruguayan officers took a plane for Tabacal, Argentina, from which they will proceed in the morning to the Bolivian general staf headquarters at Villa Montes. Other Chilean and Peruvian military commissioners have reported themselves on the way to the Chaco to take part in the armistice ceremony.

Meanwhile, with peace in the Chaco less than 24 hours away, the Paraguayan army pushed determinedly toward the Bolivian stronghold of Ravelo in an effort to capture it before the "cease firing" order.

Minor skirmishes, without important results, were reported in the Ingavi and Huirapitindy sectors as the Paraguayan war machine's offensive, launched Sunday, rolled on over the Ingavi terrain toward Ravelo.

Further Points to Be Adjusted.

While the signing of the protocol, worked out by neutral nations in the eighteenth attempt to settle the half-century old dispute was hailed generally as halting the war, there are further points to be adjusted.

The general protocol and an extra protocol disclosed that the responsibility for definite cessation of fighting depends on the congresses of the belligerent nations.

The first step will be the suspension of firing by order of a neutral military commission. Within 10 days, if the Bolivian and Paraguayan congresses ratify the general protocol, the suspension of hostilities automatically will be converted into a 12 day truce.

If one congress or the other fails to concur, however, the suspension of firing will end after the initial 10 days.

DIES IN CHAIR AFTER SUICIDE ATTEMPT FAILS

Michigan City, Ind., June 14 (Friday).—[Special.]—Four guards at the state prison here shortly after midnight this morning were waiting to lead Olivette Griggs, 32 years old, colored, to the electric chair.

Hearing a noise inside the death cell, they turned. Griggs was on his bunk, slashing his throat with a safety razor blade which he had contrived to smuggle in and conceal. The guards rushed inside and took the tiny weapon from him.

Prison doctors looked Griggs over, cleansed the gaping wound in his throat, took twenty stitches, and returned him to the guards. Exactly on time Griggs went to the death chamber and was executed.

De Leuw Tells How Cost Is Increased.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—[Special.]—The Illinois highway department on July 1 will have $18,900,000 "easy money" available from President Roosevelt's 5 billion dollar work relief appropriation. It will be Aug. 1, however, before construction is started. By November the department hopes to have 6,750 men on contractors' pay rolls building railroad grade separations and paving roads under this program.

This information came from Charles E. De Leuw, assistant chief of the state highway department, this afternoon, following conferences with engineers of the United States bureau of public roads. Although extra crews of surveyors and draftsmen have been preparing for this program for the last couple of months, the start of construction will be at least thirty days late.

Delayed by Federal Rules.

Springfield has been puzzled by the rules issued by Washington governing the expenditure of the "easy money." Most of the important questions were settled this afternoon, and, provided there is no trouble with union labor, no further delays are expected.

One rule governing the expenditure of this "easy money" specifies that for every $1,400 in the cost of a project there must be the equivalent of one man-year of labor directly employed. Another specifies that of every dollar received by the contractor 40 cents must be spent by him for wages. Also, 90 per cent of the labor must come from the relief rolls at wage rates fixed by the government.

"This will boost the cost of concrete slab about 40 per cent," De Leuw said. "Relief roll labor is not efficient. Former store clerks and bookkeepers are not so good with a shovel. Furthermore, the contractors will have to employ hand labor where machines are more economical.

"We'll have to stretch the rules to be able to spend our allotment of $10,300,000 for railroad grade separations. Normally, labor on the structures proper runs from 20 to 30 per cent of the total cost for subways and 32 to 35 per cent of the total cost of overheads.

"Labor on the approaches normally runs from 27.3 to 35.7 per cent. If we can juggle approaches and structures as one project the contractors may be able to spend 40 per cent of their compensation for wages using inefficient relief roll labor."

Affects Elevated Highways.

Elevated highways, such as advocated for Chicago, could not qualify under these rules for 100 per cent federal grant. Too much of the cost would be for materials, and in calculating the prerequisite 40 per cent for wages the government does not consider labor engaged in the preparation and transportation of materials.

These rules, however, do not apply to another division of the federal work relief program in which the government grants 55 per cent of the cost and lends the other 45 per cent. It is under such an arrangement that Mayor Kelly is considering the elevated highway proposal.

The state highway department will have no funds for the so-called 55-45 work. In addition to the $18,900,000 it will receive to pay 100 per cent of a construction program the state also will get $5,160,000 from the regular federal aid appropriation on July 1. That must be matched by another $5,160,000 of state road funds. The federal aid $10,320,000 program likewise has not as yet been submitted to Washington for the prerequisite approval, and there will be some delay in getting this construction under way.

Saves 30 Passengers on Sinking Fishing Yacht

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Driving the sinking yacht Bohemia full speed to the side of a tugboat today, Capt. William P. Carney transferred 30 passengers safely. As he aided the last passenger to safety, Capt. Carney fell on the deck of his fishing craft and was injured seriously. Two members of his crew returned to the Bohemia, rescued their captain and got back to the tug only a moment before the craft went down in the lower bay. She had been stove in by a collision.

VETERAN RELIEVED OF CONSTIPATION* BY NATURAL FOOD

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Corrects His Condition

Here is an interesting, unsolicited letter: "I have used Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for about 4 years, and find it a wonderful relief for constipation.* While in Government Service in the P. I., I contracted constipation* in 1898-99.

"I consider your ALL-BRAN in terms of millions, instead of the cost of a box of pills, for it surely has saved me. I eat ALL-BRAN every morning."—F. L. Wylie, Visalia, Calif.

Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.*

Research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gentle "bulk" to aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also rich in vitamin B and iron.

ALL-BRAN is a delicious laxative food . . . far better than patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

CADET WEDDING JOKE COLONEL TESTIFIES AT COURT-MARTIAL

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Lieut. Harry A. Sebastian, former West Point football star, considered his marriage to Harriet Hagman, former showgirl and "Vanities" dancer, while he was a cadet, a fictitious marriage. A witness said today it was arranged in a New Haven speakeasy and they both gave false names. Lieut. Sebastian is on trial before a court-martial at Fort Hamilton.

Lieut. Sebastian is technically charged with issuing a false statement by not revealing on his departure from the military academy that he was married. The testimony was offered by Col. Albert Williams, commanding the 16th infantry at Governor's Island. The court-martial was requested by Lieut. Sebastian's wife. She filed suit against him in April alleging that he struck her after a drinking party on Governor's Island.

Col. Williams testified that he had investigated the marriage while at the military academy, and that in April Lieut. Sebastian voluntarily came to him and described the circumstances. Lieut. Sebastian told him, Col. Williams said, that both he and Miss Hagman agreed at the time of the marriage that he could not assume any responsibilities until after his graduation. At that time they were to be married again under their real names. Col. Williams said the lieutenant felt secure in signing his graduation certificate at West Point.

MOVIE UNIONIST IS SEIZED WITH DYNAMITE CACHE

Thomas Kohler, 38 years old, 7951 Langley avenue, was arrested by Sergt. James Piggott of the Englewood police last evening when he returned to a garage at 5637 South Halsted street to reclaim a package of dynamite he had left with the garage owner, Harry C. Fries.

Kohler, who carried a card indicating he was a member of the Independent Union of Motion Picture Operators, No. 101, had a pistol in a holster under his left arm. In his car morphine was found.

So unsatisfactory were his explanations that Capt. John Prendergast decided to investigate the possibility that Kohler was involved in the slaying on Feb. 4 of Thomas Maloy, czar of the regular moving picture union. The independent union was the one to which Clyde Osterberg, who was fatally wounded May 13 at 18th and Loomis streets, belonged. The union card Kohler carried was signed by E. J. Fosmer, president, and G. R. Hall, secretary.

Police had been watching the garage since Monday, when Fries reported he had examined the package and discovered the dynamite and a stench bomb. Kohler denied knowing anything about the explosive. He said he was a motion picture operator, but had been out of work for four months.

ROBBERY SUSPECT SLAIN.

Robert Jones, 28 years old, colored, 6401 Eberhart avenue, a robbery suspect, was shot and killed last night by Policeman Alexander Dalzell when Jones fled from the lobby of an apartment house at 3855 South State street to avoid being questioned.

MEXICAN LABOR UNIONS THREATEN GENERAL STRIKE

Calles Censured for His Attack on Radicalism.

MEXICO CITY, June 13.—(AP)—A nation-wide general strike was threatened by Mexico's 12 most powerful labor organizations today as an answer to former President Plutarco Elias Calles' asserted anti-labor declarations Tuesday.

The strike, the date for which was to be set later, was termed "the only means of defense against the possible implantation of a Fascist régime."

Railroad, trolley, mining, and electric employés joined workers' and peasants' group in voting censure of the former executive, who denounced the "marathon of radicalism" as reflected in nearly continuous strikes since President Lazaro Cardenas took office six months ago.

Workers to "Defend Rights."

The workers announced their determination to defend their rights and "transform the bourgeois system under which we are living."

President Cardenas, his government apparently shaken by the political crisis precipitated by Calles' remarks, remained silent.

The consensus in political circles, however, was that he would be forced to make some declaration showing whether he sides unequivocally with the working classes or agrees with Calles that the majority of current strikes are unjustified.

Promises Calles' Support.

The senate and chamber of deputies, with small radical minorities dissenting, promised Calles support, and there were reports several members of Cardenas' official family had resigned or were about to resign.

A showdown between the nominal and the titular head of the revolutionary party was expected sooner or later, since Cardenas has consistently backed labor's demands while Calles assailed labor leaders for "treason" in promoting strikes he said were unjustified.

H. M. LAUTMAN GOES IN AS HEAD OF CHICAGO BAR

Herbert M. Lautman was installed last night as president of the Chicago Bar association at a dinner held in the dining room of the association headquarters at 160 North La Salle street. Henry A. Gardner, the retiri?ng president, reviewed the work of the association for the last year and spoke critically of the coalition system of picking judges.

"As long as judges are elected from candidates picked by political bosses," he said, "so long as deals are made and so-called coalition tickets presented, with nomination equivalent to election, so long will some unfit candidates be elected and the voters flouted."

BEAUTY OF FAIR NAMES PARENTS IN $200,000 SUIT

D. D. Obenshain, manager of an apartment building at 1033 Loyola avenue, and his wife, Elinor, who was chosen beauty queen of A Century of Progress last October, filed suit for $200,000 damages in the Superior court yesterday against Mrs. Obenshain's parents, W. C. and Frances Huesman, who live at 1102 Loyola avenue. The charge is slander.

Mrs. Obenshain is 18 years old. Her parents are charged with efforts to separate the couple since their marriage on Oct. 31, 1934. Huesman is said to be an official of a painters' and decorators' union.

Also named as a defendant in the bill is Dr. James G. McNeil, the Huesman's family physician, 11415 South Michigan avenue. He is charged with having made a false report of an examination of Mrs. Obenshain and having advised her to leave her husband.

The bill, filed by Attorney Charles Danto, declares that Huesman assaulted his son-in-law in a restaurant.

MRS. COBINA WRIGHT MUST SUE AGAIN IF SHE WANTS DIVORCE

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—If Mrs. Cobina Wright wishes to press her divorce suit against William May Wright she will have to start over, it was ruled today by Supreme Court Justice Salvatore Cotillo. He dismissed the suit which Referee John P. Cohalan recently heard and on which he reported adversely.

Mrs. Wright, who charged her husband with adultery, was believed preparing a new suit in which she would charge that he married Myrtle Gardner, artist's model, at Taos, N. M. She contends his divorce is invalid.

During the hearing of the case before Referee Cohalan he complained that "this is the first case I've had in which people committed adultery in full dress." Mrs. Wright charged that her husband was with another woman under circumstances that indicated adultery, although he was dressed completely in evening clothes.

COLLEGE HEAD ON TRIAL TODAY IN CHURCH COURT

J. Oliver Buswell, president of Wheaton college, will be tried today before an ecclesiastical court of the Chicago Presbytery of the Presbyterian church. He is charged with refusing to comply with the Presbyterian general assembly mandate of 1934 that ministers and other officials of the church must withdraw from the independent Presbyterian board of foreign missions.

This board was organized two years ago by Prof. J. Gresham Machen of Westminster seminary, Philadelphia, leader of a minority faction in the church's general assembly. Prof. Machen recently was convicted by a church court on the same charges made in the complaint against Dr. Buswell. He was suspended from the ministry with a stay of sentence pending appeal to higher church courts.

TAN Evenly— the NORWICH way!

Here's the truth about Sun Tan:

You can't enjoy the sun's health-giving rays, and get tanned, without exposing yourself to the sun's burn rays . . . because the health rays, the tan rays and the burn rays are all one and the same!

But you can protect yourself and be evenly tanned if you use Norwich Sun Tan Oil. It contains a scientific sun screen that keeps out part of the sun's burning rays—a sort of "bottled sun-shade" that positively reduces sun scorch—and makes possible a healthy, evenly distributed tan. ATLANTIC SHIPWRECKS LAID TO OVERLOADING BY LORD RUNCIMAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 13.—Outspoken remarks concerning foundering vessels in the Atlantic were made today by Lord Runciman, British shipowner and father of Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade.

Entertaining members of the North of England Shipowners' association, Lord Runciman charged that Americans had forced Great Britain and other countries to alter the freeboards [from water line to gunwale] of ships, causing overloading.

Two-thirds of the founderings in the Atlantic are due to overloading, Runciman alleged.

"There is a very narrow margin between safety and danger," he said. "We should see that adequate protection is given the crews who man our vessels."

O MR. HEMINGWAY! THE ZIELINSKIS WANT TO SEE HIM

Walter Zielinski and his wife Mary of 1147 West 47th street yesterday requested the aid of the Hyde Park police in a search for a "Mr. Hemingway," who disappeared with a certain air of mystery while carrying $2,000 of Zielinski's money.

The Zielinskis own a large flat building, and Hemingway, who described himself as a broker, put them in touch with a man (name unknown) who offered to buy it for $50,000. According to Zielinski, a slight hitch occurred during the negotiations, and he, to speed things up, let Hemingway have $2,000 as a loan.

As they were in front of the East End Park hotel, at 53d street and Hyde Park boulevard, Zielinski said, two men seized Hemingway and thrust him into a car, speeding away with him. The Zielinskis kept possession of an automobile belonging to Hemingway. License number for the car had been issued to Arthur Jones of the East End Park hotel, but at the hotel it was stated Jones had moved away.

GRADUATION HELD IN HIGH SCHOOLS; VACATION TODAY

Children Warned to Be Careful in Streets.

Graduation exercises were held in twenty-nine Chicago high schools and three junior colleges yesterday. Today Chicago's half million public school children will lay aside their books and pencils for their summer vacation.

Along the north shore 16,000 children will start their summer holiday today. In Evanston a safety education program will be included in playground activities, sponsored by the Evanston Safety council. Evanston's police chief, William O. Freeman, said his force would be instructed to prevent children from playing in the streets.

Warns Boys and Girls.

Supt. William J. Bogan of the Chicago public schools also issued a warning to boys and girls, urging them to guard against accidents and saying that the summer release of the children made the safety problem of grave importance because the youngsters, eager to enjoy their new freedom, thronged into streets and public places. Children were also told not to tamper with fire hydrants, as the waste of water seriously handicaps the fire department.

Speaking again at the Sullivan High school commencement program last night, Supt. Bogan said that parents were out of step with morals in the complex modern life and that this "weakness of parents" placed a burden on the schools.

At the commencement exercises of Flower High school, a technical school for girls, School Trustee Hefferan declared that boys should be admitted in household arts courses because "most great chefs of the world have been men and most men like to try their hands at the skillet occasionally."

Justice Sullivan Is Speaker.

The speaker at Kelly High school was Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Criminal court. Prof. Arthur W. Clevenger, high school visitor from the University of Illinois, posed the question: "Do you have what it takes?" as the title of his address before graduates at the Englewood High school.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Quin O'Brien spoke at the Lane Technical High school exercises in the absence of Mayor Kelly who was unable to return in time from his trip to Springfield.

Nearly 7,000 persons gathered last evening to attend the graduating exercises for 673 students of the Oak Park and River Forest Township High school, held in the school's fieldhouse.

GRETA GARBO INDICTS MOVIE COMPANIES FOR 'BOX OFFICE APPEAL'

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, June 13.—(AP)—Acting in the movies is "all a terrible compromise," Greta Garbo asserted today in an indictment of motion picture companies for their emphasis on box office appeal.

What she would like to do most of all, the actress said after her arrival from the United States for a vacation in her native land, is to settle down close to the soil and raise vegetables and things. But as for settling down just now, she decided: "Not yet."

She criticised the film companies especially with reference to her acting of Queen Christina.

"I tried to be Swedish," she said, "but it's difficult to be allowed to try anything. There is no time for art. All that matters is what they call box office."

IDENTIFY PHOTO OF SKYSCRAPER BANDIT IN HOLDUP

Melville Reeves, the so-called "skyscraper burglar," who has been a fugitive since last Feb. 14, when the State Supreme court upheld his one to ten year sentence for burglary, was again sought by police last night, this time on a charge of safeblowing and robbery with a gun.

Reeves' picture was identified as that of one of two gunmen who broke into the Glenn Inn cafeteria, 35 South Wabash avenue, last Saturday. George Bradshaw, owner of the place, locked up the cafeteria early in the evening and went to a show with his wife. After the show they returned to get a package they had left there.

Entering, they found two men at work on the safe. The cracksmen produced guns, forced Bradshaw to open the safe, took $970, and fled after binding the Bradshaws with rope.

On Memorial day of 1932 Reeves was arrested in a building at 360 North Michigan avenue and subsequently was convicted of robbing the H. W. Kastor company in the building. His new trials and appeals dragged through the courts until the Supreme court ruling in February. Reeves was out on bond at that time and never has been recaptured.

4 in Chicago Area Named for Promotions in Navy

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—Four men from the Chicago area were on the list of 225 navy lieutenants announced today as having been approved for promotion to lieutenant commanders as vacancies occur. They are C. E. Olsen, Waukegan; D. V. Gallery Jr., Chicago; G. B. Myers, Aurora, and C. W. Gray, Chicago. Approval of the list was made by President Roosevelt.

STABBED TO DEATH IN STREET.

William Taylor, 51 years old, 159 West Pershing road, colored, was found stabbed to death in front of his home early today. The Wabash avenue police started a search for the murderer.

"YOU DON'T catch me talking back to the Old Man—my father, I mean. Yuh see, he thinks he knows everything! Why, geewhiz . . . he reads the gasoline ads, specially the ones with pretty girl pictures in 'em, and then he gets a tankful of stuff nobody ever heard of. Yeah, a swell guy but a poor picker.

"Well, this afternoon being Sunday, we went for a ride . . . me all dressed up in a goofy bonnet with a big scratchy bow under my good ear. The traffic was terrific and the heat was goshawful. So out of sheer irritation I grabbed my forty winks.

"When I woke up, a motorcycle cowboy in a beautiful blue uniform was telling Pops that he couldn't park in the middle of the parade. I thought there were tears in Father's eyes—maybe it was only perspiration—as he answered 'My engine's dead. Help me push the car over to the curb.'

"Boyohboy, was that motor hot! Clouds of steam sizzling out of the radiator. Funny gurglings and thumpings under the hood as Dad peered in. For crying out loud, was his face red when Auntie's car and then the Claytons' and the Merrivales' passed, and they all saw us stuck there! But the real bad news is the bill we got for towing and for two new bearings.

"No sir, for the life of me, I can't see the economy of using cheap gasoline . . . especially when Phillips 66 is engineered for specific summer weather, same as it is for definite winter cold. Anyone can see that a gasoline made different for the different seasons of the year is gonna give better results. What's the sense of trying to save cents and wasting dollars, when you can get 100% custom-tailored gasoline—yes, I mean Phillips 66—for the same price as ordinary gas?

"P.S. Since writing the above, the car's been fixed and we're using Phillips 66, and Mother says the budget's in better shape than ever because we're getting more miles and less repair bills."

Wedding to New Yorker on June 29.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ON the 29th of this month in Rome, Italy, a wedding will take place of great interest to Chicago, for the bride will be Mrs. Merrill Coit of this city and Green Lake, Mich., who left here in February with her three daughters, Elizabeth, Eleanor and Celia, to sail from Vancouver for a tour of the world.

The bridegroom will be Thomas Russell Ludlam of New York, who now is on his way to Italy. The wedding isn't the culmination of a shipboard romance, as one might think, for Mrs. Coit and Mr. Ludlam have known each other for years, and she confided to her most intimate friends before she sailed that she was going to be married to the New Yorker in the early summer.

The wedding will take place at high noon in St. Paul's Episcopal church with Hale P. Benton, manager of the American academy in Rome, giving the bride in marriage. Mrs. Benton will be her cousin's matron of honor.

Dr. Preston A. Wade of New York will be Mr. Ludlam's best man, and ushering will be Charles B. Johnson of Grosse Pointe, Mich.; Marchese Francesco Barbi, Harold C. Bodman of Lake Forest and Florence, Italy; Commendatore Vittorio Falorsi, whose wife was Theodosia Haskell of Chicago, and Commendatore Ion Munro of Rome.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Benton will give a wedding breakfast at their home on the Janiculum. Mr. Ludlam, whose parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. William L. Ludlam of Montclair, N. J., and his bride will take a short trip through the Italian Dolomites and Switzerland, and will be at home after Oct. 15 at 70 Park avenue, New York.

Mrs. Coit was Miss Eleanor Babcock before her marriage in 1913 and her parents were the late Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hall Babcock of Chicago. After her husband's death in 1930 she spent several years abroad, but returned home to present her two elder daughters to society two seasons ago. Celia, the youngest, attended the University School for Girls that winter, and, according to Mrs. Coit's plans when she left Chicago last winter, Celia will enter the Stella Viae convent in Rome next fall, the same school to which her two older sisters went when the Coits were living in Rome several years ago.

Dedicate Church Windows Sunday.

Two lovely and rare stained glass windows will be dedicated to the memory of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes North at the 11 o'clock service Sunday at the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest.

The windows, given by Mrs. Frances North Haskins and her sister, Miss Helen North, in memory of their mother, are on the right side of the sanctuary, and will be dedicated by the Rev. Herbert W. Prince, rector.

The central piece in each window is composed of panels which are facsimiles of windows made in the year 1250 and found in a little church high in the Styrian Alps. They were made by the same Austrian artists who replaced the great windows of St. Stephen's cathedral in Vienna after they had been shattered during the war.

The panels are considered excellent reproductions of 13th century glass, both in method of production and quality of glass. They were brought to this country by Karl Braeuer, who

IT'S one of Peter Arno's pet stories. [He's in town this week.] A coffee salesman was traveling through the south, and as he waited for a train in a little southern town he chatted with a lazy looking colored man idling on a bench at the station.

Stimulant—Info—Scheme—Announcement.

"Ever drink coffee?" he inquired, with an eye to stirring up interest in his line.

The colored man allowed as how he did. He drank a lot of coffee. Fifty cups a day, he answered.

"Well, it helps," answered the colored man.

WHICH brings to mind the tale of the Arkansas backwoods woman, the soles of whose feet had been toughened by a lifetime of shoelessness. She was standing in front of her cabin fireplace one day when her husband addressed her.

"You'd better move your foot a mite, mo; you're a standin' on a live coal," he warned her.

"Which foot, pa?" she inquired laconically.

A FEW days ago Mr. Gerhardt Meyne, whose wife is a member of the board of the Woman's Symphony orchestra, received a letter signed by the board. It pointed out that as this coming season was the tenth anniversary of the founding of the orchestra, this year was to be the biggest in its history, it was hoped. A subscription was humbly besought, although the many demands on Mr. Meyne were well known. His generosity to this and that organization was mentioned, with the names of the charities to which he had made contributions included.

"The Woman's Symphony orchestra is, as you no doubt know, an activity in which Mrs. Meyne is much interested," the letter concluded.

"Well, how much do you expect me to give your orchestra?" he inquired.

He may, or may not, have known that Mrs. Meyne herself had drafted the letter, although the board had signed it. Other wives in the organization have asked for the letter to copy to send their husband, with appropriate changes, of course.

THE curator at the Trailside museum in River Forest, Gordon Pearsall, telephoned the forest preserve headquarters the other day to make an announcement.

"The king snake laid some eggs at the museum," he said.

"It might at least be called a 'queen' snake," murmured Miss Mathews, secretary to Supt. Charles G. Sauers, who took the message.

Through the Looking Glass

Are you one of these highly geared, efficiency-plus business gals whose ablutions consist of a leap into the tub, a great swishing of washcloth and soap, and a leap out again? Or do you indulge in a leisurely and feminine bath hour that is both a luxurious relaxation and a beauty ritual? If so, you'll adore the three glorious products which are here to make your bath a joy and a delight.

First there's the delectable crystal water softener which is also a bath scent. Fresh and sweet as a May garden, it does something to the frazzled spirit just to lie back and unlax in its heavenly fragrance. You feel like heaven's pampered pet, and your troubles vanish into the fragrant mists.

Then there's the cologne body rub, fresh and dainty as spring itself, to bring you back from your opulent lethargy and tingle new spirit into your veins. It's grand when slathered on with a free hand, for it's good stimulus to the skin and it leaves you faintly perfumed and glamorous.

And to top it all off there's a satin-soft dusting powder, which is simply slick when puffed on generously and gently smoothed off with a powder brush. Its delicate aroma blends with the scent of the cologne, and, fresh and dainty, you are ready to slip with equal grace into your frilliest of party frocks or your favorite lounging pajamas.

This trio of favorites are old-timers, widely sold here in town. And with good reason, too. They're not in the least expensive for one thing, and are attractively packaged as well.

The bath crystals are yellow, giving their glass bottle, lapped at the edges with sea foam waves, the same color, and a green cap is a cool contrast. The cologne comes in a tall, thin necked, frosted bottle that makes you think of a mint julep. And the dusting powder comes in a generous sized box whose sea green bubbles and pink starfish remind you of the cool depths of the ocean's floor. As summer joy dispensers we don't think they can be beat.

Suit Blouses Use Tucks for Shirt Effects

Tailored Chiffon Models Win Expert's Praise.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

It's almost an annual pilgrimage, this shopping jaunt each early summer to hunt for suit blouses. And more than ever this summer of suits the hunting is good. All kinds of sheer tub blouses, most of them extra dainty affairs with fine handwork and narrow val lace, are plentiful. Then there are organdies in cool white and pastels, made with frills, short sleeves, and well fitted collars.

But the new chiffons are what the tailored suit collectors will rise and cheer about. We located a grand assortment of these chiffon charmers. Some shirt effects are achieved with vertical inch wide tucks forming the skirt front. These blouses have narrow high collars that tie in front with a circumspect tailored bow. They button down the back with lozenge shaped transparent prystal buttons. You can have this style in navy, white, Kelly green, and scarlet.

This same tucked motif is used in another style blouse with short sleeves. These sleeves are made of the tucked material, and the deep V neckline has a deep border of the tucked material also in V formation. While the price tags are a bit lavish, these blouses are made of fine quality chiffon that will take you through the summer with light suits and also next winter with the velvet afternoon suits that already are being talked about.

V neckline models come in white, black, and a few colors. Besides being unusually well designed and carefully made and cut they fit infinitly better than blouses of this description have been fitted in years. Better take a look at them before they disappear.

A soft dusty blue heavy silk was used to fashion a one piece dress that looks like a two piece suit. Then for unusual contrast a belt and three cornered silk scarf of raspberry red silk. This summer street costume is cool and practical because of the heavy silk, short sleeves, and simple silhouette. Available in a Chicago shop.

DePauw Alumni to Honor Dr. Longden at Reunion

The college will graduate 265 seniors on Monday. A record crowd is expected Alumni day because the DePauw Alumni association, of which Charles F. Coffin, '81, of Indianapolis, is president, has designated the day as Longden day, honoring Dr. Henry B. Longden, DePauw vice president, who is retiring June 30 after sixty years on the campus as student and teacher. Dr. Longden is believed to be the oldest college teacher in the United States in point of service with a single institution. He has been on the DePauw faculty since he received his bachelor of arts degree here in 1881.

Queen Mary Sits Alone at Second Jubilee Ball

LONDON, June 13.—(AP)—Queen Mary, wearing a gown of pink lace, sat alone on a golden throne at the end of the long white and gold ballroom in Buckingham palace tonight as 2,000 guests danced at the second court ball of the jubilee year. King George was recovering from an attack of bronchial catarrh at Sandringham, so the prince of Wales escorted the queen into the ballroom and took his place in the royal circle.

Harold Lloyd Hopes to Train His Successor

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 13.—[Special.]—Harold Lloyd doesn't want any one to draw the conclusion that he is thinking of retiring, but this favorite comedian of two full decades of filmgoers says that when his day for quitting movies comes he hopes and expects to help groom a protégé to follow in his footsteps.

When this successor is found Lloyd intends personally to produce for him. He thinks that a number of his silent movie successes such as "The Freshman," "Grandma's Boy" and "Girl Shy" should provide the best possible vehicles. Harold himself won't re-do his silent successes in talkie versions because he doesn't want to have the inevitable comparisons drawn. The three films mentioned he considers his best. Lloyd just laughed when it was remarked to him that possibly his son, Harold Jr., now 5 years old, might prove his successor.

Twice in the last two days reports gained Hollywood circulation that Eddie Cantor had died. Eddie manifested his annoyance in Cantor fashion yesterday by answering the phone call of inquiry himself and saying: "Wait a minute and I'll find out if I'm dead." He then turned to Mrs. Cantor, Benny Rubin, and a number of other guests in the room and returned to the phone to say, "I can't be dead. Everybody says I'm not. You know, you never die while you're with Sam Goldwyn. It's only after an actor leaves Sam that he's dead."

Judge Dudley Valentine has placed Dolores Costello under $5,000 bond to insure John Barrymore against loss on his properties and assets here while the injunction she sought against his disposing of valuables is in effect preliminary to the divorce trial.

Just when a dozen Ukrainian singers in Russian costumes began their instrumental and singing accompaniment of the European star, Tutta Rolf, for the grand costume scene of Fox's "The Dressmaker," four Russian wolfhounds, brought in for "atmosphere," simultaneously raised their noses and howled in a minor key to drown the Cossack chorus.

Every time the Russians sang the dogs howled. The Russians thought the animals must be homesick. Director Harry Lachman solved it by having the animals appear in the nonsinging part of the scene and then be swiftly led into the wings and muzzled before the chorus began.

Charlie Ray has a book of short stories about Hollywood just gone to press here. . . . W. C. Fields, comedian, is under a physician's care at his home for what is called a slight illness. Fields, under the assumed name of "Charles Bogle," and Sam Hardy, actor and gag man, divide credit as writers for Fields' just completed "Man on the Flying Trapeze," which is the ultimate title for "Everything Happens at Once."

Broker Stephen Ames has broken ground on buildings and landscaping projects for the two acre estate which he plans as a gift to be presented his actress wife, Raquel Torres, when it is completed next Christmas. The main building, a rambling Mexican farmhouse style home, will be surrounded by patios and flower gardens, a swimming pool, and tennis court.

SANDWICH LOAF IS DELIGHTFUL IN WARM WEATHER

Easy Recipe Results in Delectable Treat.

The booklet, "Jellies and Preserves from Early Gardens," is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

That the sandwich loaf is still the top in informal warm weather entertaining is evidenced by the times that mention of it pops up in our mail bag. For that reason we want to print today the recipe for a truly delightful and unusual one.

If this looks long and complicated at first glance, please don't let it trouble you. The various fillings really are beautifully simple to toss together, and it's your privilege to cut the number of slices down to as few as three if you like, picking your pets from the five fillings suggested here.

Begin as usual by cutting all the crusts from a pound loaf of bread. Then cut the loaf lengthwise into six equal slices. Of course if you've decided to simplify the loaf by cutting down on the number of layers, slice it according to your personal adaptation. Spread each layer with well creamed butter, and build up the layers with fillings about one-third inch thick. The topping goes over the entire surface of the loaf, after which it's chilled and served in crosswise slices about an inch thick, to be eaten with a fork. This loaf serves a dozen people.

Special Sandwich Loaf.

FIRST LAYER:
- 1 cup grated American cheese
- 5 tablespoons mayonnaise
- Garlic salt
- Dash Worcestershire sauce
- Dash Tabasco sauce

SECOND LAYER:
- ½ cup sieved calavo
- 2 slices crisp bacon, chopped
- Salt
- Few drops of lemon juice

To prepare the sieved calavo cut the fruit into halves, remove the seed, peel, and force through a fine sieve.

THIRD LAYER:
- 3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- Salt

FOURTH LAYER:
- ¾ cup green pepper, finely chopped
- ¼ cup minced onion
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise

FIFTH LAYER:
- ½ cup drained canned salmon, finely flaked
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- Few drops lemon juice

TOPPING:
- ⅓ cup sieved calavo
- 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese, mashed
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon onion juice
- Salt
- Worcestershire sauce
- Tabasco sauce

Since it's probably the calavo as much as any one ingredient that makes that loaf distinctive, right now might be a good time to air a couple of elegant frozen calavo dishes we've been gloating over lately:

Calavo-Orange Ice.
- 1 cup sieved calavo
- 2 cups orange juice
- 1 cup water
- ¾ cup granulated sugar
- Few grains salt

Blend the ingredients thoroughly and freeze in a regulation freezer in a one to eight salt-ice mixutre.

Epicurean Mousse.
- 1 cup cooked sieved prunes
- 1 cup diced calavo
- 3 tablespoons confectioner's sugar
- Few grains salt
- ½ teaspoon lemon extract
- ½ pint whipping cream

Combine the fruits with the sugar, salt, and flavoring, and fold into the whipped cream. Freeze in an automatic refrigerator from three to four hours, or until firm, without stirring.

DIRECTIONS—Combine coffee, sugar and cream and stir well. Add ginger ale and cracked ice and serve.

THIN CREAM WITH MARSHMALLOWS CAN BE WHIPPED

Thin coffee cream can be whipped if marshmallows are added. At the same time the cream will be sweetened. Try this on fresh strawberries.

Marshmallow Whipped Cream.
- 16 marshmallows.
- 1 cup coffee cream.

Cut marshmallows into small pieces (eighths or smaller) with scissors dipped frequently into hot water. Place them in a bowl and pour the cream over them. Allow this to stand, covered with waxed paper, for several hours in the refrigerator. Just before serving time, whip as you would ordinary whipping cream.

FROZEN RICE WHIPPET.
- 1 cup strained peach, prune, or apricot pulp
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 cup cooked rice
- ½ cup whipping cream

The fruit should have been stewed, drained, and forced through a sieve. While the pulp is still hot, add the sugar and rice. Cool and fold in the cream, whipped stiff. Turn the mixture into the freezing tray of a mechanical refrigerator and freeze 2 to 2½ hours.

Cook the dates with the milk in the top of a double boiler for about 20 minutes. Press them through a sieve and add the egg and seasonings. Turn the date custard into an unbaked pie shell and bake in a moderately hot over [375 degrees F.] for 12 minutes. Then reduce the heat and continue baking in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] until firm.

BEST MEAT BUY OF WEEK-END? TRY BEEF ROAST

The committee on marketing information of the meat council of Chicago yesterday issued the following report for the guidance of housewives purchasing meat in Chicago retail meat stores:

"Pot roast of beef and beef stewing meat are recommended as economical meat buys over the coming week-end."

GLORIFIED PEACHES.
- 6 canned peach halves
- 1 cup peach juice
- 6 dates
- ¼ cup chopped nut meats
- ¼ cup moist coconut
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon cream

Put the pitted dates, nuts, and coconut together through a fine food chopper. Moisten the mixture with the cream and half the lemon juice. Form into balls—three for each peach half—and nest these little balls in the cavities of the peaches. Now place each filled peach in a sherbet glass, pour over them the peach juice to which the remainder of the lemon juice has been added and chill very cold before serving.

HOUSEWIFE MAY MAKE HER OWN SUMMER DRINKS

Methods of Preserving Fruit Juices Told.

All manner of fruit juices for cool summer drinks may be canned at home. Mrs. Ruby Mendenhall Smith of the University of Arkansas tells how these beverages are preserved at small expense.

The principles involved in making and canning various fruit juices are fundamentally the same, says Mrs. Smith. The quantity of water required and the length of time of heating needed for drawing out the juices are the main differences.

How to Prepare Fruit.

Select fresh, sound, well ripened fruit. Crush, and if there is a sufficient amount of juice to prevent scorching, do not add water. If fruit is not juicy, add just enough water to prevent scorching, and heat slowly. Cook below boiling point until the pulp is soft but not mushy. Strain through a thin cloth or flour sack and then through a flannel jelly bag.

The juice will be more free from sediment if it stands in a cool place for a few hours, or overnight, before bottling or canning. After the sediment has settled to the bottom of the pan, pour the clear juice off very carefully and add sugar. The addition of a small amount of sugar to fruit juices gives a finer flavor, says Mrs. Smith, adding that one cup of sugar to each gallon of juice is a fair allowance. No sugar should be added if the juices are to be used later for making jelly.

Bottling Process Described.

Heat sugar and juice almost to boiling point, and pour the hot juice into hot bottles or jars that have been boiled for 15 minutes. Put the corks in loosely or adjust the rubber ring and lid, then set on a rack in a water bath. Allow the water to come up to within one-half inch of the top of the bottle or rubber ring on the jar and process for 30 minutes at simmering point. Small pieces of cloth tied over the corks help to hold them in place during the processing period.

After 30 minutes remove the containers from the water bath and completely seal the jars or tighten the corks. When the bottles are cool, dip the corks in melted sealing wax or paraffin, and store in a dark, cool, dry place.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD—MODERN STYLE.

- 1 cup corn meal
- 1 cup rye flour or oatmeal
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 5 level teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ cup molasses
- ½ cup raisins, floured
- 1½ cups sweet milk

Mix the flours, salt, and baking powder together. Stir in the milk and then the molasses. Add the raisins, beating well. Pour the mixture into well greased molds [baking powder cans will do nicely], filling two-thirds full. Cover tightly and steam about 3½ hours for the 1 pound molds or about 2 hours for the baking powder can size. Now remove the covers and bake in a hot oven [400 degrees F.] until the tops are dried.

RAISED SCOTCH MUFFINS.
- 1¼ cups milk, scalded
- 1¼ cups rolled oats
- 3 tablespoons shortening
- 5 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cake compressed yeast
- 1 cup lukewarm water
- 2 cups bread flour
- 2 cups whole wheat flour

Add to the scalded milk the oats, shortening, sugar, and salt. Let cool to lukewarm, then stir in the yeast which has been dissolved in the cup of lukewarm water. Now slowly beat in the bread flour and the whole wheat flour, mixing until smooth and light. Let stand, covered, out of a draft overnight. In the morning beat for two minutes, then fill greased muffin tins half full. Let the batter stand until the muffins have risen to the rims of the pans, then place in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees F.] and bake for half an hour or until done.

THIS NEW BREAD

BUT THE NEW WONDER BREAD COSTS YOU NO MORE THAN ORDINARY LOAVES

FEW FOODS are as vital to your children as good bread. This is why we make the new Wonder Bread higher in energy, fuller in food value, and easier to digest than ordinary bread.

It is best for your children, because it's baked for them! We say this without hesitation, as the result of five years' painstaking work. 1183 formulas were tested, then 2755 mothers were consulted. A new high standard—exclusively our own—was set for every single ingredient used in Wonder Bread.

Milk is essential in children's meals for its muscle-giving proteins and bone-building minerals. Because we make this new Wonder Bread for your children, it now contains this extra goodness in far greater quantity than ordinary breads.

There are 24 kinds of flour for us to choose from. We use only the one that makes Wonder Bread best for your children . . . flour from the very heart of the wheat berry . . . highest in nourishment and energy. And even this special flour is tested three separate times before we use it.

Then slo-baking—our own method—makes Wonder Bread even better for children. Actual laboratory tests prove that slo-baked Wonder Bread is easier for little stomachs to digest than fast-baked bread. Thus your children get all the good from Wonder Bread, quickly and easily.

Just do this, please: serve the new Wonder Bread for 30 days. It costs you nothing extra. See for yourself what real benefits it brings your children. Your grocer has Wonder Bread in the new air-tight wrapper with the familiar red, yellow and blue balloons.

CHICAGO GROWN PRODUCE HELPS PUT PRICES DOWN

Variety of Vegetables Reaches Market.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Many fresh vegetables from truck gardens in the metropolitan area will be on sale in Chicago and suburban food stores today and tomorrow. Home grown products have been on the markets for some time, but the supplies have been rapidly increasing during the last few days. Both head and leaf lettuce, rhubarb, asparagus, radishes, spinach, mustard greens, turnip tops, parsley, and green onions are showing up in liberal quantities from sources near Chicago.

Competition from local supplies has forced the market downward on several items, including lettuce, radishes, asparagus, and rhubarb, dealers say. Government market reporters state that lower prices on many fresh vegetables in Chicago stores this week are the results of eastern markets receiving much of their supply locally, thus allowing shipments from the western states to become concentrated in this territory.

Fresh Fruits Arrive.

Many kinds of fresh fruits will be offered food shoppers this week-end. Peaches of good quality and at prices considered low for this time of year are available in most stores. Part of the supply is now coming from orchards in southern Illinois.

The first new apples of the season appeared on Chicago markets this week. Shipments of early harvests arrived from Alabama and early transparents from southern Illinois. They are all green and are useful only for cooking purposes. Fresh plums, apricots, dewberries, and blackberries are also being offered for the first time this year.

Good Tomatoes Plentiful.

Shipments of good quality fresh tomatoes have been heavy this week, with retail prices for today and tomorrow the lowest they have been this season. Many tomatoes from local hothouses are now on the market, but the bulk of the supply is coming from southern states, especially Texas and Mississippi. Other items to be found on the green grocer's counter at prices lower than a week ago are turnips, spinach, raspberries, oranges, and green onions.

Most butcher shops are featuring the various lamb cuts at reduced prices for this week-end. Spring chickens, both fryers and broilers, are on sale in most shops and are considered, together with lamb, as the best bargains being offered on the fresh meat counters. Sliced bacon and cured hams also are on sale in some stores.

Price tags have been marked up since last week on apples, beef roasts, and most kinds of fresh fish.

New Cabbage Found Ideal for Cooking in Own Steam

New cabbage is especially good for "panning"—that is, cooking in its own steam. Shred the cabbage and cook it in a heavy pan under cover. Add not more than a tablespoon of water and cook over low heat only until it is wilted a little. Add seasonings and butter and serve hot.

GENOESE CAKE.

2 teaspoons baking powder.
½ cup butter.
1 cup confectioner's sugar.
4 eggs, well beaten.
½ teaspoon lemon extract.

Sift the flour before measuring, then again three times with the baking powder. Cream the butter until fluffy, add the sugar, and continue creaming until very light. Add the beaten eggs and the flour mixture alternately, a little at a time, stirring each addition in thoroughly. Stir in the flavoring and turn into a greased cake pan lined with greased paper. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 50 minutes.

SPICY SOUR CREAM PIE.

¾ cup sugar
1 cup sour cream
2 eggs slightly beaten
½ cup seedless raisins
½ teaspoon each nutmeg and ground cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
Pastry for one crust

Combine the sugar, cream, and eggs, stirring until well blended. Add the raisins and flavorings and pour into an unbaked pie shell. Bake in a hot oven [425 degrees F.] for 20 minutes. Then reduce the heat to 325 degrees and bake in this moderately slow heat for half an hour more. It is better to let sweet cream sour rapidly in a warm room than use that which has grown old and sour by too long standing in the refrigerator.

MARBLE ANGEL FOOD CAKE.

1 cup cake flour, less 2 tablespoons.
2 tablespoons cocoa.
1 1-3 cups unbeaten egg whites.
1 teaspoon cream of tartar.
½ teaspoon salt.
1¼ cups granulated sugar.
2 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift six tablespoons of the flour with the cocoa. Beat the egg whites until foamy, then sift over them the mixed salt and cream of tartar. Continue beating until the egg whites are stiff and will stand up in peaks. Fold in the sugar lightly by thirds, then using a wire whip, fold in the flavoring. Put half this mixture into a second bowl and fold in the cocoa-flour mixture. Into the other half fold the remaining 8 tablespoons of flour. Carefully arrange spoonfuls of plain and chocolate batter alternately in a ten inch ungreased tube pan. Bake in a moderately slow oven [325 degrees F.] for 60 minutes. Remove from the oven and invert until cool.

STRAWBERRY SHERBET.

¾ cup sugar
1 cup water
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
¼ cup additional water
5 tablespoons orange juice
1½ cups strawberry juice
1 cup evaporated milk

Cook the sugar and 1 cup of water together for five minutes. Meanwhile add the gelatin to the ¼ cup water and let soak 5 minutes. Add the soaked gelatin to the sugar sirup. When dissolved, cool the mixture and then add the fruit juices and the unwhipped milk. Turn into a refrigerator tray and freeze.

Each Meat Has Its Own Particular Type of Jelly

Meats call for jellies, but not the same kinds. Here are a number of meats with their preferred jellies: Roast pork, grape or apple jelly; roast lamb, mint or red currant jelly; baked ham, apple jelly; roast chicken, red currant jelly; filet mignon, cranberry sauce; duck, Damson plum jelly; goose, apple jelly.

Swissed Pecans Good to Dress Sandwich Loaf

Use Swissed pecans to dress up a company sandwich loaf or as appetizers. Grate Swiss cheese and add just enough heavy cream to hold together. Form small ovals of the mixture and press large pecan halves in on opposite sides. Roll in dry grated Swiss cheese just before serving.

PEAS AND BEANS LOSE SUGAR IF IN WARM PLACE

Should Be Kept Cooled Till Ready to Use.

Peas, sweet corn, lima beans, and snap beans should be used soon after they have been gathered from the garden, or else they should be cooled quickly and kept on ice until used. At the proper stage of maturity these vegetables, when fresh, contain a good deal of sugar which is largely responsible for their flavor, says the New York State college.

If these vegetables are left in a warm place after they are picked, they lose their sugar rapidly. Half of the sugar in peas and sweet corn may be lost in 24 hours at 85 degrees Fahrenheit, while at 32 degrees only a small amount is lost in two weeks.

The Cooler the Better.

When a large crop of peas and sweet corn is ready to harvest, these vegetables may be gathered, plunged into ice water to take out the "field heat" and put in a cool place until used. The cooler the place, the longer they will keep. Even freezing will not injure them if they are kept frozen and not allowed to alternately freeze and thaw.

Harvesting vegetables at the proper stage of maturity is as important as careful handling. No definite rule can be given in regard to time of harvesting.

Rules on Harvesting.

Such crops as snap beans, beets, carrots, and cucumbers are poorer in quality when they are harvested after they have reached full size. Others, like tomatoes and muskmelons, are poorer in quality if they are harvested before they reach full size.

FESTIVE MARLOW.

3 tablespoons raisins
2 tablespoons figs
2 tablespoons candied cherries
½ cup water
½ cup candied pineapple
1 tablespoon orange marmalade.
10 marshmallows, quartered
12 blanched almonds
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ pint whipping cream

Chop the raisins, figs, and candied cherries, and cook until tender with the water. Add the pineapple, marmalade, and marshmallows and cook over hot water until the marshmallows are melted. Add the almonds, chopped fine, and the vanilla, and cool. When the mixture is cold and slightly stiffened, combine with the stiffly beaten cream, pour into refrigerator trays, and freeze without stirring.

Cream the butter and sugar, then add the yolks and salt and beat for about 7 minutes. Add the orange rind and lemon juice. Turn the mixture into the freshly baked pie shell and over the top sprinkle the coconut. Bake for half hour in a moderately slow oven [325 degrees F.]. Make a meringue by adding the one-fourth teaspoon salt and one-third cup of sugar to the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pile lightly over the pie and brown to a golden color.

JUNE AND JELLY SUGGEST BEST WAY TO STRAIN

To many homemakers June means the start of jelly making, and this means a check on last year's equipment.

The right type of jelly bag to strain the juice is needed for clear jelly. A flour or sugar sack makes a satisfactory bag, but one made of canton or outing flannel is better. One yard of 36 inch medium weight canton flannel and one-half yard of strong linen tape will make a satisfactory bag about 13 inches wide and 15 inches deep.

To make the jelly bag cut the bag with straight sides and a rounded end. A rounded end is easier to clean and the jelly drips through it more readily than through a pointed end. Place the nap of the flannel on the inside, using French seams and finishing them on the outside of the bag. Make a one inch hem at the top as a firm attachment for the loops of tape. Cut the tape in half and sew the ends of each piece, like handles, securely to the hem a few inches from the side seams.

Such a bag has no seams on the inside to catch seeds and bits of pulp, and if it is washed carefully after use will last for many seasons. As soon as the bag is emptied turn it inside out, wash it free from pulp, then pour boiling water through it to take out as much as possible of the fruit stain. Launder and store the bag until it is needed again.

Old Teapot Good for Paraffin to Seal Jellies

If you have an old enamel teapot stuck away in the closet, pull it out for a new use. It is perfect for pouring paraffin when you make jelly. You can save time by heating the paraffin in the pot over hot water while the jelly is cooking. By the time the jelly is poured, the paraffin is melted and can be poured onto the hot jelly at once.

MEDICAL GROUP HITS SICKNESS INSURANCE PLAN

Will Fight Roosevelt's Social Security.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 13.—(AP)—Indirect chastisement of the California Medical association for its approval of sickness insurance legislation was voted today by the American Medical association in voting out of office its speaker of the house of delegates, Dr. F. C. Warnshuis of San Francisco.

Dr. Warnshuis, who has held the office since 1922 and has been secretary of the California association for the last year, lost out in a close battle to Dr. Nathan B. Vanitten of New York City.

In this way the house of delegates, governing body of American medicine, reiterated its stand opposing all efforts to provide sickness insurance by the states or the federal government, and censured the first of its component state organizations which has expressed favor of the idea.

Oppose Roosevelt Plan.

At the same time it declared continuing opposition to legislation of that type, particularly as embodied in the social security bill proposed by President Roosevelt. "A single, universal or master plan cannot possibly be devised to meet all the varying conditions throughout the United States or even different sections of individual states," the delegates declared.

As a substitute they proposed the continuance and amplification of the community sickness insurance plan adapted to the needs of a local area by supervision of the county or local medical societies.

New President Named.

Dr. James Tate Mason of Seattle, Wash., was named president elect of the association to take office at the 1936 convention which the delegates decided would be held in Kansas City, Mo. Dr. Kenneth M. Lynch of Charleston, S. C., was named vice president; Dr. Olin West of Chicago was reëlected secretary, and Dr. Herman L. Kretscheimer of Chicago was reëlected treasurer. Trustees named were Dr. Ralph A. Fenton of Portland, Ore., and Dr. James R. Bloss of Huntington, W. Va.

A new, painless treatment for drug addicts, which produces forgetfulness of the misery of swearing off, was reported to the association today.

More than half the cases tried have been cured, all of them rapidly, simply and without signs of dangerous complications.

The treatment was described by Theophil Klingman, M. D., and William H. Everts, M. D., of An Arbor. They used two drugs, hyoscine and pilocarpine.

Display Vitamin G.

One gram of pure vitamin G, valued at $10,000, said to be the first pure G vitamin in the world, was exhibited by Hoffman and Laroche of Nutley, N. J. This vitamin promotes growth. The gram of pure stuff was rated as 1,333,333 times more potent than the amount of vitamin G necessary to insure the growth of one animal.

Artificial fever was described as a new and powerful weapon to combat venereal disease by Walter M. Simpson, M. D., of Dayton, O.

FRENCH MINISTER DROPS DEAD AT CABINET SESSION

PARIS, June 13.—(AP)—Death struck at Pierre Laval's newly formed cabinet today, Minister of Education Philippe Marcombes dropping dead just as the ministry made ready to hold its first session since parliament voted its confidence.

The 58 year old Marcombes suffered an apoplectic stroke on entering the large council chamber, fell to the floor and died almost immediately. The cabinet session was adjourned until tomorrow.

Political circles expressed belief Mario Roustan, Laval's minister of merchant marine, would be given the education portfolio. William Bertrand, former merchant marine minister who lost the post when he was traveling to the United States and back aboard the Normandie, is expected to be called back to cabinet service.

RICKENBACKER PILOTS TRANSPORT PLANE IN MEMORIAL FLIGHT

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—To commemorate one of the notable pioneering flights of American aviation—that made on June 13, 1910, by the late Charles K. Hamilton—the Florida flyer, a 14 passenger transport under the command of Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, flashed today from Floyd Bennett field to Camden and back in less than one hour. Hamilton, in his record breaking flight of a quarter of a century ago, made the longest flight that had been made in America. His actual flying time was 3 hours 34 minutes. That of Capt. Rickenbacker and his pilot was 56 minutes 42 seconds.

As did the plane of 25 years ago, the plane of today carried letters from the mayor of New York celebrating the strides which had been made in aviation, and brought him letters in return. Less than three minutes was spent on the ground in Camden, however, while the exchange of greetings was made. Today's flight was one against time, although the distance between the airports, 77 miles, hardly gave the big plane time to get into its full stride and certainly not to reach the altitude at which it performs best.

RUSH COMPLETION OF CALUMET-SAG CHANNEL PROJECT

One of Three By-passes Is One-Third Finished.

Less than five weeks since operations began, the widening of the first of three bypasses on the Calumet-Sag channel was almost one-third completed yesterday. Engineers estimated that the bypass, which is at Crawford avenue, directly west of Blue Island, will be finished by the end of August.

Construction of the bypasses—comparable to side tracks on a railroad line—is one phase of the three fold program that, when completed, will give the great industries of South Chicago and the Calumet area of Indiana a direct barge line to the Mississippi through the Illinois waterway. Deepening and straightening of the Calumet and Little Calumet rivers and the development of harbor facilities at the southern end of Lake Calumet are the other phases of the $20,000,000 project.

Unusual Machine Speeds Work.

With the construction crews working day and night to complete the entire project within the 365 days stipulated in the government contract with the Morrison-Knudson company of Boise, Idaho, the north bank of the Sag channel and the Crawford and Homan avenue bridges, which mark the limits of the first bypass, have been crowded with spectators watching the work.

The chief construction unit in the $200,000 worth of excavating machinery on the scene is a 160 foot drag line—a "long distance" excavating machine which operates in much the same fashion as a steam shovel. Brilliantly lighted at night, the huge boom swings to the water edge, scoops ten cubic yards of rock and earth into its ten ton maw, and hoists it to the towering spoilage bank. Swinging an average of fifty-five times an hour, day and night, since work began May 10, the massive machine has scooped up more than 200,000 cubic yards.

Initial Dredging About Finished.

In a single day the drag line can move 13,200 cubic yards a distance of more than 200 feet. The efforts of 3,300 men, working eight hours each, would be required to equal one day's results obtained from the huge Diesel powered shovel, which uses 50 cents' worth of oil an hour and requires the services of only three men.

So far the drag line has virtually completed the preliminary dredging and has taken the top soil from the limestone along the ninety foot strip to be added to the present sixty foot channel. Following the drag line are pneumatic drill crews and blasting crews that have loosened the rock with successive dynamite discharges. This is to be scooped up later and the bank completed with a roadway and surfacing.

The work, made possible by a federal grant of $2,814,500, is being done under the supervision of Lieut. Col. Donald H. Connolly, Chicago district engineer for the war department.

"Something's wrong with this car—or maybe it's the driver," Kraus quoted the young woman as saying before she drove away. She was pursued and arrested by Lincoln Park Policeman H. C. Meisner.

News of the Radio Stations

The Mutual Broadcasting system has formally adopted a policy prohibiting programs containing advertising of laxative, depilatory, and deodorant preparations, as well as any other programs presenting advertising of a nature that might be considered objectionable. This action was taken at a meeting Wednesday in Tribune Tower of the representatives of the four stations in the MBS chain. Attending the meeting were A. J. McCosker and Theodore C. Streibert of WOR, Newark; W. E. Macfarlane, president of the Mutual system, and E. M. Antrim, both of W-G-N; John L. Clark of WLW, Cincinnati; H. Allen Campbell, WXYZ, Detroit, and Fred Weber, coordinator of the Mutual Broadcasting system network.

W-G-N and the other stations in the chain have restricted such programs as a matter of individual policy. The coöperative action was taken to establish a policy for the network as a unit. The ruling is effective immediately. Similar action was taken recently by the Columbia Broadcasting system.

The member stations also voted to set up an organization to handle the sale of network time.

Five years ago those queens of chatter, Clara, Lu 'n' Em, made their debut on the air. Sunday they will celebrate their fifth anniversary of continuous broadcasting. The trio, whose real names are Mrs. Paul C. Mead [Clara], Mrs. Howard Berolzheimer [Lu], and Mrs. John M. Mitchell [Em], met as sorority sisters at Northwestern university. Their amateur act, started as a college stunt, won them an audition on W-G-N. They were signed for a sustaining program the next day. Seven weeks later they had a sponsor, and in six months they were on an NBC network. They have had the same sponsor ever since.

Amos 'n' Andy, who made their radio debut seven years ago and their first appearance on an NBC network in August, 1929, will switch Monday, July 15, from an NBC-WJZ hookup to an NBC-WEAF net, which will bring the pair to Chicago listeners through WMAQ, on which they made their radio bow in 1928. . . . Phil Duey, NBC baritone, will be guest soloist with Harry Horlick's Gypsies Monday. . . . Fray and Braggiotti, two-piano team heard over CBS, will appear with the Ford Symphony orchestra at 8 o'clock Sunday on WBBM.

HUNT EX-CONVICT AFTER WOMAN'S MYSTERY DEATH

Deputy Coroner Eugene Ingles yesterday continued an inquest into the death of Mrs. Minne Conney, 64 years old, a former actress who on Wednesday night was found dead in the antique shop which she operated with her husband, Isadore, at 23 East Ohio street. The police were given until June 21 to find Martin Singer, 30 years old, an Indian ex-convict, who was alleged to have been disputing with Mrs. Conney shortly before her death over her refusal to cash a check for him.

The coroner's physicians reported Mrs. Conney's death was due to a heart ailment. Her clothing was disarranged when the body was found and it was believed possible she had been struggling with some one. The keys and money she usually carried were missing.

When the inquest was opened the husband testified that as he was leaving the shop Wednesday night his wife was talking to Singer. Conney said he signaled her not to cash the check and then he walked out. A short time later he was notified that his wife had been found dead.

CITY LIBRARIAN ENDS A DISPUTE IN JERUSALEM

Frederick Rex, librarian of the reference library in the city hall, whose duty it is to supply aldermen with research materials on the city and its government, took a few moments from such labors yesterday to settle a controversy in Jerusalem.

Mr. Rex received a letter from G. Lichtinstein of the Palestine Potash Company, Ltd., Jerusalem, Palestine, declaring that a Chicagoan in Palestine was relating the story that Western avenue, in Cook county, is nearly 50 miles long, and is, in fact, one of the longest streets in the world. "Fifty miles," Mr. Lichtinstein protested, "is the length of the Dead sea!"

The Chicago librarian advised Mr. Lichtinstein that Western avenue extends 23.5 miles within Chicago, that it has a total length of 40 miles, and that it is the longest street at least in the United States, with Figuerosa street in Los Angeles, 27.5 miles long, holding second place.

Using Several Powders Hides Facial Defects

Different Shades Create Lights and Shadows

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I'm hearing a good deal lately about the use of several shades of powder during the process of getting the face ready for an appearance. I heard of one expert who uses two and sometimes three powder shades, varying the lighter and deeper shades, to create high lights and shadows. A nose that has to be toned down a bit is given a darkish powder tinge with the surrounding area "dressed" with a lighter powder. Or, where there are cheek hollows, they get the lighter powder, the surrounding area keyed to a slightly darker tone. Again, a light powder is piled down the outer cheek surface, close to the hair line, to give width to a too narrow face, and a dark powder shade used on the edge when the face is too broad.

All of which gives an idea of what we are coming to. This particular professional is a sculptor in makeup, one might say. But some of you women are pretty clever about toning down a liability and playing up an asset. You might look into the powder clues.

I know of one prima donna who, when she sings, shows deep chords in her throat, as any one not too young is apt to do when she raises her head backward. For concert work the prima donna uses a dark powder along the chords of her throat and powders it over again with the lighter shade she uses on her entire throat and face.

One can do quite a little face sculpturing with rouge. Unfortunately, I can't lay out a course for you. But if your cheeks are too round, or your face too long, or your cheekbones too prominent, why don't you sit down near a bright light and practice with rouge and powder and see if you can't do a little remolding on your own?

One thing, surely, these days, a woman does not have to hide herself away and suffer untold agonies over a blemish such as bad skin discoloration or birthmark of certain character. There are a couple of fine products, creams that may be spread over the face. Coming in different shades and serving as foundation creams for makeup, they are simple expedients to which to resort for temporary relief.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Sweets Should Be Omitted.

H. A.: In cases of acne it is well to exclude from the diet candy, cake, pie, ice cream, pudding, jam; also spices, condiments, and alcoholic drinks, tea, and coffee. You may have milk, cream, eggs, vegetables, not too sweet fruits, with meat or fish once a day. It is advisable to see your physician and let him suggest the proper treatment.

Fruit Juice Diet Reducing.

H. R.: You may take off four or five pounds by putting yourself on a fruit juice diet for three or four days. In place of the fruit juice you may substitute milk, buttermilk, or clear soup. Detailed instructions are given in my reducing booklet, which may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

Time Element Vital to Child's Body Control

It's Third and Last Step in Regular Elimination.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday we covered the first two steps necessary in the training for good eliminative habits. These were, first, to find the baby's natural rhythm, and, second, to put him on the chamber just before each of these times. We pointed out that even if you succeed in keeping him dry in this way he still will not have the dry habit, because you are merely catching him in time and the responsibility is yours.

Which brings up to the third step.

This third step is teaching him the hardest thing of all—the time element. This is teaching him to let you know in time to get him on the toilet or chamber before he has reached the limit of self-control. Only time will achieve this. It is at this stage that the mother will need most patience and understanding, and it is also at this stage that many of the training difficulties occur.

It is as important for the child to be trained for night time dryness as for day time dryness, if this habit is to be inculcated—they are not separate problems, and success in one will not necessarily mean success in the other without equal effort in training. Therefore it is important to see that the child is taken up during the night at the proper time, making sure that he is sufficiently awake to know what he is being awakened for. If he is not sufficiently awake, there is no value in your effort. Take him up at first once before your retiring hour and once during the night. If there are still accidents, take him up around 9:30 and once during the night. If he still wets it will be necessary to chart his time at night as well as during the day, and take him up just before these times.

This is one of the slowest of the habits we have to inculcate; it is one that requires most patience. Praise rather than blame is most constructive.

As I said several days ago, the early training of the baby for bladder control is no longer considered either wise or productive of permanent results. The ninth month is believed to be the earliest at which it is well to begin the definite training of the baby for this control.

I hope I have made it clear that this group of articles has been devoted to the training for bladder control only. For those who would like definit information on the training for bowel control, I have a fully written leaflet which will be sent on receipt of a self addressed, stamped envelope.

Junior Leaguers Fly to Detroit for Luncheon

Carry Invitation to Open House Benefit.

BY MARCIA WINN.

The Junior league, under the guidance of its alert publicity chairman, Frances Weary, is taking spectacular steps to advertise its benefit, "The 1935 Open House," which it will hold at the Drake hotel on Oct. 4.

An airplane party to Detroit and back was the first cog in the campaign, so yesterday fourteen Chicago Junior league members climbed in a plane, went to Detroit for luncheon with fourteen Detroit Junior leaguers, tendered them an invitation to their open house and then flew home again in time for tea.

The benefit, with Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams and Miss Margot Atkin as co-chairmen, will be an all day affair. There will be lectures, bridge parties, dinner dances and a ball, and the prediction is that the merriment will last even beyound the following dawn. All proceeds will go to the league's charity fund.

Optimistic over the success of their Detroit adventure, the league flying squadron is contemplating extending it to other chapters.

Among those making the jaunt were Miss Weary, Miss Atkin, Miss Jean Armstrong, Mrs. Charles Connell, Miss Veronese Beatty, Miss Carolyn McNair, Miss Alice May Dickinson, Miss Virginia Hobart, Miss Peggy Hixon, Mrs. English Walling, Mrs. Cyrus R. Smith, Miss Josephine Templeton, Miss Helen Dawes, and Mrs. Charles Shepherd Reed Jr.

"Fat Begins at 40? Nonsense!" says Irene Rich

You don't have to let the pounds slip up on you as you get older, Miss Rich told me in a recent interview. She gave me her reducing secret, all backed up by scientific facts—and I'm going to pass it along to you. It is so simple that at first I couldn't believe her. You just eat sensibly, and drink Welch's Grape Juice every day, she says.

There's good common-sense behind it, too. Welch's Grape Juice contains a natural sugar—the same kind of sugar your blood uses for energy. This sugar is quickly and easily burned, and it actually helps the body burn up fat. Doctors and scientists have made numerous tests and proved that this is so.

Satisfies Craving for Sweets

At the same time, Welch's Grape Juice satisfies that craving for sweets and rich fattening foods. You eat sensibly because you want to—with none of that self-torture that goes with most diets.

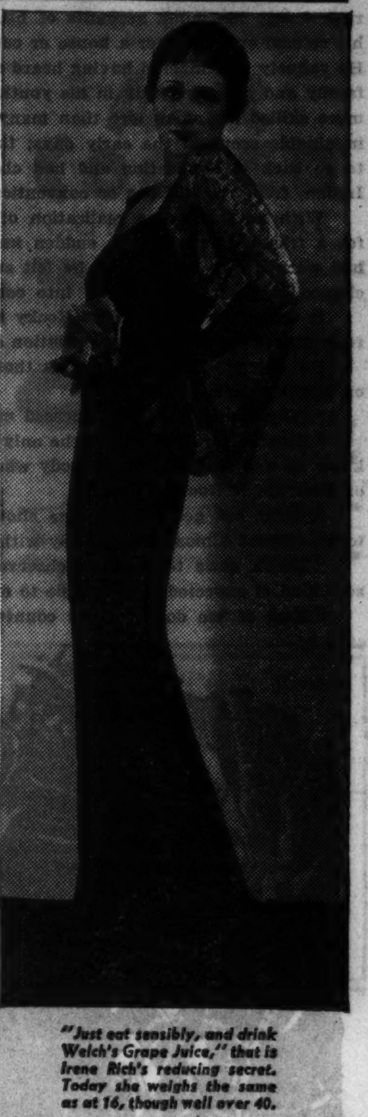
Best of all, the Welch way of reducing is a natural way—without drugs of any kind. Welch's Grape Juice puts color in your cheeks, sparkle in your eyes—makes you youthful in appearance! You feel bursting with pep and energy.

As proof, just take a look at this new photograph of vivacious Irene Rich. She says she's over forty, but her face is as fresh and lovely as a girl's, and she weighs exactly the same as she did when she was sixteen.

The way she follows is to drink 4 glasses of Welch's a day this way. Simply mix ¾ Welch's with ¼ plain water. Drink a glassful before every meal and one before retiring. Then eat sensibly and see how fat gradually slips away while energy stays up! Get Welch's from your grocer or druggist and start today. You'll be glad you did.

Cool Summer Drinks

Now that warm weather is here, keep a supply of Welch's Grape Juice in the icebox, and pour yourself a glass whenever you get hungry. It's good with ginger ale, too. Or drink it as a cocktail, with a dash of lemon. It's very delicious.



"Just eat sensibly, and drink Welch's Grape Juice," that is Irene Rich's reducing secret. Today she weighs the same as at 16, though well over 40.

BEWARE OF CHEAP SUBSTITUTES

Get only genuine Welch's. For the secret Welch Process retains the essential healthful properties of ripe Concord Grapes. Welch's is also the only grape juice that is Certified-Pure, Pasteurized; contains no adulterants, no synthetic flavors, no artificial coloring, no preservatives, no added water. Always full strength. Can be diluted with ⅓ water and still be delicious. Hence Welch's goes farther too. So ask for it by name. And get what you ask for!

She is starring in a thrilling series of radio dramas. Watch your paper for time and station.

MADE BY THE MAKERS OF GOLD DUST

The Ortega Feud

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Chris Jackson is sent by Bill Benton, new sherif of Monterey county, to put an end to the Ortega-Alvado feud, which has resulted in numerous murders. Both families believe California to be still Spanish and want Americans kept out. Pietro Sanchez runs the general store of the Big Sur valley. While calling there Chris encounters Guido Ortega, Ramon, his dare devil son, and Ysabel, his beautiful, sad eyed niece. He falls in love with Ysabel at first sight, and has a run-in with Ramon. Chris outfits himself for a supposed lion hunting expedition. He receives a note sent by messenger from Ysabel Ortega, hinting of a mysterious danger, begging his help, and asking him to meet her in a fortnight. Chris camps in a canyon on the northern boundary of the Alvado ranch. A shot from an unseen hand gives him warning to leave. He is saved by Rocky, an old Indian hunter, who invites him to his camp for supper.

INSTALMENT V.
AN OLD INDIAN HUNTER.

"Reckon I've given you all the tips I know about mountain lion hunting." Chris's host bent forward after supper to throw a log on the fire. "By the way, Rocky's my name; what's yours?"

"Rocky!" Chris echoed, "but of course, why didn't I guess it?"

He sat up straight and gazed at his companion with fascinated surprise as the name "Rocky" suddenly brought to life a tale he had heard of an old Indian hunter who turned up unexpectedly in various wild regions.

Details that he had heard and forgotten about this strange character rushed into his mind; accounts of his marvelous accuracy with a gun, and his refusal ever to enter a house or confine himself under a roof of any kind. He vaguely remembered having heard that Rocky came from an old Kentucky family and had run away in his youth to fight the Indians. He had become more skilled in Indian lore than many Indians themselves; and had been an invaluable scout in the early days; then, as he grew older, he had refused to go back to civilization and had chosen to continue living the life of an Indian, free from all ties or conventions of any kind.

With an instinctive realization of what it would mean to have Rocky for a friend, Chris made a sudden impulsive decision. Even if Bill Benton had warned him not to talk, he felt sure that he had not taken the possible chance of his meeting Rocky into consideration.

It was several years since Rocky had been seen in these parts and Chris remembered having heard speculation as to whether or not he was still alive.

He was pulled back from his thoughts by the quizzical look he caught on Rocky's face.

"Why should you have guessed my name?" he asked.

"Because I reckon you're the only one of a kind," Chris answered. "You know as well as I do that anybody who shows up in these parts hears sooner or later about Rocky."

A faint but genuine surprise shone out of Rocky's intensely blue eyes, to be eclipsed almost immediately with a veil of reserve and disapproval.

"That's news to me," he observed dryly. "I mind my own business, so I kind of expected other people to mind theirs."

"Most of 'em don't," Chris countered, "but anyway, one thing they all agree on is that you're as square a shooter every way as you are with your gun. That's why I'm going to tell you that you guessed right about this hunting trip being only a bluff."

"Good hunting."

Rocky's eyes narrowed but he made no comment.

"I don't know how long you've been back or how much you've heard about what's going on down here, but they've elected a new sherif who's a humdinger. Bill Benton is going to see law and order put on the map in these parts."

Chris was somewhat nettled to catch the same glint of skepticism in the eyes before him as he had seen in those of Pietro Sanchez when he had made that prediction.

"You want to see that done, don't you?" he demanded, determined to make Rocky break his sphinx-like silence.

"Don't know as I'm always so crazy about what's called law and order," Rocky brought out finally.

"But you care about right and wrong?" Chris insisted.

"I do," Rocky admitted, "when I can tell for sure which is which."

"Well, murder's wrong?" Chris challenged.

"Sure it is, when it is murder. Where lots of people make their mistake is in calling any killing 'murder'."

"I reckon there isn't any mistake in calling the three killings that have taken place here in the last six months murder. And unless steps are taken to put an end to this senseless Alvado-Ortega feud there are going to be a lot more murders to account for."

"That why you're here?" Rocky unexpectedly took his turn at putting questions.

"What steps are you taking?"

"None, just yet," Chris admitted ruefully. "That's where I thought you might help me. Nobody knows why I'm here but Pietro Sanchez and you. And no one else must know."

"What does Pietro say?" Rocky asked.

"He advises me to get out as fast as I can."

"Wise man, Pietro," Rocky commented. "Why, then, are you here?"

"Because I've undertaken to get to the bottom of things down here and I mean to do it. Besides——" Chris broke off short. Instinctively as he trusted Rocky, he had no right to divulge Ysabel Ortega's secret communication.

Rocky seemed to ponder this abrupt "Besides——," but he made no comment, and to cover his slip, Chris plunged into an account of his meeting with the Ortega family at the store.

Only twice during his recital was Rocky's silent immobility broken. Once a flash of anger darkened his eyes when Chris mentioned Señor Ortega's rough manner toward Ysabel; and again, his silent laughter shook him, as Chris described the lesson he had administered to Ramon.

Chris brought his recital to a close with the departure of the Ortega family from the store and asked, "Do you know the Ortegas?"

"I know them well," Rocky answered. "That is why I say again, lose no time in getting back to Monterey."

Chris rose to his feet with an impatient gesture. "As that is apparently the only advice any one seems capable of giving down here I'll have to do my investigating without any help."

He stooped to pick up his rifle and winced with the pain of the flesh wound in his arm as he slung it over his shoulder.

Rocky made no move to help him but watched him with his inscrutable expression as Chris whistled to his dogs and prepared to move on.

"Thanks for the supper." Chris' tone was resolutely friendly as he put down his chagrin and disappointment at not having made more headway with Rocky. "Drop around at my camp some time."

"Perhaps." Rocky's tone was noncommittal. "Only I hope you will think better of my advice and that there will be no camp for me to drop around to." He rose to his feet with amazing agility and raised his right hand in a gesture of farewell. "Good hunting!"

Stooping to the fire again he picked up a burning brand which he used as a torch to light Chris' way back to the creek bed. When he saw that he had reached it he extinguished the light and his voice floated back through the darkness with an eerie quality that sent an uncontrolable shiver down Chris' spine.

"Good hunting!"

Full of a hidden significance the words caught up the echoes of the night and resounded in Chris' ears as he picked his way down the creek, the dogs close at his heels.

The next morning as Chris cooked and ate his breakfast with the slanting rays of the early morning sun flickering through the redwoods overhead he was inclined to laugh at himself for the profound impression that Rocky had made on him the night before.

"The old picture book guy almost made me decide to clear out," he confessed to Jerry, who was eagerly watching for scraps that might come his way, "but now I reckon we'll stick it out a mite longer anyway. I'm going back there first thing this morning and find out just what he meant by that 'good hunting' of his!"

Proper Hour of Homecoming Is Problematical

Parents and Children Must Seek Agreement.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The getting home time of the young daughter of the household continues to be one of the big problems of the day.

A father writes to know if he is asking too much of his two girls, 19 and 21 years old, that they be in not later than 12. A girl writes to ask if her mother isn't old fashioned and unreasonable to expect her home by 12:30. A mother tells of her worries when her girl is not home by 1 o'clock. And so it goes. We get the problem from every angle.

But who can set an hour for these homecomings if the parents and their daughters cannot arrive at some amicable understanding? What we might say would have no bearing, probably. Besides, we do not always know the circumstances, as "what time the party started" or "how far the girl and her escort had to come and by what means of transportation." How much latitude have said parents given their youngsters up to the time the late homecoming problem arises? In what kind of crowd do the girls travel? Do parents know their girl's escorts to be reputable young men, or do they know anything about them? And, if not, why not?

One thing we would urge, in the name of a recent pathetic tragedy, that there be no locking of doors on young girls, no matter how late their arrival home. You recall, no doubt, that unfortunate happening to a young woman who tried to let herself in quietly so her parents wouldn't know what time she got home. In her attempt she plunged down stories and was killed. Leave the latch unlocked for your girl, not because of that fatal happening, which is a rare occurrence, but because the girl locked out must turn to some one for shelter, and therein lies grave danger with that locked door to urge on a rebellious young creature.

Our experience is that parents who have kept close to their children have this problem reduced to a minimum worry. And, by keeping close, we mean disciplining them so that they recognize in said parents an authority to whom they are responsible.

Delicate Shades of Corn Flowers Beautify Quilt

Corn Flowers.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Fragile, blue corn flowers form the theme of today's quilt pattern. Two shades of blue form the proper color scheme for the blossoms themselves. The leaves are green, and a touch of deep purple is added as a harmonizing color spot in the center. The patches are easy to applique, and they are quite as attractive for pillow tops as for coverlets.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

exhibited them last summer at A Century of Progress Exposition.

Tour of Estates at Winnetka.

Six of the loveliest estates on the north shore will be opened for the novel exhibition, "Twenty-Four Hours in a House and Garden," that the Winnetka Garden club is planning to take the place of its usual summer flower show.

The exhibition will be held on Saturday afternoon of next week, starting at 2 o'clock, and the tour of the estates will require about an hour and a half. Admission will be a dollar, but tickets will be sold only through the various garden clubs to which the Winnetka club has issued invitations. Mrs. Gordon L. Pirie is in charge of general arrangements for the affair, which is certain to be an unusual and delightful one.

One woman who is opening her garden and house for the tour objects to having her name announced, but Mrs. Morris K. Wilson will act as hostess at the tables that will be laid in this house and garden. Mrs. Frederick H. Scott will be hostess at her mother's, Mrs. Robert Cluett's, where a formal luncheon table will be arranged in the handsome dining room; Mrs. Arthur Sullivan will be hostess at Mrs. James Simpson's where in the dining room there will be a table laid for a formal dinner; Mrs. William T. Bacon will preside at a formal luncheon table in Mrs. Arch W. Shaw's dining room and also at a cocktail tea table by the pool.

Mrs. Alice Drake Miller will exhibit three tables in her home, a formal dinner one, a tea table on the terrace and a midnight supper table a deux. Mrs. Richard Walsh will act as hostess at Mrs. Miller's and Mrs. Charles Strong will be hostess in Mrs. Bruce MacLeish's house, where a formal luncheon table will be arranged in the dining room and a tea table on the terrace.

Reception for Admiral Downes.

Invitations are out for a gala reception to be given for Rear Admiral John Downes, new commandant of the Ninth naval district, and Mrs. Downes by the Army and Navy club of Chicago on Saturday, June 29.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

THE BRIDGE SIDE OF THE NEWS.

BUENOS AIRES, S. A.—According to an article in a New York newspaper, the South Americans are thronging a bridge club recently opened in Buenos Aires. The only complaint of the gratified proprietress is that Spanish hours are a bit trying to a born-and-bred New Englander, accustomed to rising at 6 a. m. and preparing a mammoth dinner for the hired hands. Life begins at 11 a. m. in South America. By 2 the workers feel the need of a little sustenance and a siesta. Dinner is scheduled for around 9 p. m. After the liquors, the evening really starts. The cinema may be indicated. Or, José, it is a splendid idea that we play bridge this evening, no es verdad? Those who must arise at the unholy hour of 11 the next morning usually quit at 2. But for the rest, the last card is not played until the dawn comes creeping in the window.

BATON ROUGE, La.—One of Mark Twain's most celebrated books is "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County." To mark the centennial of his birth, the Mark Twain centennial committee conceived the plan of holding frog jumping contests all over the country, said frogs to hail from the Louisiana swamps, where life is precarious and a frog has to be on the jump all the time to keep out of a snake's stomach. I am happy to announce that two spotted nightmares put up a good fight in the New York City contest. They jumped six feet in the elimination tryouts, and the proud handlers insisted that their patronymics had something to do with it. These frogs had been christened "Jump Bid" and "Declarer." Unfortunately, "Declarer" fell down in the finals. He failed to make his contract.

NEW YORK.—A certain bridge club in Manhattan has adopted for its mascot an albino monkey that was recently presented to the Central park zoo. Neither the zoo nor the monkey knows anything about this decision, but that bothers the club not a whit. The only reason for having such a mascot, says the hostess, is so that when one member growls at another, "You're nothing but a white ape," the insulted member cannot call for swords and pistols. The hostess explains sweetly to him in private that the slur actually ranks as a compliment, since the club mascot is a white ape himself.

ASBURY PARK, N. J.—Max Baer's contract has improved so much that he is thinking of calling off the championship bout and challenging James Braddock to a 150 rubber bridge match instead.

BRADDOCK TELLS HOW HE BEAT BAER IN TITLE BOUT

HE'S CONFIDENT AFTER TAKING TERRIFIC PUNCH

Max' Best Fails to Jolt Jimmy.

Long Island City, N. Y., June 13.—[Special.]—James J. Braddock's dressing room was a scene of hilarious excitement tonight when the new champion finally got through the crowd with the aid of a police escort. Thousands swarmed around the door, yelling wildly.

Before Braddock could even get his dressing gown off, he had to speak over a microphone that had been set up in his room and he was so closely pressed that he could hardly move. But a large smile broke across his features.

Stands Up Under Hard Blow.

"I am very happy. I felt all along I could win and it is great to be champion after all I have been through," said the titleholder. "After the third round I felt sure I would win. In that round, Baer hit me with his right. It was a terrific punch on the chin and I knew it was the best one he had. When I was able to come back and smash him with a left in the next breath, I no longer had any doubt."

"I fought the fight we had planned in my training camp," continued Braddock. "I kept going to the right and avoiding his long rights. After the seventh round I felt I was safe. I just had to keep out of danger. I could tell that Baer was tiring and I did not pay much attention to his threats with his right.

Can't Remember Being Hurt.

"It was a hard fight, but I do not remember getting hurt once in the whole 15 rounds. I was a little tired toward the end, but I think Baer was just as tired. My left was my most effective blow. I kept Baer away with hooks to the head and left jabs.

"I have no plans for the future. I am going to rest for a few days and then see what I will do."

Braddock had a cut on his left ear and one on his nose, but otherwise was unmarked.

Braddock Can Take It.

"I was confident Jimmy would win after the first three rounds when we found Baer could not reach him with those long rights. Jimmy fought a fine, game fight. He took the best punches Baer had and never flinched. Instead, he came right back at the man who was supposed to be a man killer. You could see that Baer was tiring after the seventh and those of us in Jimmy's corner played safe. We advised Jimmy to keep using his long left and cross with his right when he had a chance. I asked Jimmy several times when he came back to his corner if he felt all right and he always said 'O. K.'

"Baer was a different kind of fighter when he got in with a man who would make him fight all the time. Baer is a fellow who likes to fight about thirty seconds in every round, but Jimmy kept stalking him until he tired him out. Jimmy will make a great champion and he will be one of the most popular ones we have ever had. He has brought the championship back to the Irish."

MAX SAYS HE'S THROUGH

Long Island City, N. Y., June 13.—[Special.]—"If you ever see me pull on another glove I'll buy you a steam yacht," said Max Baer in his dressing room after the fight.

It was not that he disagreed with the decision that caused the dethroned champion to say that. He explained that he has had enough of the ring, has a neat balance in the bank, and would rather raise cattle than do anything else.

Were it not for the fact that his

Introducing Jimmy Braddock—the Champion!

Jimmy Braddock, whose comeback trail led to the world's heavyweight championship. Braddock overthrew Max Baer, the defending titleholder in a 15 round bout last night at the Madison Square Garden bowl on Long Island. Braddock, who had been considered a hasbeen about a year ago, made a new attempt to gain the top and reached it. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Here's Story of Braddock's Rise to Top

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Few boxers in the long history of the sport have found fame and the promise of riches as quickly as James J. Braddock. Considered by many a second rater, he lifted himself, virtually by his own bootstraps, to the top of the heap.

Braddock was taken from a job as longshoreman to serve as a stepping stone for Tuffy Griffith, a promising youth from Chicago in 1928, but he provided an upset and knocked out Griffith in two rounds. He stopped Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo the following year, then misfortune overtook him.

Trouble Follows Braddock.

An injured ankle, shattered hands, a severe cut over his right eye—all these things befell Braddock as he stumbled through a career that seemed to have been charted in reverse. He was thrown out of a ring with Abe Feldman, a bout declared "no contest," in the fall of 1933, and returned to the longshoreman's berth.

A year ago, almost to a day, he was recalled to the ring, again as a trial horse. Corn Griffin came out of the south, heralded as a prospect, and, like a lamb for the slaughter, Braddock was selected for the sacrifice.

Blow by Blow Story of Title Fight

FIRST ROUND—Baer, instead of rushing, backed carefully away and Braddock hammered two rights to his side. The champion sneered as Braddock, pressing sturdily forward, whipped a left hook to the head. Braddock took a short right uppercut to the chin, but smashed a hard right to the jaw. Max missed a left hook to the head and took two left hooks on the chin as the crowd cheered the challenger. Twice Braddock jabbed Baer's head with lefts before landing a hard right to the head. Braddock speared the champion's head with lefts, then pounded his body with rights as Baer waited for an opening. Baer was blinking at the bell.

SECOND ROUND—Baer danced out and Braddock popped him twice with lefts to the head. Baer, much the bigger man, laughed and posed as Braddock shot three lefts to the head and a right to the body. Braddock jabbed Baer with a half dozen lefts and knocked the champion's head back with a right uppercut. Baer cut loose for the first time with a two fisted barrage to the body, but Braddock slugged back. A half dozen times Braddock stabbed Baer's head with lefts, then crossed three rights to the chin. Max clowned, danced, and laughed as he missed a long right to the head.

THIRD ROUND—Braddock marched out with his chin tucked low, jabbing Baer's head with his left. Baer suddenly slung a hard left and right to the body. The champion stopped quickly and Braddock beat him about the head with lefts and rights. Baer missed a long right and then slugged at the body, with most of the blows landing on elbows. Braddock's left hook twice was wild, but he drove two hard rights to the head. Baer stalked him, sinking a powerful left in the body, but Jimmy slugged back, having much the better of it as he poured lefts and rights to the champion's head. Braddock nailed him again with a left and right as the bell sounded.

FOURTH ROUND—Braddock stabbed three lefts to the head. Baer drilled both hands into Braddock's body as they clinched and contorted his face fiendishly. Baer nearly wrestled Braddock off his feet and the crowd booed. Baer raised both hands apologetically. Baer shot two rights to the side and caught Braddock with a right uppercut but Jimmy stabbed back with a left and made the champion bend with rights to the body. Braddock took a hard right to the chin, but fell into a clinch, shook his head clear, and took another right to the head without wincing. A long right to the cheek knocked Braddock to the ropes, but he tore back with a right to the body.

FIFTH ROUND—Baer lazily came to midring as Braddock jabbed his head with lefts. Baer tore madly to close quarters, hammering both hands into the challenger's sides. A hard right bounced off Braddock's chin, but Jimmy tore back with two thudding rights to the head. They stabbed, fell into a clinch, and Baer was warned for backhanding. Baer landed three right hand uppercuts, drove a hard right to the body, and complained that Braddock's right was low. Punching madly, Baer tore after the challenger, landed two long rights to the head, but took half a dozen full smashes to the chin in return. Baer nailed Braddock with a right to the temple and stalked him grinning from a crouch, threatening with his right hand, but doing nothing about it as the bell rang.

SIXTH ROUND—Baer ripped in with short rights to the head. He split Braddock's nose with a right uppercut. Braddock pulled away from the onslaught and

CUBS BEAT PHILS IN TWO GAMES, 12 TO 6, 9 TO 7

Galan's Homer in Ninth Wins Second.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 13.—Augie Galan's homer with two out and two on in the ninth inning of the second game this afternoon topped off five and a half hours of baseball during which the Cubs took a double header for the first time this year. Lon Warneke and his chastened associates won the first game, 12 to 6, after a six run start in the first inning. Clay Bryant, one of four Cub hurlers in the second contest, was the winning pitcher in the second game, which ended, 9 to 7.

Owner P. K. Wrigley and a large party of officials and friends, who rushed here from Chicago to inspire the Cubs, scarcely could take credit for the double triumph. Wrigley arrived after the Cubs had an overwhelming lead in the first game and he and his party walked out of the show while the Cubs were on the short end of a 7 to 4 count.

Chuck Klein made his fourth homer in two days in the first inning of the first game and Bryant knocked one in the fourth inning of the second game.

FIRST GAME

The Cubs made six runs in the first inning despite a striking bit of confusion which had three runners on second base while outfielders were chasing a normal triple in center field. Galan opened the afternoon's activities with a single to center and scored on Herman's double. Hack walked and then O'Dea drove the ball to the clubhouse in center field.

Herman stayed on second and wrestled with Hack, who was trying to get him to move on. The ball still was bouncing around in the outfield, so O'Dea joined the group at second base. In some way the matter eventually got straight in the minds of almost all the players. So Herman scored, Hack went to third and O'Dea retreated to first.

Klein Hits Homer.

Lindstrom flied to Allen, scoring Hack. Then Klein knocked his No. 7 homer over the right field fence, scoring behind O'Dea. Prim replaced E. Moore and the Cubs added another run on singles by Cavarretta and English and Warneke's fly.

The Phillies scored in their half of the first on Allen's double and Camilli's single. Prim scored the second Philly run in the third on singles by Watkins and Camilli after reaching first on Cavarretta's error.

The Cubs sent Prim away in the fourth on a double by Galan, Herman's single, and doubles by Hack and O'Dea, all of which netted three runs. Bowman came in and retired Klein and Cavarretta.

Phils Get Busy.

The Phils got busy after two were out in the fifth. Watkins singled to center and J. Moore walked. Camilli then doubled, scoring Watkins. English threw out Todd.

The Cubs had the bases full with none out in the sixth. One run scored while Lindstrom was forcing O'Dea, then Klein hit into a double play.

Singles by Watkins and J. Moore and a double by Chiozza in the seventh inning gave the Phils their fourth run.

Herman made it five hits in five times at bat when he led off the eighth with a single to left. Hack singled to right and Herman stopped at second. O'Dea walked, filling the bases. Lindstrom forced O'Dea and Herman scored. Klein fouled to Todd. Cavarretta walked, again filling the bases. English walked, forcing Hack across the plate. Warneke fanned.

Camilli Knocks Homer.

Ramey Gives Rodak Boxing Lesson in 12 Round Bout

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Wesley Ramey, world tourist lightweight, deserves the right to challenge Tony Canzoneri for the world title. Last night at Mills stadium the Grand Rapids, Mich., boxer whipped Leo Rodak of Chicago, decisively, gaining the unanimous vote of the judges and referee.

Without extending himself, Ramey outpointed Rodak completely. The South Chicago lad, a former Golden Gloves winner, only could be credited with one round, the fourth. While Ramey did not win spectacularly, he was the aggressor and by virtue of his showing, he undoubtedly will demand a chance at the champion in a title match. Two years ago Ramey defeated Canzoneri in a nontitle bout and he believes he can do it again.

Little Damage Inflicted.

The bout was dull with no definite damage inflicted. In the sixth round a glancing blow from Ramey's right hand opened a small cut over Rodak's eye, but this did not affect the result. The boys punched repeatedly without the courtesy of a left lead but even when the blows went to the mark, it apparently made no difference.

The estimated receipts were $3,223.

Fight Decisions

At Mills Stadium—Wesley Ramey beat Leo Rodak [12]; Clinton Bridges stopped Wilson Dunn [3]; Bob Tinsley stopped Johnny Fitzpatrick [4]; Nestor Bruggeman stopped Al Latio [4]; Gene Stanley beat Ellis Bradley [6]; Billy Treest beat Doc Conrad [8].

On this count the Chicago Stadium was returned a loser of $700 or more.

The first round between Ramey and Rodak was even with each willing to exchange at every opportunity. Both were guilty of holding when they came in close. Ramey landed one right hand punch, the best of the round. In the second, Ramey went to the front with an assortment of lefts and rights, a left hook to the face sending Rodak back on his heels. The third round was even with both sparring for openings and unable to inflict damage. Rodak was short with a hard right at the bell.

Rodak Gets Going.

Rodak made his best showing in the fourth by hitting Ramey with a solid right to the face. As if sensing Rodak's advantage, Ramey turned on the speed to take the next round. He forced Rodak to back up and had the better of the exchanges. Ramey opened a small cut over Rodak's right eye in the sixth and continued to

BONURA'S 11TH HOMER HELPS WHIP SENATORS

Chicago Gets Nine Runs in Fifth.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The second place White Sox, who are continually devising new forms of amusement, saved up for one big inning yesterday and then let go with a bang that put Washington's Senators down for keeps. Held to two singles for four innings the gay south siders bunched nine hits, one of them Zeke Bonura's 11th homer in the fifth, scored nine times and then coasted to an easy triumph behind Vernon Kennedy's pitching. The score was 10 to 6.

Two pitchers shared the jolts while the Sox were exceeding by one run their best previous big inning of the year. First was a former teammate, Irving [Bump] Hadley, who had been pretty good until the blowoff. He stayed long enough in the fifth to have nine men face him. Six of them hit. Then Leon Pettit, a tiny lefty, appeared and there were three more hits before he was able to nail the thirteenth batter for the third out.

Sewell, Haas Come Through.

Luke Sewell, who apparently delights in tormenting his old mates, had the pleasure of touching off the big blast with a single, and he hit safely again before it was completed. But when a hit was needed to get home a run and break a 1 to 1 tie, Mule Haas produced it with two out. This was followed by seven successive safeties, one of them Bonura's homer into the left field seats with two on, and another a two bagger by Kennedy that scored two men who were waiting on the bases. Only one pass appeared in the turbulent inning. It went to Hopkins just before Haas singled to drive home the first of the nine runs.

Kennedy's pitching, while not so hot so far as totals are concerned, was good as long as it had to be. During the first five innings he restricted the Senators to one run and five hits. After that he was clouted with abandon, but never hard enough to cause any concern. In the last four innings he yielded an assortment of nine hits and three passes. Two of the hits drifted into the pavilion seats, propelled by the bats of Buddy Myer and Jake Powell.

Senators Score in First.

Kuhel opened the game with a single to center and this soon blossomed into a run. After Stone had been retired on a fly to Simmons, Myer doubled to left and Kuhel dashed around to the plate. Kennedy threw out Travis and fanned Powell.

Hadley lost control in the fourth and by way of showing their appreciation for his gifts, the Sox tied the score. The walks went to Bonura and Simmons after two were out. Then Appling singled to right to score Bonura and send Simmons to third. Nothing further happened because Piet fanned.

The violence against Hadley in the fifth started on Sewell's single to center. The Sox still were under the impression that one run would be a mighty handy item, so Kennedy moved Sewell to second on a bunt. Radcliff's roller to Travis was converted into the second out. Then the fun started in a big way.

Hopkins walked and Haas bounced a single over Hadley's head, Sewell scoring. Bonura drove the ball into the left field seats for his eleventh homer. Hopkins and Haas preceded him across the plate. That accounted for the first four of the nine runs.

Fun Keeps Up.

Simmons gave the rally a fresh start by singling to right. Appling duplicated the hit. On a hit and run play Piet poked a single through short, Simmons scoring and Appling taking third. This was where Hadley gave up. Pettit stepped into the vacancy, but the change didn't bother the Sox.

Sewell singled to right for his second hit of the inning, Appling scoring. Kennedy doubled to right center, sending Piet and Sewell home. Radcliff scratched a single past Kuhel, putting Kennedy on third. He scored the ninth run on a wild pitch, after which Hopkins grounded to Travis to conclude the disturbance.

answer to the question of why Baer did not appear to better advantage was that Braddock did not allow him to do so.

In paying homage to the advance under dog, in extoling the fighting ability and courage of the Jersey family man, in expressing disappointment that Baer's effort fell short of what had been expected, this writer does not wish to give the impression that the bout was one-sided, or that Braddock's advantage at the end was more than a narrow one. This writer's count on the rounds, not making allowance for rules transgressions, was four rounds for Braddock, four rounds for Baer, and seven even. Even where rounds were awarded in our count they were by shades.

Braddock Takes First Round.

After receiving their instructions from Referee McAvoy, Champion Baer and Challenger Braddock advanced to the center of the ring with the bell, as a shout arose from the encircling crowd about the lighted arena. Braddock let fly a right which missed by a wide margin. Again he missed. Then Jim placed a rather hard right against Max's jaw and followed it up with a left. Baer looked surprised, but not distressed. It was Braddock's round.

At the start of the second session, Braddock jabbed his left to the face three times in succession, but the blows were light and inflicted no damage. Baer, despite advance assertions of no clowning, started a few facial gymnastics as he launched a body attack. It again was Braddock's round by a shade on points. Baer left the impression he thought he could win at any time he opened up.

Baer Effective in Clinches.

As they came out for the third round, Baer adopted a crouch and spectators expected fireworks. They came, in a fierce body attack with Braddock clinching. Only in these clinches did Braddock look badly, for Baer repeatedly landed uppercuts in the early rounds. Toward the end of the battle, Braddock managed to get his glove under his chin and protect himself.

Warned for Low Punch.

In the fourth round, Max struck low and was warned. He waved his gloves in apology to Braddock and then to the crowd, and was greeted with boos. He had an advantage in a clinch on the ropes and an exchange in the center. Several times Max essayed his roundhouse telegraphic right, but each time it was short. The round was even.

Baer was warned for backhand punching in the fifth. He tried to force the milling and indulge in infighting. Braddock preferred to spar at longer range. Once Braddock said, "Watch your backhand." Honors again were about even.

Cinderella Braddock now had stayed at the ball beyond his allotted time—the advance betting being even money he would not come up for the sixth. Baer was becoming anxious. Braddock, on the other hand, had gained more confidence, and was willingly mixing blows. At the time, such tactics seemed foolish and it appeared that Baer was wearing him down. Baer's round by a shade.

Baer Feigns Grogginess.

From the seventh to the tenth rounds, Baer started fast but Braddock, still acquiring confidence, met him and refused to let Baer take the play with aggressiveness. In the eighth, Braddock landed a hard right and Max feigned grogginess, as he has a habit of doing, and then unleashed a body attack. Again in the ninth, the referee warned Max for a low blow which did no damage.

At the end of ten rounds, Braddock had just enough margin on points acquired [not on damage inflicted] so that onlookers realized that Max must do better or there would be a new champion.

Baer Tries to Rally.

Baer, who had shrugged his shoulders at Manager Hoffman once as he came to his corner, realized it, too. He tried all through those final five sessions. Cinderella Jim either met or thwarted his efforts to regain an advantage. But those rounds in which the lighter man courageously took chances were what saved the bout from being a mediocre affair.

The bout, as a whole, was slow and uneventful, considering it was a championship affair, for six rounds. From the sixth to the tenth it was better. From the tenth to the end it was worthy of the name, but not particularly impressive simply because two warriors, tired under the heat of the lights streaming down on them, had not sufficient strength left to inflict devastating punishment.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

This Wake Is Conducted by Harvey T. Woodruff. Help! Help!

AT JACK DEMPSEY'S.

NEW YORK, June 13.—[Special.]—Jack Dempsey's restaurant opposite Madison Square Garden, which opened in February, has become a rendezvous for sports characters, theatrical people, transients who seek a handshake with the former heavyweight champion, and visiting firemen in general.

Unlike many celebrities whose names are capitalized for business enterprises catering to the public direct, Dempsey is on the job, both at luncheon, when a moderate priced meal is provided, and at the more extensively patronized dinner hour, when service is à la carte with no table d'hôte dinner to limit its cost.

Prices are not high for good food gauged by the New York City standard. The bad news on the check is likely to run from $2 to $3.50 per person, according to the caprice of the diner, with further upward trend if fripperies or wines are desired. Drinks at the bar are 40 cents each.

There is music at Dempsey's, but no dancing. All space is required for tables, filled nearly every night. After theater business is picking up, but not yet near capacity. The place is said to be a gold mine for the syndicate which promoted it and secured Dempsey as part owner and front with a percentage of the profits.

Jack takes his hosting seriously. He walks around nodding and shaking hands with friends and acquaintances, chatting courteously with any visiting firemen who introduce themselves. We suggested to Jack as a slogan, "A handshake from Jack Dempsey with every dinner," but he only laughed. Still we think it's a good idea.

Seekers of Souvenirs.

Tableware at the Dempsey place is initialed J. D. Being naturally statistically minded, The Wake inquired of our waiter if there was any record of how many spoons had disappeared since the place opened about four months ago. He departed for the information, returning with: "They've stopped counting because it gave them a headache, but the manager said to tell you that 149 small knives were missing after the first two days."

Nodding to Friends.

When dining at Dempsey's a Chicagoan is likely to meet fellow townsmen, for Jack always was popular in Chicago. Within easy range of our table, with probably more in distant corners, we noted Dwight H. Green, former district attorney for northern Illinois; Edward S. White, a patent attorney, and another chap whose face was familiar but whose name we couldn't place.

Just beyond this group was James Norris Jr. of the Chicago Stadium, with Nate Lewis, Stadium matchmaker. Stopping to shake hands with them was Pat Joyce, president of the Chicago and Great Western railroad. Harry Voiller and his wife of Chicago were in another group. Harry has the moving picture rights on the Baer-Braddock bout.

Frank Carson, once of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, now city editor of the New York News, was there. So was Walter Howey, once TRIBUNE city editor, recently appointed editor of the New York Mirror. Floyd Gibbons, once a TRIBUNE reporter, was entertaining a group of prize winners in an adventure contest he is conducting for a New York newspaper. Pete Llanuza, one time Chicago cartoonist, now syndicating a comic strip, was among those present. Out of town newspaper men from as far west as Los Angeles and San Francisco were about. That's a sample cross section of the crowd present at Dempsey's every night.

Ruth for Similar Rôle?

A syndicate has been endeavoring to induce Babe Ruth, since his departure from the Boston Braves, to lend his name to a similar enterprise. So far Babe has withheld his answer. Babe's close friends say the Bambino thinks the field already is pretty well occupied, and, furthermore, does not wish to be tied down until his future plans are determined definitly.

Garden Retains Title Monopoly; Braddock Signed

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—James J. Johnston, matchmaker for the Garden who promoted tonight's heavyweight title match, was as happy as Jimmy Braddock, the new champion. Johnston has Braddock under contract to fight for the Garden when he defends his title. For weeks, Johnston has been telling the world that Braddock would win, but no one believed him. Tonight, he was able to say, "I told you so."

"Braddock fought a great, heady fight," Johnston said. "He has proved to the world that he was better than most people thought. And what can you say now about this son of destiny? But don't forget that Baer is still a great fighter. He has a future in the ring if he wants to go on fighting."

Noted among the early arrivals at the ringside were James Norris Sr., James Norris Jr., Nate Lewis, P. H. Joyce, Rodman Wanamaker, Jock Whitney, P. F. Warburg, A. C. Allyn, Vincent Bendix, Walter J. Chrysler, B. M. Baruch, Caleb Bragg, F. L. Hutton, W. J. Harriman, Harry Richman, Earl Carroll, Dinty Moore, Herbert Bayard Swope, Postmaster Jim Farley, John F. Curry, Col. Jacob Ruppert, Rudy Vallee, W. F. Carey, Frank Bruton, Bruce Barton, and Gen. W. W. Atterbury.

Then there were Senator Warren Barbour, Joseph D. Widener, Bernard S. Gimbel, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tunney, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dempsey, Mayor La Guardia, Jim Mullen, Police Commissioner Valentine, Cecil De Mille, former Mayor O'Brien, John Golden, Charles A. Stoneham, Mrs. James J. Corbett, Benny Leonard, Al Jolson, Ruby Keeler, Jack Curley, Tad Jones, George Jessel, Sam Katz, and Paul Whiteman.

BRADDOCK TELLS HOW HE WHIPPED BAER FOR TITLE

manager and handler looked so glum, one would think, on entering Baer's room, that he had scored an easy victory. A cigaret in one hand, a bottle of beer in the other, the California heavyweight was all cheerfulness.

Has No Alibi.

"I have no alibis to offer," he explained. "Jimmy won, and no better fellow deserves a break. He didn't hurt me in the fight, but my trouble was that I couldn't hurt him."

So saying, the ex-champion held up a fist, pressed the knuckles and demonstrated how the bones jumped out of position considerably.

"That hand, none too good to start with, went off completely in the fifth round," he explained, "and the left, though you may not believe it, went in the third."

Later Baer's own doctor examined Max's hands and shook his head. Baer looked at him pleadingly.

"Broken, aren't they, doc?" he asked.

"Just bruised," said the doctor, quietly.

Retirement Plan Discounted.

Ancil Hoffman, Max's manager, was inclined to minimize the boxer's retirement declaration. "He's excited now, and is talking rashly. But he'll be back in there," Hoffman asserted.

Hoffman had to admit, however, that the unexpected reversal caused a decided change in his plans. He will try to persuade Max to fight his way back to a return fight with Braddock.

Blow by Blow Story of Title Fight

stabbed two lefts to the head. Baer threw a long right to the head and Braddock smashed back with both hands. Baer nailed Braddock with short uppercuts, his best punch at the moment, but Braddock stabbed him with lefts. Braddock wavered as Baer hammered him about the head. The challenger was punching even with the champion at the bell.

SEVENTH ROUND—Baer tore into Braddock, but the challenger popped him with left jabs. Braddock shot a left and a right to Baer's head, poked his face with half a dozen more lefts before falling in close to pound Baer's body. Baer shook the challenger with right uppercuts and two right smashes to the head. Braddock wabbled, but stabbed back gamely with his left as the champion hammered another left to the head. Jimmy shook his head, smashed a long right to the jaw, but took two right uppercuts, damaging punches. Baer rifled Braddock's head with half a dozen rights, but Jim stabbed back at him with lefts, then flung a hard right to the chin. Baer lifted several short, vicious uppercuts to the head.

EIGHTH ROUND—As they came in close Baer rocked Braddock with three short right uppercuts. The challenger whipped a terrific right to the head. Baer put on his clowning act, reeling rubber legged about the ring as the crowd roared. Braddock merely followed him, pumping two lefts and two rights to the head as Baer backed into a corner. Braddock nailed the champion with two lefts and two rights to the head. A long right bounced off Braddock's jaw and two right uppercuts shot Jimmy's head back. They slugged evenly to the body as the bell sounded.

NINTH ROUND—Braddock stabbed Baer's head with lefts. Baer aimed several left hooks at Braddock's body and one fell low, drawing a warning from the referee. Braddock pounded Baer's body and the champion seemed so remorseful he made little effort to punch back. Braddock leaned into him, and they hammered both hands to the body. Braddock nailed Baer twice with long lefts and rights to the head, but Jimmy had to take a half dozen stiff right uppercuts.

TENTH ROUND—Baer stormed into the challenger trying to nail him with his long right. Braddock met him with a right that damaged the champion's right eye. Braddock half turned Max around with a long right to the ear. Jim hammered both hands to the body, but took three stunning left hooks on the chin. Baer again whipped into the challenger with both hands, then stopped, dropped his fist and laughed as though he had no liking for the business. They posed slowly at long range, trading long lefts, and as they came in close Baer pumped six right uppercuts into the head. Braddock shot a right to the body, but took three hard rights to the ribs, and two more to the head, as the bell sounded. Baer nodded confidently to his handlers as he went to his corner.

ELEVENTH ROUND—Game and still fresh, Braddock pumped lefts to the head. Baer drove two long rights to the body, two to the head, and smashed the challenger fiercely about the head with both hands. Baer tried to throw the challenger through the ropes and drew another warning from Referee McAvoy and the booing reproof of the crowd. Max tried desperately to measure Braddock with a long right, but he couldn't find an opening. They swung in close again slugging furiously and evenly to the body. Braddock swapped rights to to the body and never changed his expression as a half dozen right uppercuts bounced from his chin. Forcing the battle desperately as Braddock slugged gamely back, Baer was ripping right uppercuts to the chin in close as the bell rang.

TWELFTH ROUND—Braddock met Baer three-quarters of the way across the ring and drove a right to the body, then a left hook and right cross to the head. Punching hard and straight, Braddock stabbed Baer's head with a left and then sent a left hook on the champion's chin. Braddock whipped both hands into the champions head, took Baer's furious return assault, and slugged evenly with the champion. Braddock swung two rights to the head, but Baer landed two rights to the body. Baer grinned as Braddock pinned him on the ropes and hammered his head and body with both hands. They slugged furiously in a corner and Baer pounded Braddock's body with a half dozen long rights. They slugged furiously past the bell and Referee McAvoy separated them. Referee McAvoy took the round away from Baer for fouling.

FOURTEENTH ROUND—Braddock walked in with his long left but Baer drilled both hands to his body. Apparently feeling he was behind, Baer punched furiously at the challenger's head with both hands, but Jimmy stood flatfootedly and slugged with him and Max was first to back away. Braddock jabbed twice into the middle of Baer's face, but took a half dozen terrific right swings that reddened his side. Braddock threw two terrific rights to the champion's head. The champion ripped a right uppercut to the Irishman's jaw. Braddock took a fierce right on the side but landed a long right to the head.

FATHER CLAIMS BAER FOUGHT WITH INJURY

San Leandro, Cal., June 13.—(AP)—Tensely and with mingled emotions Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Baer sat in their home here tonight and listened to the description of the fight that deprived their son of the heavyweight championship.

Stunned by the outcome, stolid Jake Baer recovered his poise quickly to praise the ability of the new champion. He said he thought Braddock had won from the description of the fight he heard.

The senior Baer revealed Max had gone into the ring with an injured right hand—he said it was broken.

Jim was floored in the first round, but with the courage born of adversity, he arose and knocked out Griffin in the third round.

Braddock rested on these laurels until John Henry Lewis came from the coast, a menace to the light heavyweight title. Braddock whipped him in ten rounds.

Art Lasky was then being groomed as a heavyweight title contender and Braddock had become a heavyweight. They were paired, but Lasky's illness prevented the bout and Braddock lay idle. Last March Lasky reported himself fit and when they clashed in Madison Square Garden, Braddock won.

Gets Chance at Baer.

The victory over Lasky had brought Braddock fully into the limelight. The state athletic commission rated him the No. 1 challenger for the title and ordered Max Baer to defend his crown against the rejuvenated Braddock or be denied the privilege of fighting in this state.

Braddock was born June 7, 1906, on New York's middle west side. His parents are Irish, natives of Galway.

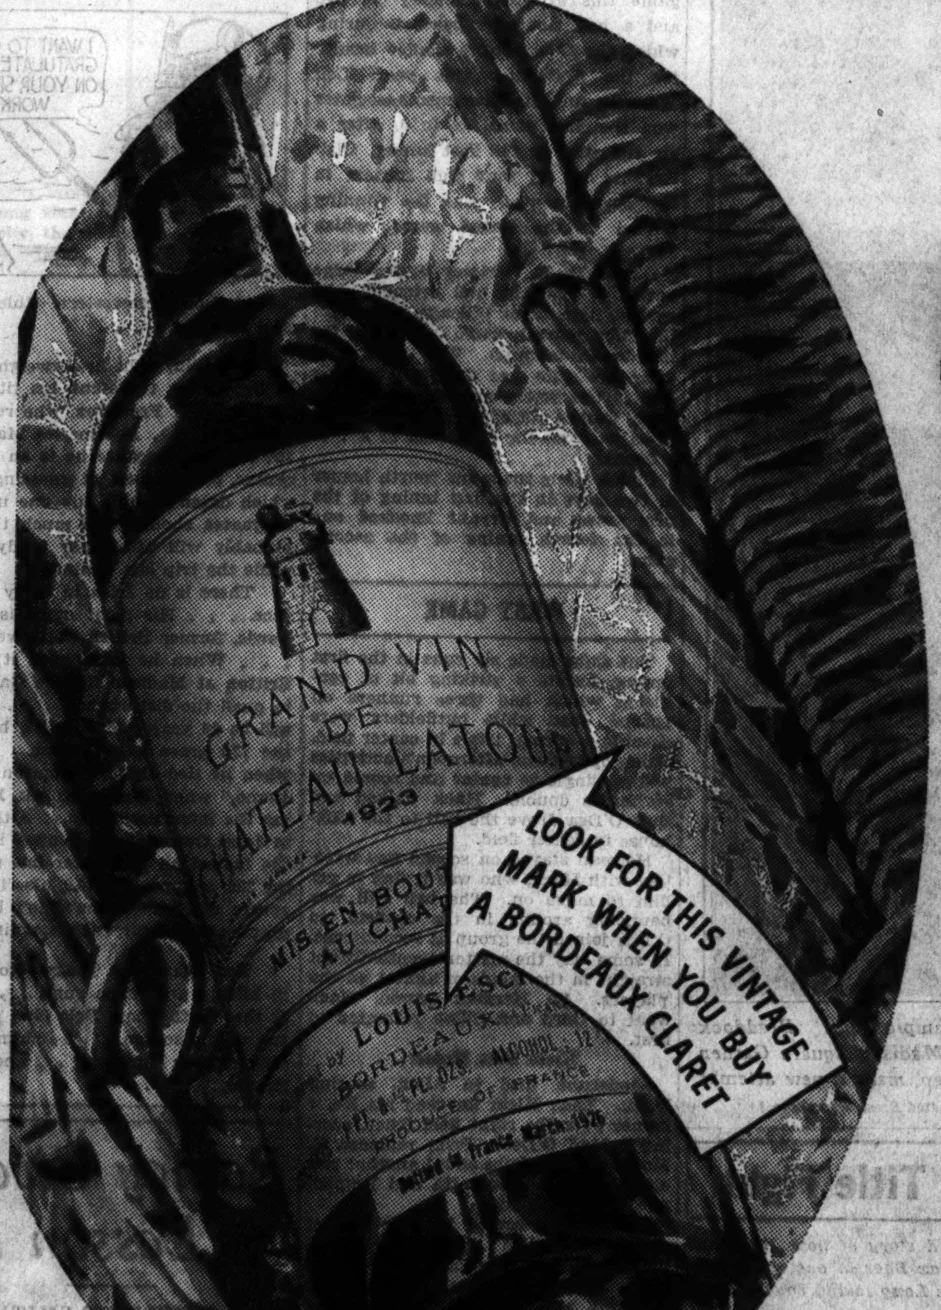
Why is there only one Vintage Cigar?



Because only one company buys filler tobacco by Vintage standards

THE FINEST CIGARS, like the finest wines, are made from Vintage crops. No amount of skillful ageing, blending and rolling can make a cigar good, unless you start with fine tobacco.

That's why tobacco buying is so important. The Vintage quality filler tobaccos used in every White Owl are purchased under the strictest set of standards in the cigar business.

A vast Crop Inspection System follows each year's crop with infinite detail. It knows what kind of seed the farmers plant...how they cultivate the fields. It's the only known system of its kind.

All of this inspection...this careful buying, assures a Vintage quality filler in every White Owl. And a Vintage Mark on the box makes it easy to identify this Vintage cigar.

Vintage WHITE OWL - 5¢

Copr. 1935, General Cigar Co., Inc.

The Story of Vintage Tobaccos

■ The first requirement for Vintage tobacco is pure seed. To get such seed, we grow a few acres of finest tobacco in certain years. As each bud forms, it is covered with a paper bag... preventing contamination from inferior pollen.

■ Our Crop Inspection System, the only known organization of its kind, keeps a check on growing conditions in the finest filler-tobacco districts in America. We know where Vintage tobacco is maturing and buy the best of it for White Owl.

■ Even in Vintage years, our buyers classify all filler tobaccos into seven grades. Only tobacco of the quality of the top three grades is ever used in a White Owl. That's what we mean when we say Grade A Vintage tobacco.

■ If all the tobacco crops were ruined for the next two years—it wouldn't affect the quality of White Owls. At present, we have enough Grade A Vintage filler tobacco mellowing in our warehouses to make nearly one billion White Owls.

180 Golfers Start Play Today in Western Open

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., June 13.—'Way back in 1899 a little group of Chicagoans who had decided to do something about the American career of a game called golf formed themselves into the Western Golf association and promptly identified themselves by holding their first open tournament at the Glen View club, a select affair which finally was won by Willie Smith with a score of 156.

Tomorrow, 36 years after Willie Smith and Glen View, the Western association, now matured to one of the most potent forces in golf, will present the 1935 edition of its open over the Chain o' Lakes course of South Bend Country club with a gathering highly exclusive in talent, if not in numbers. In fact, tomorrow's starting field probably will be five times the small company which inaugurated the event.

Field May Total 200.

Norman B. Freer of the Hinsdale club of the Chicago district, president of the association, tonight said that 180 professionals and amateurs would go to the post in the tournament which bows only to the national in the open field, with the likelihood that tee starters would raise the total to more than 200.

Out of the 180 who were bivouacked on the Chain o' Lakes front tonight were the survivors of last week's siege of Oakmont in the National at Pittsburgh. To this battered band the Western doubtless comes in the nature of a full fourlough after the carnage at Oakmont.

However, this is not to say that the Chain o' Lakes layout is a soft touch for any man's clubs, for the 6,509 yard test will offer the stars in the field more than enough argument, with the support of the pressure that goes with the Western, only slightly less than that in the National.

Cooper Brings Trophy.

One of the first of the Oakmont survivors to arrive today was an energetic young man from the Glen Oak Country club of Chicago, who drove in about noon bearing with him a handsome mug identified as the J. K. Wadley trophy, the pitcher which carries the title with it. He was Harry Cooper, the 31 year old professional who won last year's championship at Peoria, but only after a stirring 36 hole playoff with another Chicagoan, Ky Laffoon of Northmoor. Young Mr. Laffoon allowed he will be about the place tomorrow morning to adjust the matter of possession of the trophy for the ensuing year.

It would be just dandy if Laffoon and Cooper could argue the case for the cup themselves, but they will be opposed by several talented parties for the next three days. There will be eighteen hole rounds tomorrow and Saturday, and the 36 hole finals on Sunday.

Not the least of their competition will be four gents who followed Sam Parks home through the gantlet of Oakmont's traps and greens last Saturday. First of these is the husky Jimmy Thomson of Long Beach, Cal., whose name is used to frighten little fairways, so tremendous are his tee shots.

Thomson finished as runner-up in the National, two strokes back of Parks and one in front of Uncle Walter Hagen, the Western's favorite relative. Uncle Walter, at a late hour this evening, had kept the illusions of his golfing kin safe by failing to appear, but he will doubtless wander on the scene come morning to go after his sixth helping of the championship. His appetite for this title goes back to 1916 and it was so savory then that he returned for fresh orders in 1921, 1926, 1927, and 1932.

Right back of Thomson and Hagen as the firing ceased at Oakmont and ready to go again tomorrow were Denny Shute of Westward-Ho, Chicago, and Ray Mangrum, the lanky Los Angeles bridegroom. Olin Dutra, 1934 open titleholder, was listed as an entry, but had not shown tonight.

Armour Is Present.

Other lights present included Ralph Guldahl and Willie Goggin of California; Tommy Armour of the Medinah club of Chicago, whose 273 in the 1929 tournament still stands as its all time low scoring record; Bill Mehlhorn of Louisville, winner of the 1924 Western; Byron Nelson of Ridgewood, N. J.; Ted Longworth of Portland, Ore.; Abe Espinosa, 1928 champion; Harold McSpaden, the winter sensation from Kansas City; Gene Kunes of Jeffersonville, Pa., and the six members of the touring Japanese team.

Dave Clark to Make Debut as Pro Tonight

Dave Clark, the third member of this year's CHICAGO TRIBUNE Golden Gloves international and intercity championship team to turn professional in recent weeks, will make his pro debut tonight at White City casino, 63d street and South Park avenue. His opponent will be Bob O'Signac, Benton Harbor, Mich., middleweight, in a six round bout. Another six round contest will bring together Lorenzo Pack, Clark's heavyweight teammate, and Big Tim Charles, Louisville, Ky. Pack scored a knockout in his first professional appearance last Friday.

Clark climaxed a two year amateur campaign last May 22 by whipping his Italian foe, Augusto Bonadio, in three rounds in the international Golden Gloves bouts at the Stadium. He lost only two matches in approximately fifty amateur bouts.

Preliminary matches:

George van der Hayden, South Bend, Ind., vs. Hugh Allen, Chicago [6], lightweights. Young George Dixon, Chicago, vs. Wesley Martin [6], junior lightweights. K. O. Brown, Dallas, Tex., vs. Tiny Bittner, Pittsburgh, Pa. [6], welterweights; Joe Brown, Chicago, vs. Scotty McLean, Peoria [4], welterweights.

Promoter Sam Abruscato yesterday arranged four of five supporting matches to the ten round windup between Puggy Weinert and Petey Mike at Western stadium Tuesday. George Engel, Plymouth, Ind., and Scotty McLean will be opponents in the five round semi-final. Four round preliminary affairs will bring together Ernie Kulasik and Bob La Monte at 148 pounds; Karl Martin and Harry Booker at 138, and Joe Wiley and Tony Michaels at 135 pounds. Kulasik has a record of 34 consecutive victories, the last two of which were in professional bouts.

Patsy Severo, Cleveland, O., lightweight, is due in town today to finish preparations for his ten round combat with Davey Day at Marigold Gardens next Monday.

The Catholic Boys' club of New York has selected its representatives for the intercity bouts with the champions of the Catholic Youth organization here July 31. The New York representatives are:

To make American Gold Label, we blended the very choicest whiskeys out of our large stocks. The oldest whiskey in it is rare 18-year-old (8%). The youngest is six years old (17%). The remainder is the finest grain spirits.

No wonder American Gold Label is a great whiskey—full flavored, mellow! But test it yourself before you buy. Let your nose bear witness to its rich smoothness!

On the counter of your neighborhood liquor store is a Gold Label "Whiskey Whiffer." Hold out your hands. Your dealer will spray a little on them. Rub them together. Then inhale!

AMERICA'S LARGEST SHOE RETAILER

MICHELL SENDS OUT 2 WINNERS AT WASHINGTON

Broad Meadows Scores; Then Chief Cherokee.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Trainer B. S. Michell, who was famous a few years back when he was putting the saddle on the American champion Reigh Count, took one bow after another at Washington Park yesterday afternoon.

He saddled the winners of the two best races on the program—two horses, Broad Meadows and Chief Cherokee that had been backed extensively—so it was only natural that the folks make him doff his old gray hat.

Broad Meadows, a graduate from Col. Edward R. Bradley's famous Idle Hour farm, won the six furlong fifth race. He's an inconsistent old cuss, but he stepped to town in this one like nobody's business. He raced out in the middle of the track after the stretch run started, turned on full speed at the sixteenth pole to take the lead, and eventually won by two lengths with Gamaliel second and Hueu third.

Chief Is Easy Winner.

The Chief, who nearly everybody believed was strictly a mud runner, never left the result in doubt. Jocky Johnny King bounced him right out on top and before any of his rivals could say even "Jack Robinson," he was two lengths in front.

He romped into a lead of three lengths at the eight pole. At the sixteenth pole he was four lengths in front, and all the horses back of him appeared to be dizzy. He kept right on with his knitting and was five lengths in front when it ended.

Silver Sickle, from the barn of John Marsch, on which there had been quite a plunge, finished second and was three lengths in front of Pundit when the battle ended. Count Tetrarch, from the stable of Mrs. John Hertz, wound up in fourth place.

Trainer Michell had been forced to be a very patient man before he finally found the spot for Chief Cherokee. L. E. Komorous, who bought the Chief in Louisville last spring, had about lost faith in him, but Trainer Michell never did weaken.

Not a Bad Parlay, Eh!

In his first outing in the Komorous silks the Chief finished fourth. This was a 6½ furlong dash. The next time out he ran second and was beaten by half a length. This was a seven furlong dash and was run in the mud. Next time out the Chief wasn't in a running mood. He finished fifth in another seven furlong race. Then just a week later he tried to win at a mile. Banish Fear, from Col. Bradley's stable, beat him by a length and a half.

Broad Meadows paid $5.46 to win and Chief Cherokee rewarded his followers at $6.54. It was a right nice parlay for those who backed the Michell trained horses. Chief Cherokee carried 118 pounds and served notice that he may be very dangerous in future 3 year old number that bob up on the program at Washington Park.

The largest week day crowd of the season watched the program decided. The races were run over a lightning fast track and Chief Cherokee neared the track record when he won his seven furlong event in 1:24 1-5. This was just fractions of the second off the track record.

Big Trainer Hits Little Trainer; Each Fined $200

Trainers Al Tarn, Winnipeg, Canada, and Paul Kelly, Waukegan, were plastered with $200 fines by the Washington Park stewards yesterday.

Kelly claimed Tarn's horse Pulis out of the last race Wednesday. Tarn, a big 200 pound fellow, didn't like it, and is reported to have encountered Kelly, a little fellow weighing about 140, and plastered him with a couple of vicious rights and lefts. The mêlée took place in the paddock.

According to Society Kid Hogan, who witnessed it, Tarn won the decision.

The biggest field ever to go to the post in a race at Washington Park is in prospect for the first running of the $5,000 Washington Park Juvenile stakes tomorrow. After yesterday's training drills there were 24 prospective starters. They follow:

JUDGE BONELLI, improved and probably much the best, was shuffled back in first three-sixteenths, had to be eased several times when trying to get through on inside in stretch, but eventually obtained sufficient rooom, and after getting up, came away slowly in closing strides. I SEE, making her first start, raced to the lead with a big loss of ground, swerved out after reaching stretch, but held on gamely. WAYALOFT, a strong factor throughout and raced wide, also held on with good courage.

RUSTIC LASSIE, away slowly and missing the crowding, took command gradually after reaching final quarter, and drew out fast in last eighth, but had little left. BROAD MEADOWS, aided by the fast early pace and raced wide throughout, came with a rush in last three-sixteenths and had something left. GAMALIEL, also raced wide, improved his position under strong pressure in stretch and withstood HUEU'S rush. Latter, away poorly, saved ground while far out of it, but was forced to outside in stretch and closed with a rush in a fine effort.

WOMEN GOLFERS STUDY APPROACH SHOTS IN SCHOOL

8,000 Attend Classes; Men Get Turn Tonight.

Eight thousand women and girls swarmed over the fairways of the member courses of the Chicago Daily Fee association last night to participate in the fourth lesson of THE TRIBUNE's third annual golf school.

Never before in the history of group instruction, according to seasoned observers, have attendance figures held up so well as they have in THE TRIBUNE's school this year. Instead of diminishing lesson by lesson, according to the formula for this type of project, the crowds actually have been increasing each week.

Bring Mashies Tonight.

Tonight the men and boys will have their innings. All pupils are requested to bring mashies and mashie-niblicks. The instruction will feature pitching, pitch and run, and straight mashie shots. This part of the school is what pros on the teaching staf call the stroke saving department.

All forms of approach play were emphasized last night, and the value of a short shot in cutting off a stroke was driven home. By the end of the evening most pupils were able to hit crisp shots to the pin.

Mid City had its usual large crowd. About three thousand pupils were present when Mel Thompson called his class to order. Jock Anderson, at Techny Fields, had his crowd of women hitting balls most of the evening. The value of the No. 6 iron shot was impressed upon the group.

A large crowd was on hand early at Evergreen. Al Megeff drilled his pupils on the mashie swing and impressed the value of a short, smooth swing for close approach work.

Classes Drill on Short Irons.

Jack Daray had an enthusiastic group swinging at Mission Hills. Julian Strud at Vernon reviewed the fundamentals of the swing and then concentrated on the short game. Northbrook showed an increase in its class, according to Harold Johnson. The newcomers were given special instruction to bring them up to date, and the entire class was drilled on the short irons.

Tom Walsh at Westgate Valley told his pupils not to be discouraged because of high scores. Walsh is enthusiastic over the progress shown by his pupils and urged them all to carry on the teaching of the school by constant practice.

Big Oaks, Cog Hill, and Big Run all reported satisfactory attendances. Wabansee postponed its classes until Johnny Moran, who is entered in the western open at South Bend, returns Monday. Indian Head had its usual fine turnout.

Three Hundred Turn Out at Elmgate.

Three hundred attended the class at Elmgate, where Buck Kelly, the pro; Dick Martin, Jim Dwyer, and Dick White demonstrated iron shots.

A meeting of the faculty of The Tribune golf school will be held at Westgate Valley next Monday night. Courses where the final form and medal play contests will take place then will be selected.

Chiozza, and Vergez supplied outs to end the game.

SECOND GAME

The Cubs went into the second game with a greatly altered lineup, made necessary because of Cavarretta's stomach ache. Hack was shifted from third to first, Lindstrom from center to third and Cuyler went to center.

The Chicagoans got a one run lead in the first inning on a walk to Galan, Hack's single, a walk to O'Dea, and a forceout on Lindstrom which enabled Galan to score.

Three walks filled the bases with one out in the second. Then Herman singled off the right field fence for his sixth hit of the afternoon. Cuyler and English scored and Galan went to third on Herman's hit and Bill got to second when Ryan fumbled Moore's throw-in. Hack drew the fourth pass of the inning, again filling the bases. O'Dea popped to Vergez. Lindstrom fouled to Camilli.

Phils Take Lead.

Wilson drew Lee's third pass to start the second and stopped at second while Chiozza was reaching first on Hack's fumble. Vergez fouled to Hack, but Ryan singled to right, Wilson scoring and Chiozza stopping at second. Jorgens was safe on Herman's fumble, Chiozza scoring and Ryan taking third. Ryan scored and Jorgens stopped at second while Herman was throwing out Allen.

Watkins singled to center scoring Jorgens, then J. Moore knocked his No. 10 homer over the right field fence, scoring behind Watkins. Bryant replaced Lee and struck out Camilli.

Bryant opened the fourth with a homer into the left field bleachers, a powerful smash against the wind. After Galan had fanned and Herman had grounded out, Hack walked. Jorgens then threw out O'Dea.

Walters Replaces Jorgens.

Ryan opened the home fourth with a single and was forced by Jorgens. Allen doubled to left, Jorgens stopping at third. Watkins bounced to English who threw out Jorgens at the plate. J. Moore singled to center scoring Allen. Camilli lined to Galan.

Bryant got Jorgens' ninth pass to start the eighth. When Jorgens threw two wide ones to Galan, Jorgens was yanked and Manager Wilson called in Bucky Walters, Walters threw two more wide ones to pass Galan. Herman popped to Ryan and Hack bounced out to Camilli, O'Dea got credit for a single, the fifth Cub hit, when Chiozza had to go back of second to grab his grounder. Bryant scored on the hit and when Chiozza made a bad throw to first, Galan also scored. Chiozza threw out Lindstrom.

Klein opened the ninth with a single off the right field fence and moved up on Cuyler's sacrifice. Hartnett batted for English and grounded out to Haslin, Klein holding second. Demaree batted for Bryant and drew the eleventh Philly pass. Galan knocked a homer over the right field fence, his third of the series, scoring behind Klein and Demaree. Ryan threw out Herman.

78 Yachts to Start Michigan City Cruise

Sixty sailing yachts and 18 power cruisers have entered the Columbia Yacht club's 44th annual Michigan City race, which will be held tomorrow.

The sailing fleet will cover 32.5 nautical miles if the wind is steady from the west, but the route will be longer if head winds are encountered. This distance in statute, or land, miles is 37⅓ miles. A two leg course, first to the Indiana Shoals gas buoy, and then to Michigan City, will be taken by the motor yachts. This distance is 39.61 statute miles. The winner of the power boat race is the yacht which finishes closest to its declared time. Frank Bush's 50 foot cruiser, Marjac, won the power class race last year.

Princess, the Jedzry-Kowski, Kallgren owned sloop which took first place in the universal division last year, will defend its title. The crew will consist of Oscar Eskonen, E. Kral, and Emery Soderberg, in addition to the owners as skippers. Bagheera, winner of cruising division time prize in 1934, is now owned by John T. [Buddy] Snite. Skipper Snite will command a crew of five, including Lynn Williams, Hollis Gleason, Grover Steffen, Albert Snite Sr., and Albert Snite Jr.

Five new windjammers will be racing to Michigan City for the first time. Largest of these is Marchioness, Norman Marsh's 68 foot auxiliary topsail sloop, which arrived this week in Belmont harbor by way of the Great Lakes from Miami, Fla. John O'Rourke's new 8 meter class sloop, Shamrock, also will cross the lake for the first time.

easy in the sixth. Before he knew what was taking place the Senators had helped themselves to two runs. A double by Travis and Powell's homer to left were the contributing factors. A single and pass followed, but the inning ended without any more Senators getting around to the plate. However, one of them managed this feat in the seventh. It was Myer, who shot his homer into the left field seats.

The Senators picked up two useless runs in the ninth on a single by Stone, a pass to Myer, an infield out, Powell's long fly and singles by Schulte and Bolton. With two still on the bases and two out Manush was sent forth to bat for Bluege. He flied to Simmons for the final out.

Instead of pitching John Whitehead, as planned, against the Senators in the final today, Manager Jim Dykes may switch to Carl Fischer, thus leaving the Texas league rookie for use tomorrow, when the Yankees open at Comiskey park. Whitehead has faced every team in the league except the Yanks. Jack Russell may be the enemy starter.

Heinie Manush, the Senators' regular left fielder, was granted a day off. He complained that his bunion was about ready to explode.

During his argument Wednesday with Ump Owens, Manager Harris of the Senators exclaimed: "If you were a homing pigeon turned loose in China you would fly right back to this ball park." The inference was that Owens was a "homer," a term that umpires regard as slanderous. That's why Harris was banished from the field.

Attendance was around the 5,000 mark, exclusive of another large batch of guests from a couple of grammar schools.

CATCHER PYTLAK MAY TAKE LEAVE DUE TO ILLNESS

Cleveland, O., June 13.—(AP)—Pennant aspirations of the Cleveland Indians received another jolt today when Catcher Frankie Pytlak said he is considering leaving the team Saturday for an indefinite period to recover from an illness.

Pytlak and Bill Brenzel are now the Tribe's only catchers, since Manager Walter Johnson a few weeks ago gave Glenn Myatt an unconditional release, which Johnson said was "for the good of the team."

The next three rounds were a duplication of the earlier portions of the bout. The boys jumped about without inflicting much damage. In the ninth round Ramey landed a solid right which brought the crowd up with a cheer, but it didn't seem to bother Rodak.

Ramey took the tenth and eleventh rounds by forcing the fighting. He carried the battle to Rodak and while he didn't hurt Leo he scored the necessary points. Rodak missed twice in the eleventh with hard rights to the jaw.

Both really fought in the final round. Standing toe to toe they pumped rights and lefts to the body. Ramey's left hand kept Rodak at a distance when the Chicago boy threatened. A looping right to the body scored points for Ramey. It was Ramey's round.

Clinton Bridges, Golden Gloves international light heavyweight champion, won his third professional fight by scoring a technical knockout over Wilson Dunn, Oklahoma City Indian, in the third round. Bridges had the better of the first two rounds. In the third round Bridges tagged Dunn with a long right and at the same time the Indian attempted to avoid the blow. The result was that Dunn went through the ropes at the west side of the ring and fell into the press row.

GIN FLAVOR MYSTERY REVEALED AT LAST!

America waited 13 years for Repeal—but the world had to wait more than 300 years for completely uniform gin! Until the opening of Hiram Walker's Peoria distillery, a year ago, it was considered impossible to produce a gin which would never vary in flavor.

How the "C. C." Process Differs from Ordinary Distilling

Ordinary gin distilling processes regulate only the quantity of juniper berries, coriander seeds, sweet orange peel and other herbal ingredients. And because these ingredients constantly vary in quality it is inevitable that the finished gin should also vary in flavor.

But "Controlled Condensation" eliminates this variation by regulating the actual flavor of the herbal ingredients—not just the quantity. They are distilled into the grain spirits at different proofs according to the exact requirements of the famous Hiram Walker formula.

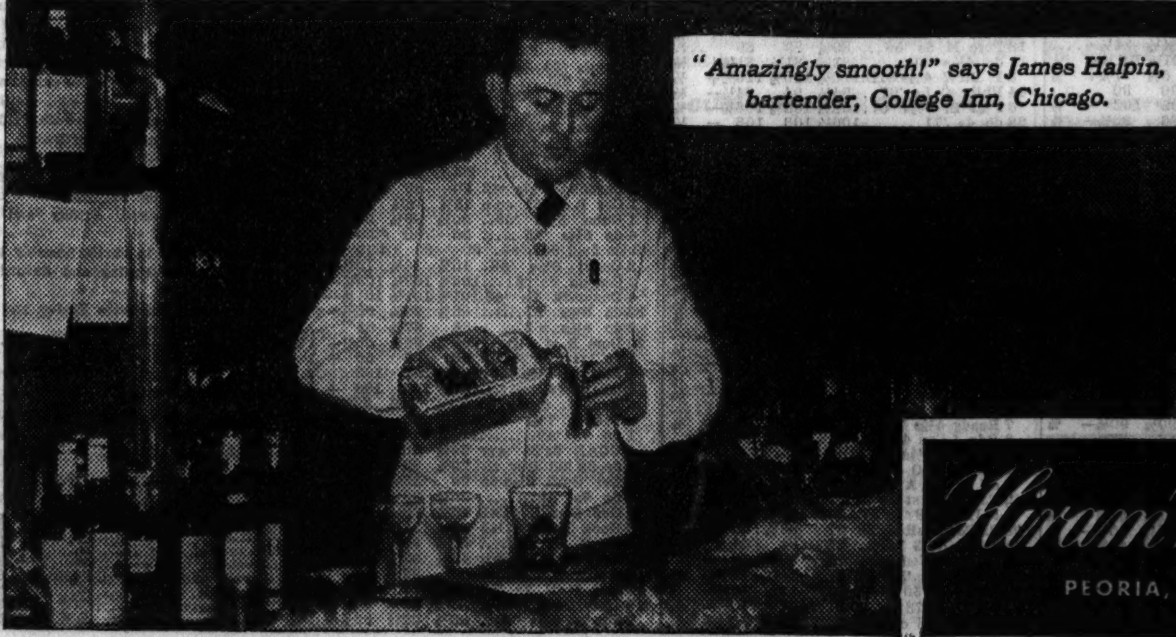
Every Bottle Has the Same Perfect Flavor and Smoothness

The result is perfectly balanced gin. There's no chance of any flavor "going haywire" because nothing is left to chance! Every single bottle has the same perfect flavor and smoothness—whether you buy it in Massachusetts or California!

And that's why Hiram Walker's Distilled London Dry Gin has become the national favorite during the past year. Drink mixers—amateur and professional—have discovered that it's the gin you can always depend upon. You don't have to change your recipes to atone for changes in your gin!

It Costs You No More

Hiram Walker's London Dry Gin is finer gin because it's distilled from the finest grain spirits with the finest herbal ingredients. It's the only completely uniform gin, thanks to Hiram Walker's "C.C." Process. Yet it costs no more. Why not try it—today?



"Amazingly smooth!" says James Halpin, bartender, College Inn, Chicago.

How Kelpamalt Helped Me Add The Powerful Extra Lbs. That Enabled Me to Win the World's Championship!

"Jimmy" Braddock
THE NEW HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION

"Kelpamalt gave me the weight and strength I needed to get real steam behind my punches. I am certain it helped me win."
"Jimmy" Braddock

Reveals Secret of His Startling Improvement — Recommends Kelpamalt to Every Skinny, Rundown Man and Woman Who Wants to Add Extra Lbs. of Good, Solid Flesh, Tireless Strength and Rugged Energy

The amazing story of James J. Braddock's smashing victory over Max Baer for the Heavyweight Championship of the World, a victory which has astounded every sports expert and fan all over the country, can now be told!

Always light for his previous fights, Braddock knew that without any considerable increase in weight he could not acquire the crushing strength and shattering power needed to win the contest. At the suggestion of a noted conditioner of famous athletes, Braddock turned to Kelpamalt, which experts in nutrition and health authorities all over the world hail as the finest weight and strength builder to be had.

In 6 short weeks, the new champion packed on 26 rugged pounds of good, solid flesh and acquired the driving, dynamic power behind his punch that spelled victory.

Braddock knew what he needed when he started Kelpamalt. For, this new mineral concentrate from the sea gets right down and corrects the real underlying cause of skinniness—IODINE STARVED GLANDS. When these glands don't work properly, all the food in the world can't help you. It just isn't turned into flesh. The result is, you stay skinny.

The most important gland—the one which actually controls body weight—needs a definite ration of iodine all the time—NATURAL ASSIMILABLE IODINE—not to be confused with chemical iodides which often prove toxic—but the same iodine that is found in tiny quantities in spinach and lettuce. Only when the system gets an adequate supply of iodine can you regulate metabolism — the body's process of converting digested food into firm flesh, new strength and energy.

Braddock, in an interview immediately after the fight, said, "Never felt better—and I want to state that a big share of the credit for my success tonight—for the wonderful condition I was in—is due to Kelpamalt. I never had more endurance, felt stronger or tired less in all my experience in the ring. And the 26 lbs. which Kelpamalt helped me put on in 6 weeks before the fight, put real power and drive behind my punches. You can use this to tell any skinny, underweight man or woman anywhere that Kelpamalt's the greatest weight and strength builder there is."—James J. Braddock.

To get NATURAL IODINE as well as 12 other needed body minerals in convenient, concentrated and assimilable form, take Kelpamalt—now considered the world's richest source of this precious substance. Try Kelpamalt for a single week and notice the difference—how much better you feel, how ordinary stomach distress vanishes, how firm flesh appears in place of scrawny hollows—and the new energy and strength it brings you. Start Kelpamalt today. If you don't gain at least 5 lbs. in 1 week the trial is free.

100 jumbo size Kelpamalt tablets—four to five times the size of ordinary tablets—cost but a few cents a day to use. Get Kelpamalt today.

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Activity in bond trading on the New York Stock exchange tapered off somewhat today from yesterday's fast pace, but the general tone was strong and moderate price advances prevailed. Transfers totaled only $10,244,000, par value, against $14,481,000 in the preceding day's dealings.

The promptness with which selling in the speculative rail group was checked caused surprise in some quarters. Prices moved ahead quickly to the year's highs set yesterday. Nickel Plate was a feature of the advance, moving ahead 2 points. Other strong issues were Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, K. C. Southern 5s, Southern Pacific 4½s, M.-K.-T. 5s, and N. Y. Ontario & Western Refunding 4s.

Utility Bonds Supported.

Operating utilities were supported and there was a better tone in holding company issues as the fight on the administration bill appeared to have reached a deadlock in Washington. Some of the holding company bonds made further recoveries of yesterday's setback.

Utility bonds about even to moderately higher included American Water Works 6s, Columbia Gas 5s, Laclede Gas 5½s and Consolidated Gas 5½s. American & Foreign Power 5s rallied for a gain of 2 points, but Utilities Power & Light 5s dropped 3 points. Postal Telegraph 5s advanced a fraction.

Industrial Bonds Quiet.

Industrial bonds were quiet. Issues edging a bit higher included Armour of Delaware 5½s, International Paper 5s, Loew's 6s, Penn-Dixie 6s, and U. S. Rubber 5s.

Although the U. S. government department was quiet, gains of 1-32d and 4-32ds of a point predominated here.

There was little exciting in the foreign sections. French 7½s dropped 3½ points to 176 and the 7s were off ¼ at the same level, but other European obligations were held around their Wednesday's closing prices.

Consolidated Cigar.

Investors' Guide: I have inclosed a stamped self-addressed envelope for reply to my inquiry for information on Consolidated Cigar.—D. G. W.

Answer: Consolidated Cigar company is one of the leading cigar manufacturers. The industry in which it operates, even before the depression, had become increasingly dependent on the sale of five cent cigars. During the last few years this trend has become accentuated.

In the last year and a half, in addition, tobacco prices have risen sharply and production costs also have increased.

Consolidated Cigar's plants are highly mechanized and consequently production costs are comparatively low. Some of its more widely advertised brands are New Bachelor, Harvester, Henry George, El Producto and Dutch Masters.

During the first quarter of 1935 net income fell off to $89,000, which was only 64 per cent of prior preferred dividend requirements, against $105,000, which was 75 per cent of prior preferred dividend requirements, for the corresponding 1934 period.

Output in 1934 expanded sharply, but higher costs prevented income from increasing proportionately. Net profit was $766,000, or 26 cents per common share, against $486,000, which failed to cover prior preferred dividends, for 1933. Net income in 1932 was $924,000, against $2,110,000 in 1931.

Current position at the close of 1934 was strong. Current assets were more than 30 times current liabilities.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 83,308 shares of 6½ per cent cumulative prior preferred stock, par $100, 22,249 shares of $100 par 7 per cent cumulative preferred and 250,000 shares of no par common. Dividends have been paid regularly on both classes of preferred, but nothing on the common since April 1, 1932.

Majestic Household Utilities.

Investors' Guide: Can you give me any information regarding Majestic Household Utilities company?—M. L.

Answer: In 1931 stock of Majestic Household Utilities company was exchanged for stock of Grigsby-Grunow company. The latter is now being liquidated by Frank M. McKey, trustee in bankruptcy.

Book value of assets was listed at $14,000,000 at the time the company was placed in bankruptcy, and later scaled down to a $5,000,000 appraisal. Liabilities were placed at $6,000,000.

On March 12, 1935, the first liquidating dividend, totaling $786,168, was mailed to creditors.

What, if anything, stockholders will receive will depend on the amount realized from sale of the company's assets. If the amount is insufficient to pay off debts, which appears likely, the stockholders will receive nothing.

RUMORS OF U. S. BUYING CAUSE ADVANCE IN BUTTER

Repeated rumors that the commodity purchase division of the AAA was contemplating the purchase of surplus butter for relief purposes had some effect on futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, the November delivery closing ⅛ cent per pound higher at 24⅞ cents. The upturn was in the face of continued bearish reports as to the into storage movement.

October eggs developed considerable activity, the government report showing cold storage supplies well below last year and the five year average stimulated speculative buying and short covering. The market advanced as much as ½ cent per dozen early. Profit taking developed later and the close was at 25¾ cents, or the same as on Wednesday. November cheese gained ⅛ cent per pound. Sales of butter futures were 82 cars; eggs, 183 cars, and cheese, 1 car. Prices follow:

AM. TELEPHONE, ALUMINUM CO. MAY REFINANCE

Great Northern Reported Planning Big Issue.

Possibilities for refinancing the funded debt of three of the nation's largest corporations, the American Telephone and Telegraph company Telephone and Telegraph company, the Aluminum Company of America, and the Great Northern railroad, to reduce interest charges were discussed in the financial district yesterday.

Officials of American Telephone in New York were noncommittal regarding refinancing, although they admitted the problem has been discussed. Refinancing by the Mellon controled Aluminum Company was reported to be closer to announcement.

It was pointed out that American Telephone would be able to effect a considerable saving if it took advantage of present low interest rates, its interest bill now amounting to about $50,000,000 a year. Funded debt of the company, excluding intercompany holdings, amounts to $454,484,613.

Great Northern Plan Reported.

Reports circulating in the financial district said that the Great Northern railroad is preparing plans for the refunding of nearly 106 millions of 7 per cent bonds which mature July 1, 1936. According to these reports the RFC would take about half of the new issue of 5s and present bondholders the remainder. Holders would receive payment of 50 per cent in cash.

However, when asked in New York if the RFC would participate in the program Chairman Jones replied that the subject had been discussed but nothing, "even informal," had been done about it.

The Aluminum Company's funded debt of $33,044,000 is in the form of 5 per cent debentures, due in 1952, but callable on sixty days' notice. The next interest date being Sept. 1, notice would have to be given by July 1. The debentures are selling currently at 106, 1 point above the call price. The financial district mentions the possibility of refinancing on a basis of 4 per cent.

Much Refunding Expected.

Estimates in the financial district place the amount of new bonds, mostly for refunding purposes, which may be put on the market within the next few months in excess of a half billion dollars.

Among the companies which have announced large refinancing operations are Bethlehem Steel with $55,000,000, Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston with $53,000,000, and Southern California Edison company with $35,000,000.

The Consolidated Oil corporation has called for payment and redemption on Aug. 12 all its first lien collateral 6½ per cent bonds due June 1, 1938. Total principal amount of both issues now outstanding is $48,781,[illegible]. The plan of the company to refinance these obligations was announced some time ago.

The Electric Auto-Lite company is contemplating the issue of about $5,000,000 in bonds, the proceeds from which would be used in retiring the 41,807 shares of preferred stock.

The Commonwealth Edison company has issued the call for redemption on July 22 of its first mortgage 4½ per cent series E bonds, at 102 and accrued interest and 5½ per cent series G bonds at 105 and accrued interest. The bonds were due in 1960 and 1962 respectively.

LARD DROPS SHARPLY AS COMMISSION HOUSES SELL

Selling of lard futures by commission houses, who were presumably closing spreads with grain, put considerable pressure on the former yesterday, especially the December delivery, and prices dropped sharply. The finish was at the bottom with net losses of 10 to 27½ cents, July showing the most strength.

Bellies were nominatelly unchanged. Cash lard was quoted at $13.65; loose, $13.85, and leaf, $14. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

LIVE STOCK DIPS AS DEMAND FOR MEAT SHRINKS

Continued warm weather and sluggishness in the wholesale meat trade had a bearish effect on live stock again yesterday and lower rates were the rule. Offerings were light for a Thursday, but this was offset by sharply curtailed buying orders, both on local and shipping account. Reports from the consumers' strike area of New York indicated that the situation there was not as acute as a week ago. Slaughtering of calves and lambs was normal again in the eastern city, it was said.

Wth the exception of cheaper grades of steers that have held up well all through the price slashing of the last six weeks, cattle were weak to 25 cents lower, good to choice grades showing most of the loss.

Nothing in yesterday's supply was good enough to bring over $12.50. Most steers were of the kinds bringing $9 to $11.50, those below the $10 line showing little or no change.

Lamb prices fell 25 to 50 cents, closing mostly 40 to 50 cents lower. New crop natives sold to city butchers at $9.25. Packers sorted stock at $8.75 and under.

The hog trade was slightly uneven, but most sales were about in line with Wednesday. Demand again favored stock under 250 pounds, eastern buyers paying up to $12.15, tax included, for selected grade of 200 to 230 pound averages, while 275 to 300 pound butchers sold at $11.50 to $11.85. A few 400 pounders brought $11.25. The average at $11.60, tax included, was unchanged.

FDIC WILL WARN BANKS OVER NEW GUARANTEE ACT

Must Get Ready for Permanent Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—The Federal Deposit Insurance corporation was forced to take two precautionary measures today because of the increasing possibility that the administration banking bill will not pass the senate before July 1.

The 14,000 FDIC banks will be reminded that they must be certified to and buy stock in the "permanent" deposit insurance fund by July 1. The "permanent" plan will automatically take effect on that date unless the new banking bill or some other measure postponing the effective date is rushed through congress in two weeks.

The FDIC also is preparing a special joint resolution extending the present "temporary" insurance system for six or seven months. An attempt will be made to get this resolution rushed through congress independently of the banking bill.

Issue Warning at Week-End.

The warning to the banks to prepare for the "permanent" system will go out over the week-end and is a precautionary measure. FDIC officials will make extraordinary efforts to amend the law so that the "permanent" plan will not go into effect July 1, but they want the banks to be prepared for all eventualities.

All of the 14,000 banks now in the FDIC on a "temporary" basis must apply for class A stock in the FDIC, must then submit to a thorough examination by federal or state examiners, and must be certified as solvent before July 1 or be thrown out of the insurance fund if the "permanent" plan takes effect.

A staggering amount of work would have to be rushed through in two weeks. The class A stock certificates have not even been printed by the FDIC. The controler of the currency would have to certify to the solvency of 5,462 national banks, the federal reserve board to 980 state member banks, and various state authorities to almost 8,000 other FDIC members.

Some Banks Need Capital.

That a few banks could not pass the test of solvency is privately admitted by officials. About sixty national banks and state bank members of the reserve system are in need of additional capital to make all their assets cover their liabilities.

In addition the FDIC liability would be increased because the insurance, instead of covering a maximum of $5,000 on each deposit, as it now does, would be extended. The FDIC would guarantee everything up to $10,000, also 75 per cent of the excess over $10,000 and under $50,000, and 50 per cent of the excess over $50,000.

Thus the liability of the FDIC member banks would also be increased since they must buy class A stock in the FDIC in an amount equal to one-half of 1 per cent of their insured deposits.

Launching of the "permanent" insurance system on July 1, as required by the banking act of 1933 as amended, is virtually impossible because of all of these exacting and unanticipated preliminaries. The administration will bend every effort to postpone the effective date of the "permanent" plan at least.

Banking Bill Makes Change.

The banking bill now pending in the senate would repeal the "permanent" plan and continue the "temporary" system under which the banks and FDIC are now operating with some changes. FDIC officials had been expecting this bill to pass and are now caught off guard by the strong possibility that it may be delayed until after July 1 and the "permanent" plan become automatically effective.

To remedy the situation temporarily they hope to rush through congress a resolution postponing the effective date for at least six months. Hope of getting the entire banking bill, including its controversial changes in the federal reserve system, through congress before July 1 has been abandoned.

Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], chairman of the senate subcommittee which is delaying the banking bill, and other opponents of the administration bill will gladly support such a resolution. It will remove one element of urgency from the bill and permit them to delay still further the controversial sections increasing government control of the banks.

Still Work on Bank Bill.

The Glass banking subcommittee completed its revision of deposit insurance provisions of the administration banking bill today by inserting a section requiring all state banks with a capital of $1,000,000 or more to join the federal reserve system by July 1, 1937, in order to retain federal insurance.

The committee has written into the bill a yearly assessment of 1-12 of 1 per cent on total deposits of banks to make up the insurance fund. Collected in semi-annual payments, this assessment compares with a levy of ½ per cent on insurable deposits under the existing insurance fund, and with ⅛ per cent on all deposits in the bill passed by the house.

The committee, sharply divided over sections of the measure placing currency and credit control in the reserve board, will meet tomorrow to decide whether to consider these provisions now or seek to sidetrack them until next session.

Congress' Act Remedies Bank Law Blunder

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Signature by President Roosevelt of a joint congressional resolution giving officers of federal reserve member banks another three years in which to pay outstanding personal loans from their own banks will be applauded by bankers throughout the country.

The resolution was passed by both houses of congress on Tuesday and forwarded to the White House for signature. It is aimed to remedy a serious blunder in the banking act of 1933 which set next Sunday, June 16, as the deadline for payment of bankers' borrowings from their own banks.

Latest available figures show that nearly 90 million dollars of such loans are still outstanding. They are being paid off gradually, in most cases under written agreements calling for the deduction of certain amounts per year from salaries.

There has been no insinuation of scandal or violation of law in the making of these loans. In most cases they were made as part of plans whereby bank officers were acquiring a stake in their own institutions by buying stock on partial payments. The market collapse in 1929 which dropped the bottom out of quotations on bank stocks made it impossible for the bank officers to pay their loans in the expected time.

Eventually a large proportion of these loans is expected to be paid out of salaries, but it will take time. Had the provision of the 1933 banking act requiring final payment by June 16 been allowed to stand banks would have had to discharge officers whose debts had not been fully paid. That would have effectively precluded further payment and would also have cost the banks the services of many good men.

Banks Ask Nichols for Pointers on How to Resist the FDIC.

J. M. [100 Per Cent] Nichols, president of the First National bank of Englewood, who challenged the constitutionality of the statute requiring all national banks to pay assessments to the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, by flatly refusing to pay, is being asked for pointers by managements of other national banks who dislike the federal deposit guaranty plan.

"We in our bank are contemplating whether we can get out of this insurance," says the cashier of a large Kansas institution in a letter to Nichols, "and we are wondering if it has ever been assessed against you in the way of a fine for noncompliance, and if so, have they tried to collect?"

Nichols, who from the first refused to join even the temporary guaranty and who has declined to listen to veiled threats of a "crackdown" from Washington, gives the Kansan little hope.

"On July 1," he replied, "the permanent insurance plan goes automatically into effect, thereby clamping an unlimited liability upon your depositors and stockholders alike. With less than three weeks to go, it is too late now to resist. You folks who have signed on the dotted line and have gone along without the slightest resistance have no one to blame but yourselves.

"Had the sound banks of this country put their shoulders to the wheel, that small band of Washington politicians could not have got to first base. So far they have not even dared to sue us or attempt to collect their proposed fine, but, with the rest of you fellows in the bag, I suppose they will turn their attention to us.

"In which event I will post a sign in our lobby and will publicly announce that I have placed my own money in a safety deposit box and feel that it is time for others to do the same. If this administration will not tolerate the existence of sound banks such as ours, then I should prefer to spend the rest of my days golfing and fishing rather than break faith with those people who have intrusted their funds to me."

Treasury Makes Slow Headway in Purchasing Silver Stock.

Despite the fact that the United States treasury has bought 421 million ounces of silver during the last ten months it has reduced by only 163 million ounces the total amount of silver that it originally had to buy to carry out the terms of the silver purchase act of 1934, which instructed the treasury to buy enough silver to achieve the ratio of 1 to 3 between the country's silver and gold stocks.

When the silver purchase act was passed a year ago, as the administration sought to satisfy the clamor of the silver senators and silver producing interests, it was estimated that about 1 billion 308 million ounces of silver would have to be bought, in addition to the 691 ounces already held by the treasury.

Secretary Morgenthau has just disclosed that in the ten months ended May 31 a total of 421 million ounces had been acquired. But in the same period the nation's gold stocks increased about one billion dollars, which meant that approximately 258 million additional ounces of silver would be needed.

In buying 421 million ounces in ten months—2.7 times the actual total world production for that period—Secretary Morgenthau has got only 163 million ounces nearer to his goal, but his buying operations have raised the cost of the silver he must buy more than 60 per cent.

RFC CHAIRMAN HOLDS DEMAND LOAN CLUB OVER NEW YORK BANKS

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—The controversy between New York bankers and the Reconstruction Finance corporation over how loans to the New York Central railroad should be carried is fast approaching a showdown. Jesse Jones, chairman of the RFC, has informed the bankers that unless they agree to place their $63,000,000 of demand loans to the road on a time basis the RFC will likewise place its $27,500,000 in loans to the road on a demand basis, it was reported today.

Jones has consistently adhered to the position that the bank loans should be funded in the form of ten year notes. Previously he forced the banks, of which there was eleven headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., to reduce interest on the loans from 4½ per cent annually to 4 per cent.

The bankers have refused to fund the loans, they say, for technical reasons. Under their present status they have a preferred position since some $119,000,000 of collateral is pledged on their loans.

Jones has held that conversion of the loans into time loans would be of material benefit to the railroad.

The New York Central railroad disagrees with him, however, it was learned today, although officials of the company refused to comment.

An RFC loan of $11,100,000 to the Central matures June 30. Wall street is waiting to see whether Jones will attempt to force his point of view by refusing to extend the loan unless the bankers fulfill his wishes.

OFFER BOND FOR TAXES AS TEST OF GOLD RULING

Washington, D. C., June 13.—(AP)—A new test of congress' power to abrogate gold payment promises in government bonds was ready for presentation tonight based upon the stipulation in some federal securities that they shall be receivable in payment of taxes.

On Saturday, when income tax payments fall due, a $1,000 government gold bond maturing that day will be presented at the treasury with a demand that it be received in lieu of $1,690 in taxes. The principals in the move, said to be a group prominent in New York financial circles, will be represented by Robert Jackson, former Democratic national committeeman from New Hampshire.

When the bond was first sold by the government a dollar was the legal equivalent of 25.8 grains of gold. Since then, the gold content of the dollar has been reduced to 15 7-21 grains of gold. In other words, what was then the gold equivalent of $1,000 is now the equivalent of $1,690. The Supreme court held congress had no power to change the terms of government bonds. But it held, too, that an actual loss as the result of the nullification had to be shown to obtain compensation.

Those behind the contemplated action will contend that in the light of the ruling the government must accept the bond for taxes to the extent of the equivalent in present currency of the quantity of gold represented by the original terms of the bond. Otherwise, their contention is to be, the holder of the bond will have suffered an actual loss for which he is entitled to compensation.

Oliver Farm Equipment Puts Check on Stock Plan

The 75,000 shares of common stock reserved for sale to officers and employés of the Oliver Farm Equipment company under the pending recapitalization plan will not be disposed of without approval of all stockholders, C. R. Messinger, chairman, said yesterday.

U. S. Supply of Gold Now Over 9 Billion

The monetary gold supply of the United States rose above the 9 billion dollar mark last week, according to the report of the federal reserve system issued yesterday. The week's gold importations, aggregating 100 million dollars, boosted the total stocks to 9,016 million dollars, a gold hoard which has never been approached by any other country.

Today world gold stocks, in new dollars, total about 22,000 million dollars of which the United States holds more than 40 per cent.

The most significant immediate result of the recent gold importations was further expansion in available credit reserves in the American banking system which again mounted to a new high level. The reserves of the member banks of the federal reserve system jumped 135 million dollars to 5,049 millions.

Affords Vast Credit Base.

The total of surplus reserves, the amount in excess of legal requirements, is now more than 2,500 millions and provides the basis for an expansion of bank credit ten times that amount.

The bank reserves are now 1,154 millions more than a year ago, which increase roughly corresponds with the gain of 1,196 millions during the same period in monetary gold stocks. The increase in gold since Jan. 31, 1934, when the dollar devaluation was proclaimed by the President, has amounted to 2,187 millions, exclusive of the appreciation growing out of devaluation.

While gold importations continued last week the deposits of foreign banks with the federal reserve system continued to fall. Foreign banks have been using these funds to support their currencies.

Bank Credit Expands Moderately.

The condition statement of the reserve member banks in Chicago and New York showed a moderate expansion in bank credit in both cities. Chicago banks loaned out an additional 6 millions to commercial borrowers and increased their investments by 17 millions. At the same time their reserves expanded 44 millions.

In New York a net expansion of 43 millions in bank credit was reported. Brokers loans were 37 millions above the preceding week and commercial loans gained 24 millions.

DRAFT NEW AAA ACT TO CONFORM TO NRA DECREE

Washington, D. C., June 13.—(AP)—Legislation intended by its authors to clinch the constitutionality of the New Deal's farm program was completed today by the house agriculture committee and scheduled for consideration on the floor next week.

Revamped in an effort to make the AAA conform to the standards of the Supreme court's NRA decision, the amendments still retained many of the objectives sought by Secretary Wallace. The bill retains discretionary power for Wallace to "order" marketing agreements on handlers of milk, tobacco, fruits [excluding apples], vegetables [excluding those for canning], naval stores, and turpentine if 50 per cent of the handlers by volume want such agreements or if two-thirds the producers in a given class desire them.

The measure also says that, in a carefully defined range of interstate commerce, prices paid to milk producers may be set by the government and milk retailers subjected to "orders."

U. S. WILL DELAY MAJOR FINANCING BEYOND JUNE 30

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—Secretary Morgenthau indicated today that no major financing operations to raise new money would be undertaken by the treasury prior to the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

Another issue of $100,000,000 in bonds with a three per cent interest rate may be offered to the highest bidders, as the recent offering of that type proved successful, but if this is done it will not be for another week or ten days.

Meanwhile, the way will be left clear, except for the usual weekly sale of $100,000,000 in treasury bills, which was announced today, for the refinancing by the federal land banks of $269,000,000 of their 4½ per cent bonds to be redeemed on July 1. This is in line with the policy of conducting financial operations of the treasury and other governmental agencies on a basis which will facilitate their success.

REORGANIZING OF ROADS HIT BY BOND OWNERS

Halt North Western, Milwaukee Plans.

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Plans of capital readjustment proposed by the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad and the Chicago and North Western railway appeared to be doomed today as large bondholders mustered their strength to oppose any sacrifice that would leave stockholders unscathed. Both plans were discussed at a meeting of insurance company and saving bank officials this morning.

A special conference of North Western bondholders with officials of that road began this afternoon at the offices of the Metropolitan Insurance company, but adjourned without reaching a definite agreement on details of a reorganization plan. A smaller committee from the bondholders was appointed to study the plan further in conjunction with the officers of the road. A definite date has not been set for the meeting of the smaller committee, but it is expected it will assemble within a few days.

Sargent Explains Situation.

Before the meeting Fred W. Sargent, president of the North Western, said the plan submitted by the company did not affect the stockholders of the railroad. Asked whether the bondholders did not object to that, he said: "They would receive all the earnings. What more could they get?"

To the suggestion that if earnings were inadequate the bondholders might like control of the property, he remarked that they did not seem to want that, although it was their right under the contract. However, if a petition were filed under section 77 of the bankruptcy act, foreclosure would be blocked.

Sargent said the plan gave some recognition to the 4¾ per cent debentures, on which interest has not been paid. The period of grace for payment expires June 30.

"We are a long way from default on any mortgages," he added.

Plan Debenture Interest.

From other sources it was learned the company proposes to pay 50 cents annual interest on the convertible debentures during the five year moratorium period, in recognition of the importance of the funds that were acquired through the sale of those bonds. Assignment of this intangible element of value to the position of the debentures is being protested vigorously by holders of senior mortgages.

Service of the Reconstruction Finance corporation loans would be continued in full because of the importance of retaining control of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railway, whose bonds are among the securities pledged with the RFC. The Railroad Credit corporation also would receive full interest.

Under a formula by which earnings within each state are allocated to the various mortgages, it is understood the general mortgage bond group would be given 54 per cent of its interest during the readjustment period.

Bondholders Raise Objections.

The formula adopted, allocating expenses on the same ratio as gross revenues, is criticized by the bondholders on the ground that it does not distinguish between clearly unprofitable divisions that are secured by separate liens, and the profitable lines.

Holders of the first and refunding mortgage, under the company's plan, would receive about one-third of the interest requirement. Preferred and common stocks would be undisturbed.

In view of the prospective increase in earnings due to improved crops in the North Western's territory, important bondholders are inclined to sit back and wait, instead of committing themselves to a program that definitely reduces their interest, to the benefit of the stockholders. Meanwhile, they are canvassing the possibilities of foreclosure proceedings in the event that default occurs.

Predict Delay for Readjustment.

Because of the period of grace of six months on many North Western issues, protracted delay in arriving at any capital readjustment is predicted in informed quarters in spite of the company's declared intention of having a plan operative by the end of this month. Impending changes in the bankruptcy act, reducing the power of stockholders to block reorganization, also are awaited.

The Milwaukee railroad's plan, as well as the North Western's, faces complete revision if the consent of bondholders is to be obtained. Milwaukee bondholders object first of all to leaving the RFC and the common stockholders undisturbed. The RFC collateral, one institutional bondholder points out, is a mortgage on the Pacific extension, which is not earning its charges and is a burden to the whole system.

Wants Funds from Stockholders.

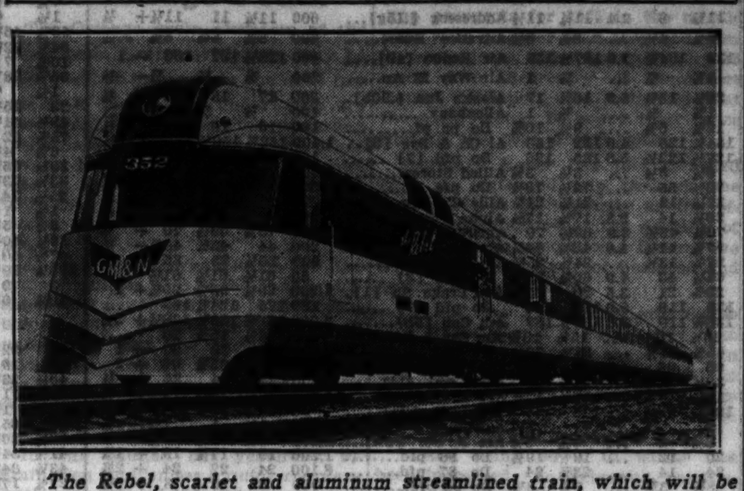
Granting that as the underwriter of new money the RFC would be entitled to a preferred position, this investor argues that the funds should come from the stockholders. If the latter are unwilling to subscribe the funds in return for retaining their equity, the money would be underwritten by junior bondholders, freezing out the stock.

The Milwaukee's proposed plan, this bondholder adds, would permit foreclosure by the present fifty-year 5 per cent bondholders if their interest were unpaid at the end of ten years. But by first wiping out the present adjustment bonds and accumulated interest, the plan would leave the stockholders $180,000,000 nearer the property than he is today.

N. Y. Commodity Exchange to Take Saturday Holidays

New York, June 13.—(AP)—The board of governors of the New York Commodity exchange has voted to suspend Saturday sessions on the exchange from June 22 to Aug. 31, inclusive.

SOUTH'S FIRST STREAMLINER



The Rebel, scarlet and aluminum streamlined train, which will be placed in service shortly by the Gulf, Mobile and Northern railroad over a 500 mile route between Jackson, Tenn., and New Orleans.

New "Rebel" Fast Train to Be Shown Here

The Rebel, the south's first streamlined train, will be exhibited at the Union station here on June 19 and 20 before being put in service by the Gulf, Mobile and Northern railroad between Jackson, Tenn., and New Orleans.

The Southern railroad which will operate it is one of the first lines in the country to experiment with new types of passenger equipment. It now operates the Stout Rail-bus, built by the Pullman company, between Jackson and Tylertown, Miss.

Design Is Radical.

Powered by a Diesel electric engine of 600 horse power, the Rebel offers a number of radical departures from present streamline equipment. The Diesel engine is placed over the forward trucks, while the traction motors are carried over the rear trucks, an arrangement which permits equal distribution of weight.

Each of the cars is mounted on separate trucks but all the cars are fastened together with a new tight-lock coupler which leaves no slack. The equipment is of standard width and is arranged so that it can be arranged either as a three or four car train as trafic requires.

Can Speed 100 Miles an Hour.

Colored scarlet and aluminum, the Rebel is capable of 100 miles an hour, although it is not to be operated on extremely fast schedules over its 500 mile route. It was built by the American Car and Foundry company at Berwick, Pa., and is coming here over the Pennsylvania. It will be exhibited at various cities en route.

The Rebel will be available for either day or night service. With four cars it will be able to carry 152 people in the day coaches. It has six sleeping sections and one stateroom.

The Viking-Mountaineer, eight hour train between Chicago and St. Paul-Minneapolis put into service by the North Western on June 2, will depart from Chicago at 12:30 p. m. instead of at 9:30 a. m., central time, effective Sunday, June 16, R. Thomson, passenger trafic manager, announced yesterday. Under its new schedule the train will arrive at St. Paul at 8:30 p. m. and at Minneapolis at 9:05 p. m.

U. S. GOVERNMENT TRADE MEDDLING OPPOSED BY FORD

Detroit, Mich., June 13.—[Special.]—As he watched his two millionth Ford V-8 run off the end of the assembly chain in the River Rouge plant today Henry Ford seized the occasion to declare that there is too much government meddling in private business.

The cop on the corner, he observed, performs a necessary function. He protects life and property. But beyond that Ford could see little good and much evil in the great ramifications of government. Given a minimum of government interference, he will make another million automobiles next year, Ford said.

"I'll make a million cars next year if they just let the police run the country," he said. "They know how to keep order. And I don't mean the federal police, I am local police.

"If the government would quit meddling with us there wouldn't be any unemployment."

Recalling his early objections to the NRA, Ford said, "We have pretty good facilities to study conditions and we believed we could see what was coming. We didn't want to be regimented and we aren't going to have our competitors tell us how to run our business."

The two millionth V-8 Ford, produced today, was the 23 millionth Ford. The car was started at once to San Diego, Cal., where it will be placed on exhibit in the Ford exposition at the California Pacific international exposition.

The completion of a million Fords in less than a year since the one millionth V-8 Ford was produced June 19, 1934, recalled Ford's prediction late last year that the Ford Motor company "would build better than a million in 1935."

Government Commodity Index Declines Slightly

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—A slight decline in wholesale commodity prices during the week ended June 8 pushed the composite index of the bureau of labor statistics down to 79.9 as compared with 80.2 for the preceding week. It stood at 73.8 a year ago. Fuel and lighting materials, and building materials advanced.

GERMAN TRAIN RUNS 181 MILES AT 105.6 AN HOUR FOR RECORD

A new world's record for train speed was announced yesterday by the German railroad's information offices in the United States after receipt of a cable from Berlin which said that a streamlined train, drawn by a steam locomotive, traveled 181 miles between Berlin and Hamburg at an average speed of 105.6 miles an hour. The top speed was 119.1 miles an hour.

However, the Pennsylvania railroad holds the record for steam drawn trains in a short dash with the speed of 127.1 miles an hour for 3 miles, which was made by the Broadway Limited in 1924.

The German train weighed 200 tons. It is the second of two streamlined trains being used on the Berlin-Hamburg run. The first train reached a top speed of 109 miles an hour and made an average speed of 93.2 miles an hour.

One of the best speed records made in this country was that of the Milwaukee road's steam drawn Hiawatha, which on a demonstration run between Milwaukee and Chicago ran 106 to 108 miles an hour for 20 miles. The train previously had reached a speed of 112 miles an hour, although it is said to have capacity of 120 miles an hour.

The Union Pacific's Pullman built Diesel-electric powered streamlined train, the City of Portland, reached a speed of 120 miles an hour last year on a dash across the continent.

FRANCE LOSES $69,564,000 MORE GOLD LAST WEEK

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—While the French franc again drifted toward the gold export point today with a decline of ⅜ point to 6.59¼ cents, the Bank of France statement for the week ended June 7 showed a loss of 1,054,000,000 francs, about $69,564,000, in gold reserves during the week.

This decline in gold stocks held by the bank is substantially below the outflow of the preceding week when the net drop was 4,800,000,000 francs. The statement covered the period in which the Flandin and Bouisson cabinets fell and the smaller loss of gold during the period shows that French measures to halt the flight of capital were at least partially successful.

Withdrawals brought the total gold stocks of the bank to 70,725,182,687 francs, about $4,662,557,689, compared with 71,778,728,648 francs or $4,726,000,000 at the end of the preceding week.

In the last ten weeks the bank has lost 11,910,000,000 francs or $786,060,000 in gold. During the week the reserve ratio increased from 73.35 to 73.54 as circulation decreased 651,000,000 francs.

With the franc closing at 6.59¼ cents the value of the dollar against the franc was $1.0062, compared with $1.0056 yesterday. Based on the old parity of the franc the dollar was worth 59.43 cents, compared with 59.40 cents yesterday. The pound advanced ⅝ cent to close at $4.94½.

The price of bar gold in London was increased 1 penny to 140 shillings 10 pence a fine ounce, equivalent to $34.78. Gold arrivals here today amounted to $9,609,300 from France and $2,123,800 from Canada. The receipt of an additional $10,112,700 from Holland was reported for Wednesday.

BANK CLEARINGS EXCEED WEEK AND YEAR AGO

New York, June 13.—(AP)—Bank clearings for the week ended June 12 amounted to $4,776,778,000 against $4,559,382,000 in the corresponding week last year, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. The volume exceeded the previous week, in which there was a holiday, by $51,318,000.

The figures were substantially higher at most of the leading cities of the west and south. The total for New York City, $3,116,783,000, was slightly below last year's, while the aggregate for other centers was 12 per cent higher at $1,659,995,000.

CHICAGO'S WEST SIDE HOUSING UNIT ABANDONED

Ickes Blames Land Price Boosting.

BY AL CHASE.

Secretary Ickes announced yesterday in Washington the definite abandonment of the proposed $12,500,000 Public Works administration housing project for Chicago's west side. This closing of the government's nine month attempt to give Chicago its initial government erected dwellings followed an order issued by Ickes on April 11 to suspend activities on the west side project as a result of an alleged organized attempt by attorneys to increase land prices.

Then Ickes said that the west side project might go ahead on a limited scale, or might be reallocated to either the north or south side housing projects. Local housing officials continued to work on the acquisition of land in the west side area.

Objects to Price Program.

Apparently unable to obtain much of the west side area, Ickes yesterday indicated that he had decided to abandon the west side project completely for the same reason that he recently announced its partial abandonment: that lawyers still were active in stirring up property owners with promises of big money for their property. He said in his Washington statement that he was "leaving the lawyers to fight over their fees."

The west side project originally was to have covered 160 acres, thirty-seven city blocks, in the square quarter mile bounded by Racine and Ashland avenues, Harrison street, and Roosevelt road. It is occupied by approximately 2,000 families, many of which are of Italian parentage.

Plan for 3,000 Families.

The proposed project was to care for 3,000 families in two, three, and four story walkup apartment units, and two family residences in rows. Only 30 per cent of the land was to be used for buildings. The rest was to be developed into playgrounds and parks.

Since last September a large staf of realty men, lawyers, architects, engineers, and other employés have been engaged on this project. John Holabird, of Holabird & Root, was made chairman of the architectural group in charge of the design.

Local housing officials last night knew nothing of the Ickes announcement. Chester A. Inman, who was recently appointed temporary Chicago administrator for the housing division of PWA, succeeding F. J. C. Dresser, who was promoted to a Washington PWA post, said he had heard nothing about abandoning the project.

Attorney Is Not Informed.

Neither had Frederick Z. Marx, attorney for both Ickes and for the housing project, heard of the Ickes announcement. He said last night that only recently the government had obtained an option on a large property covering two city blocks in the west side area.

Apparently the PWA now will center its efforts to give Chicago governmental owned housing on the proposed $12,500,000 north side project, to care for 2,500 families, and the $7,000,000 South Side Gardens, for 1,400 colored families. Option taking on the latter is understood to be well over the 50 per cent mark. Progress on the north side has been slower.

TREASURY HEAD HINTS NO CHANGE IN SILVER PRICE

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—The price which the treasury pays for newly mined domestic silver probably will be kept at 77.57 cents per ounce regardless of the lower price now being quoted in the world market, Secretary Morgenthau indicated today. Recently the world price has been around 73 cents.

The treasury is proceeding slowly in accumulating further stocks of silver in the restricted world market, seeking to avoid a rapid price rise. Outside speculative activities were credited with causing the flurry of a few week ago which sent the quotations in the world markets temporarily to more than 80 cents.

The fact that records of domestic importations for the government account varied from week to week was of no special significance, it was said, the amount of the purchases merely representing a policy of buying when the silver was offered at a price which was deemed satisfactory. Morgenthau would not estimate the average price which the department was paying for its purchases.

STOCKS NARROW AS SPECULATIVE INTEREST LAGS

Rail Issues Are Strong; High Grades Active.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 13.—Narrow, irregular movements characterized dealings on the stock market today as the main body of stocks reflected the cautious attitude of traders after the recent advances. There was a noticeable diminution of speculative enthusiasm as the eyes of the financial district focused on developments in the nation's capital.

Demand for high grade investment issues continued a feature, a number of issues in this class setting new highs. Rails gave a good account of themselves and managed to close fractionally higher despite scattered profit taking. Some uncertain selling took place in the utility shares, but as a whole the group gave evidence of regaining its composure following yesterday's setback. Transactions totaled 860,940 shares.

Strike Threat Is Factor.

The threat of a strike in the soft coal fields, set for next week, cast its shadow on the market, but otherwise there was little industrial news of interest for the street.

Among the stocks to set new highs today were American Can, which continued its upward drive with a gain of 2½ points; American Safety Razor, up 2; Beech-Nut, which gained 1 point; Briggs & Stratton, up 1⅝; Collins & Aikman, common and preferred; Continental Can, which rose over a point; Eastman Kodak, Universal Leaf Tobacco, and Woolworth.

Stocks to lose a point or more were Air Reduction, Liggett & Myers, Noranda Mines, Postal Telegraph preferred, and West Penn Electric. Noranda Mines dropped more than a point when the street heard the news that the company would not apply for permanent registration. Postal Telegraph was adversely affected by reports that directors of the company would vote to reorganize.

Telephone Is Higher.

American Telephone, selling ex dividend, was fractionally higher at the close after early weakness. Consolidated Gas gained slightly. Federal Light and Traction was a bright spot, rising more than 4 points.

Holders of silver mining shares were less sure of their positions as word came from Washington that the government intended to maintain its present price for newly mined domestic silver. Cerro de Pasco after dipping more than a point rallied to close fractionally higher, with American Smelting followed. Howe Sound and Silver King lost small fractions.

Motor shares moved in a narrow range. Sugar stocks were active. Bethlehem and U. S. Steel lost fractions. Oils were mixed.

PNEUMATIC TOOL VOTES 25 CENT EXTRA DIVIDEND

Directors of the Independent Pneumatic Tool company yesterday declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 75 cents on the capital stock, both payable July 1, to stock of record June 20. A general pickup in business made the extra payment possible, it was said.

Cleveland Graphite Bronze company voted a special dividend of 25 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents, both payable July 5, to stock of record June 22. It was announced that the Securities and Exchange commission had ordered the immediate permanent registration of the company's stock and that trading in the stock on the New York Stock exchange is expected to begin June 17.

Darby Petroleum declared a dividend of 25 cents a share, payable July 15. Pioneer mill declared a monthly dividend of 20 cents a share on the common, an increase from the 10 cents distributed June 1. The payment will be made July 1.

American Hair and Felt will pay an accumulation dividend of $18 in cash and 10 per cent in the new 6 per cent first preferred on the 8 per cent first prefered. On the 8 per cent second preferred $5 in cash and five shares of common will be paid. Both dividends are payable July 1 and, according to Fitch, will clear up all accumulations.

Bralorne Mines passed the common dividend now due.

DRY GOODS MEN O. K. FEDERATION FOR RETAILERS

Leaders Deny Chain Store Will Dominate Group.

Members of the National Retail Dry Goods association at the concluding session of their four day convention at the Stevens hotel yesterday passed a resolution which indorsed the American Retail federation and empowered their board of directors to decide the question of affiliation with the federation.

A number of small merchants had objected to affiliation with the federation on the ground that it was dominated by chain stores, and a fight had been predicted. When the subject was put to a vote only four or five dissented.

D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair, Chicago, and a member of the board of directors of the dry goods association, presented the resolution. He asserted the congressional inquiry into the federation which is now in progress will disclose that there is nothing unethical in its setup.

Resolution Supports Federation.

Hugh S. Johnson, formerly head of the NRA, some time ago charged that the federation is a "super lobby."

The resolution set forth that the federation, which would include all retail organizations in the country, is being established to collect and make available information regarding retail distribution for the benefit of the public, retailers, and public officials.

The resolution stated that the federation has four broad objectives which are:

1. Coöperation with governmental and other agencies participating in movements for the promotion of the general prosperity and well being of the people, upon which sound retail distribution depends.
2. Coördination of all branches of retail distribution so that there may be developed a program of national policies to improve retail distribution and consumer purchasing power.
3. Represent those retail associations that may become members in national public relations.
4. Stimulation of greater appreciation by retailers of the services given them by retail associations and encouragement for the establishment of state retail councils representing the various branches of retailing.

Kelly Reassures Small Merchants.

Mr. Kelly in introducing the resolution said it was one of the most vital subjects ever to be brought before the dry goods association. He insisted that the federation will look out for the interests of the small store operator equally as well as for those of the large stores. He denied the assertions made in congress that it is dominated by the chain stores.

Fred Lazarus of Columbus, O., who sat in on the New York meetings at which the organization of the federation was discussed, asserted its prime purpose is to secure information which will help all retail merchants in the conduct of their business. He likened it to existing national organizations of bankers, manufacturers, and business men, and said the time has come that retailers should have a broad organization to represent them.

Lazarus disclosed it is provided that annual dues will range from a minimum of $250 to $10,000 for the large organizations. He said the federation's dues would be used to defray the cost of collecting detailed statistic information regarding such subjects as state sales taxes, minimum hours and wages, state laws with respect to working conditions, etc.

CANADA MAY USE GOLD 'PROFIT' FOR EXCHANGE FUND

OTTAWA, June 13.—(AP)—Premier R. B. Bennett today introduced in the house of commons a bill to establish an exchange fund. Use would be made of profits accruing to the government from the increased value of the gold taken over by the Bank of Canada from chartered banks to create the fund, Bennett said, the Bank of Canada act providing that this profit be paid into the consolidated revenue fund of the dominion.

Under the proposed act this surplus would be placed in a special fund in the name of the minister of finance to be used as occasion arose "to aid in the control and protection of the external value of the Canadian monetary unit."

For the purpose of endeavoring to control the external value of the national monetary unit; or of checking undue fluctuations in its exchange value, the minister may directly, or through such agencies as he may designate, cause any balances in the special account to be invested in gold, foreign exchanges as defined in the Bank of Canada act, or balances with any bank in London or New York he may designate, the bill says.

Strict secrecy will be maintained on operations of the account. A fine of $1,000 and six months imprisonment is the penalty for disclosure of such information to any person not legally entitled to it.

Rayon yarns were in moderate call. Fabrics for fall are being asked for more frequently. Silk goods were very quiet. With men's wear mills well sold ahead, interest is centering on threatened strikes in mill centers. Dress goods moved slowly. Burlaps were firm on a higher level following advances at Calcutta.

GRAINS DECLINE AGAIN AS WHEAT BEGINS TO MOVE

Holders Liquidate Due to Prolonged Slump.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

As the selling pressure of the new crop movement grew nearer, the level of prices of wheat and other grains sank further in the Chicago market yesterday. With only a moderate volume of liquidation to absorb the wheat market tumbled 2 cents a bushel and corn lost 1⅛ cents.

July wheat closed at 78⅞ cents a bushel, compared with Wednesday's price of 80¾ cents, and the high quotation of the season of $1.02 which was touched less than two months ago. July corn closed at 79⅛ cents a bushel, or slightly above the corresponding wheat future, an abnormal situation resulting from the unusual scarcity of supplies which the country will face until the new corn crop is ready for harvest.

Scared Wheat Holders Sell.

Liquidation in wheat yesterday originated in a large measure from holders who were scared by the previous day's sharp break in prices. Many "stop loss" orders which traders had placed in the market to limit their potential losses were uncovered.

The whole atmosphere of the market was one of extreme bearishness. Weakness in the foreign markets, notably Liverpool, where wheat dropped 2 cents, encouraged this sentiment. In Minneapolis a decline of more than 3 cents a bushel in July wheat contributed further to the uneasiness. The weakness in the latter market directly reflected the favorable reports on spring wheat prospects in the northwest which were supplied from many sources.

Winnipeg Wheat Near "Peg."

In Winnipeg the government supported wheat market dropped a cent a bushel and brought the price to 80⅝ cents a bushel, or less than a cent above the 80 cent peg of the government pool. Canada's wheat position is now generally recognized as the dynamite in the world wheat situation and a genuine threat to the international price structure.

The fall in wheat in Chicago is making the Canadian position more untenable and is forcing the dominion government's hand. At yesterday's closing prices wheat in Chicago was selling nearly 2 cents a bushel under the Winnipeg market, although Canada must depend to a far greater extent than the United States on foreign outlets for her crop.

Trading in August wheat futures will begin on the Winnipeg Grain exchange this morning. The new future will be pegged at 80 cents, the same peg as carried by the July option. It will be the first time in the history of the exchange that an August future has been posted on the Winipeg board. At present July wheat is the only future traded in Winnipeg. The exchange has delayed opening transactions in new crop futures at the request of the government.

Prices on July Futures.

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	.78⅞	.80¾	.84⅛
Corn	.79⅛	.80¾	.80⅛
Oats	.33½	.34⅝	3.5⅝
Rye	.44¼	.45⅝	.48½

At yesterday's prices all futures in wheat and rye were quoted at the lowest figures that have been posted this season. The September and December futures in oats likewise were at the lowest level of the season. Corn is still selling above the season's lows.

All crop reports from over the grain belt yesterday gave a favorable picture of prospects. The only news that could be considered as marring the outlook were reports of showers in Oklahoma, where the wheat harvest is under way.

PACKERS ATTACK PROCESSING TAX IN U. S. COURT

Philadelphia, Pa., June 13.—(AP)—Constitutionality of the Agricultural Adjustment administration was attacked today in suits filed by six packing companies in the United States District court. The companies, each of which filed separate bills, also ask for an order to prevent the collector of internal revenue from collecting unpaid balances due in processing levies.

Three reasons why the AAA is unconstitutional are cited: The government has no power to control production, the processing tax is not in reality a tax as defined by the constitution, and even if it were valid the secretary of agriculture should not be delegated arbitrary taxing power.

The companies are John J. Felin & Co., F. G. Vogt & Son, A. C. Roberts, Chester Packing and Provision company, Weiland Packing company, and Jacob Ulmer Packing company. They aver that taxes totaling $4,119,297 have been levied against them since November, 1933, when the AAA became effective. They have paid a total of $3,228,129, leaving a balance of $891,168, which they assert they are unable to pay.

COOPER COMPANY REPORTS RECORD SALES THIS YEAR

GRAIN COMPANIES TO BID ON PLANTS OF ROSENBAUM

Elevator Space Fourth of Chicago Total.

The Chicago grain elevators of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation may be sold to other interests in the next few weeks if plans now under way are successful, it was reported yesterday in La Salle street. It was learned that several groups are preparing to make bids on the elevators which represent more than a quarter of the total grain storage capacity of the Chicago market.

A plan for reorganization of the company under 77 B of the bankruptcy act is now pending in the federal court before Judge William H. Holly. It is understood that the prospective bidders will make their purchase offers to the court when the hearing on the reorganization plan is held June 21.

Quick Reorganization Desired.

It was pointed out yesterday by grain men that unless a quick reorganization or sale of the Chicago properties is effected the company will not be in an advantageous position to compete for storage business when the new wheat crop begins to move. The big wheat crop in the territory tributary to Chicago promises the largest seasonal movement of grain into this market in several years. The movement will be under way in another three weeks.

Reports in La Salle street said that a group headed by James Norris, president of the Norris Grain company, will submit an offer to the court for the Rosenbaum properties. Other potential bidders are the Cargill Elevator company, the Continental Grain company, and the Farmers National Grain corporation.

15 Million Bushel Capacity.

The Rosenbaum elevators have a total capacity of 15 million bushels of a total storage space of 55 million bushels in Chicago. The Rosenbaum facilities are three times as large as the next largest Chicago storage company.

Luther D. Swanstrom, attorney for the trustees of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, declined to comment yesterday on reports that other interests were negotiating for the properties.

Only the Chicago elevators of the company would be involved if a sale is effected, it is understood.

END TESTIMONY ON REPEAL OF LONG-SHORT HAUL

Washington, D. C., June 13.—(AP)—Two weeks of testimony in favor of the Pettengill bill to repeal portions of the long and short haul provision of the interstate commerce act ended today before a house interstate commerce subcommittee. Opponents of the measure will be heard starting Monday. As described by Representative Pettengill [Dem., Ind.], the author, the bill would permit railroads to meet competition by charging less for a long haul than for a shorter haul to intermediate points on the same route.

W. J. Hammond, trafic manager of the Inland Steel company, told the committee that, with the opening of the Panama canal and the establishment of low water rates from the Atlantic seaboard, steel mills in the east were able to sell their products in Pacific coast markets to a better advantage than a midwestern producer "who had to absorb the all-rail transportation costs in making delivery."

"It is my opinion," he added, "that with the passage of the Pettengill bill a substantial volume of trafic will be attracted to the rail carriers and that the central western steel producers will be permitted to more equitably compete with eastern steel producers, who have the advantage of low water transportation."

URGES CHANGES IN CANADIAN WHEAT CONTROL

OTTAWA, Ont., June 13.—(AP)—Elimination of compulsory features of the government's wheat board bill was urged in the house of commons today by J. L. Ralston in a debate indicating Progressives and Liberals would support the administration on the principle of the legislation.

The Liberal financial critic urged several changes in the bill but pledged his party to support the idea of a grain board. A few minutes later Robert Gardiner, leader of the United Farmers, endorsed the measure but thought it should be stronger. Among the changes Ralston urged were the following:

Instructing the board to liquidate its holdings of wheat which Premier R. B. Bennett said yesterday would be between 200,000,000 and 225,000,000 bushels, as soon as possible, removing this over-hang from the market:

Instruct the board to stabilize wheat prices to protect the farmer.

Ralston charged the administration should be blamed with the 225,000,000 bushel carry-over which would require a freight train 800 miles long to move.

New Life Insurance Sales in May Drop 7.5 Per Cent

New York, June 13.—(AP)—New life insurance sales for May declined 7.5 per cent as compared with the business of May, 1934, the Association of Life Insurance Presidents announced today. For the first five months of the year the total was 2.5 per cent larger than for the corresponding period last year. The total for May was $732,188,000, against $733,870,000 in April and $791,544,000 for the same month last year.

NEW YORK, June 13.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today at 3.35c per lb for spots and 3.40c for later shipment. Refiners showed a little more interest, but mostly for later shipment. Offerings were comparatively light. The sales reported included 11,600 bags of St. Croix due July 9, at 3.35c and 90,000 bags of Cubas for second half August shipment at 3.40c.

Futures were higher on covering by trade interests and buying by Wall street commission houses. At the top prices showed gains of 3 points to 5 points, but hedging near the close caused partial reactions with final prices 1 point to 3 points higher in the No. 3 contract and unchanged to 2 points higher in the No. 1. Sales, 9,500 tons in the No. 3 and 450 tons in the No. 1.

MIDDLE WEST CROP PROSPECT BRIGHTEST IN YEARS, SAYS ROPER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 13.—President Roosevelt today was told that crop prospects for 1935 in the middle west were brighter than they had been in many years. The favorable picture came from Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, who estimated that the yield would be more than twice that of the 1934 drouth year.

Secretary Roper has just returned from an extended trip through the west made in his capacity as the official representative at the opening of the San Diego exposition. During the trip he made a study of business and agricultural conditions.

"I told the President," said Secretary Roper, "that I have never seen finer crop prospects in the west than this year. A more uniform rainfall in recent weeks has been better distributed than I have known it. There are hardly any more deserts lefts.

"Land being sown to wheat has been increased. In Nebraska, particularly, the production of wheat will be increased by 200 per cent over last year for a total output of about 42,000,000 bushels."

Asked whether his glowing picture would not break the wheat market, Secretary Roper said he had not discussed this question with the President. He refused to comment on the economic effect of increased crops.

ONTARIO PLANS TO SELL BONDS IN OWN OFFICES

TORONTO, June 13.—(AP)—Details of the Ontario government's financial policy, including increased interest on deposits in provincial savings banks, were announced today by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn.

From June 15 interest on deposits in current accounts in the savings branches of the government will be raised from 2 to 2½ per cent, the premier said.

At the same time the premier branded as "liars" those who said there were no bids "because they could not sell" the government's $15,000,000 bonds on which there were no tenders at the set time yesterday. He promised to "tax to the limit some of those very bond houses."

Some 30 new savings offices, to be called provincial treasury branches, will be opened as soon as possible throughout the province. Over their counters, beginning June 15, Ontario government bonds will be offered to the public. In what the premier called "an orderly system of marketing," the province will offer two year bonds bearing 2.75 per cent interest and five year bonds with interest at 3 per cent.

PALMER APPROVES AMENDMENTS TO INSURANCE CODE

Amendments to the new Illinois insurance code which were passed by the house on Wednesday are entirely satisfactory to the insurance department, Earnest Palmer, state superintendent, said in Springfield yesterday. Senate action on the code is expected next week, he asserted.

"There were about 100 amendments to the code passed by the house," Palmer said, "but most of them were merely minor corrections to the original documents. I would say that those passed will improve the code; certainly there were none that were objectionable."

Palmer said one amendment provides for a change in investment requirements which will permit insurance companies to make investments that are in accord with the laws of the states in which they have their head offices.

POSTAL RETAINS MITCHELL FOR FINANCE ADVISER

Board Meets Today; May Plan Reorganization.

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City bank, has been retained by the board of directors of the Postal Telegraph and Cable company as an adviser on financial policy. This was learned today as officials of the communications company were in conference on what steps to take to preserve the $125,000,000 properties.

Tomorrow the directors will meet, but reports that a plan of reorganization will be presented to them could not be confirmed. On July 1 the company faces a $1,100,000 interest payment on its $44,000,000 issue of 5 per cent mortgage bonds.

Controled by International.

International Telephone and Telegraph company controls the Postal network through ownership of all its common stock. For several years the parent company, on whose board sit two partners of J. P. Morgan & Co., has been advancing funds to Postal to prevent a default on the latter's bonds. These advances total $1,400,000. With less than three weeks remaining before payment is due, Wall street, has wondered whether the parent company would continue to finance its subsidiary's deficit.

The bonds have fallen to their lowest level in many years, today selling on the New York Stock exchange at about $260 for each $1,000 par note.

Had Sought Merger.

International has long sought to bring about a merger of Postal and Western Union, believing that two companies were wastefully duplicating facilities. Postal has become an increasing burden to the company, even though International's profits from its foreign business have more than offset the Postal losses. In 1934 Postal had a net loss of $1,590,540, against $1,866,978 in 1933.

The meeting of Postal directors was scheduled for today, but has been postponed until tomorrow. Circles close to the company believe that a plan may be announced after the meeting.

COURT ENJOINS A. M. ANDREWS AS HUPP DIRECTOR

Detroit, Mich., June 13.—(AP)—Federal Judge Edward J. Moinet granted a temporary injunction today restraining Archie M. Andrews, former chairman of the Hupp Motor Car corporation board of directors, and his old board from functioning as directors of the company and from carrying out certain contracts to which J. Walter Drake, another former board chairman, objected.

The action indicated the recent compromise agreement between opposing factions in the company had failed.

Following the filing of Drake's suit it was announced a compromise had been reached through which Andrews and his board would resign and a new and independent board was to be named. A week ago attorneys for Drake filed a new complaint, charging Andrews had violated the agreement and still represented himself as the board chairman.

Abraham Lowenthal, New York attorney representing Andrews, told Judge Moinet today that Andrews never had agreed to resign as chairman.

BANK COLLAPSE LOOMS IN CHINA; RUNSWIDESPREAD

Financial and Economic Structure Crumbling.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 8.—[By mail to Hongkong to avoid censor.]—Along with the collapse of China's Nationalist aspirations and the country's rapid relegation to a position of a Japanese colony, the financial and economic structure also is crumbling. Dr. H. H. Kung, minister of finance, who is the only cabinet officer here, is desperately trying to prevent a collapse of the banks which are experiencing runs all over the country.

Deposit withdrawals, which began here with the failure of the American-Oriental Banking corporation and other interests belonging to the American, Frank J. Raven, realty promoter, are continuing to spread and French police were called to preserve order when thousands of depositors tried to withdraw their savings from the French International Savings society, which maintains monthly lotteries in connection with the sale of bonds.

American Claims Solvency.

Michael Speelman, head of the concern, who is also a large stockholder in two other American enterprises, the China Realty company and the China Finance company, declared his interests are solvent and able to meet demands, but that more than a million dollars in silver was withdrawn yesterday, with the crowds of depositors increasing.

Finance Minister Kung is receiving help from his brother-in-law, T. V. Soong, former finance minister, who is head of the Bank of China, recently taken over by the government.

Kung claimed most of the Chinese banks are able to weather the storm, but that the situation is aggravated by the failure of the Raven enterprises which have claimed assets of 70 million dollars' silver, plus a widespread feeling among Chinese regarding the instability of other American and European enterprises.

Chinese apprehension regarding the stability of the Anglo-American banks and enterprises is partly due to long Japanese propaganda against occidental enterprises.

Set Three Month Limit.

The finance ministry at Nanking yesterday issued orders that all bank liquidations must be completed within three months and that all officers and directors must remain within their domiciles during the period of liquidation while those responsible for irregularities will be subject to severe penalties.

Thus far the National City bank and Chase National bank of New York have not been adversely affected by the crisis, but both have made statements that they have no connection with the other local financial enterprises.

The wholesale closing of shops and factories has thrown thousands out of work. Cotton mill workers now unemployed exceed 60,000 here alone. The crisis was accompanied by a suicide epidemic this week, two Chinese families of six persons each committing suicide, one by self-poisoning and the other by jumping from a building to the street.
